Coalition Claims 45 House Votes

Republican-Southern Democrat Union Has Working Majority in Next Congress

Added Strength

Dixie Senators Moving to Take Advantage of North Elections

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—A working majority of at least 45 votes was claimed today by a spokesman for the Republican-Southern Democrat coalition expected to dominate the House in the next Congress.

And across the Capitol, Southern Democrats were reported lining up behind Senator McFarland (D.-Ariz.) for majority leader in the new Senate.

The move—disclosed by a Dixie lawmaker who asked not to be named—indicated that southern senators intend to take full advantage of the strengthened position given them by election defeats of northern and western Democrats.

The estimate of G.O.P.-Southern Democrat strength in the House came from Rep. Arends of Illinois, the assistant G.O.P. floor leader. While a coalition has been effective there in recent years, the elections gave it added strength.

Arends told reporters the coalition does not propose simply to block portions of President Truman's domestic program and to take a close look at foreign programs. It will offer "constructive" plans of its own, he said.

Democrats Drop 27

In the new House convening in January, there will be 199 Republicans, 235 Democrats and one Independent. That represents a drop in Democratic strength of 27 votes from the present line-up.

But of the 235 Democrats, about 100 hail from the south, and most southerners have been cool to the President's legislative program.

Arends put at 240 votes the "rock bottom" strength of the anti-administration group in the House. A House majority is 218 votes.

Rep. Cox of Georgia, a leader of the southern Democrats, was more liberal. He claimed the coalition could muster at least 252 votes anytime it needs them.

If Arends' more conservative estimate proves right, the administration forces could count on only 195 sure votes.

Southern senators' backing for McFarland as floor leader apparently is based primarily on the fact that he voted with them against breaking a filibuster which shelved the Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) bill in the present Congress.

With that exception, McFarland is acceptable to President Truman's followers among Senate Democrats and thus would not be as inviting a target for administration attack as some southerner might be.

The present Democratic leader, Senator Lucas of Illinois, was defeated for reelection.

In the new Senate, the Democrats still outnumber the Repub-

Gift of $26,000 Is Made to Fund

Memorial Subscription Is Made for Late Andrew J. Snyder

Four two-bed rooms and two private rooms in the enlarged Kingston Hospital will be established as a memorial to the late Andrew Jacob Snyder, pioneer Rosendale cement manufacturer and leader in civic affairs, through a subscription of $26,000 by his grandson, Andrew J. Snyder.

The announcement was made today by Allan L. Hanstein, memorial gifts committee chairman of the hospital's $850,000 building fund, who explained that the gift is included in the fund's current standing of $400,874.

Like his grandfather, Snyder is a leader in community affairs. He is president of Century Cement Manufacturing Company, Inc., in Rosendale and is a former member of the board of trustees of The Kingston Hospital.

Navy Has $1,400,000 'Brain' for Missiles

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 22 (AP)—The U. S. Navy has a $1,400,000 electronic brain designed to help develop guided missiles such as a rocket-borne atom bomb.

Introduced yesterday as "Project Typhoon," it was called the largest and most accurate electronic computer ever built to evaluate the performance of guided missiles and aid in the air protection of American cities.

Officials of the RCA laboratories here, who built the computer for the navy, said it is expected to "save many millions of dollars in the design of guided missiles and also solve many riddles encountered in the air defense of our cities."

Capt. John R. Ruhsenberger, commanding officer of the office of naval research's special devices center, said at yesterday's demonstration that the new development may eventually cut the time for design and construction of an airplane from five years to six months.

"If that happens," he added, "we will have a great weapon."

The new analogue calculator uses approximately 4,000 electron tubes, several miles of intricate wiring, and "a new set of super accurate components, exact to better than one part in 25,000," RCA officials said.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP) — The position of the Treasury Nov. 20: Net budget receipts, $128,026,171.19; budget expenditures, $118,280,460.86; cash balance, $4,327,017,080.03; custom receipts for month, $36,890,099.14; budget receipts fiscal year, July 1, $13,228,448,896.31; budget expenditures fiscal year, $13,954,620,705.84; budget deficit, $726,171,819.53; total debt, $256,901,703,164.43; increase over previous day, $3,038,869.15; gold assets, $23,687,642,906.43.

Collections to Be Late

The Board of Public Works announced today that ash collections in the city will be a day late after tomorrow because of observance of the holiday.

Plane Carrying 21 Believed Down, Burned in West

Moran, Wyo., Nov. 22 (AP)—Four skilled mountaineers started at daybreak climbing cloud-shrouded Mount Moran in search of a missionary plane that disappeared near the peak last night with 21 persons aboard.

Forest Ranger Blake Van De Water and three ski-shod Alpinists started trudging through snow toward a spot where watchers last night saw a huge fire. Heavy clouds cloaked the scene this morning. Winds of 30 to 40 miles an hour whipped the area but there was no snowfall. The temperature is around freezing.

Only faint hope was held by forest service officials that there were any survivors if the plane crashed and burned on the mountain. The four mountaineers carried radio and light signaling equipment but it was expected to take them six to eight hours to reach the scene of last night's fire.

Saw Burning Fuselage

A resort owner said he saw a burning fuselage in the flames far above timberline on the precipitous east face of the mountain. When the fire subsided, he could see nothing resembling a campfire.

The missing plane was bound from Chico, Calif., to Billings, Mont. Owned by the New Tribes Mission a religious organization, it was on the first leg of a flight to South America.

Passengers included two young mothers with their children, widowed in the crash of another mission-owned plane in Venezuela last June which killed 15. Also aboard was Dr. Paul W. Flemings of Chico, mission director.

The new, twin-engine DC-3 last reported by radio over Idaho Falls, Idaho, at 3:48 p. m., M.S.T. That was 50 miles west of here. The plane was due at Billings at 6:30 p. m.

Heard Craft Overhead

It was about that time that residents of this picturesque area 25 miles south of Yellowstone Park heard a plane overhead. It was far off usual air lanes. And it was flying west, just opposite the direction the California plane should have been headed. There was speculation it was lost and hunting landmarks.

Half an hour later, acting Teton Park Superintendent Paul A. Judge said a fire was reported about 1,000 feet from the top of Mount Moran.

"There were no mountain climbers out," Judge said. "We assumed it could be nothing but a plane wreck. A little while later the Civil Aeronautics Authority said the Chico plane was overdue and to watch for it, we reported it must be on Mount Moran."

Took Out Glasses

Clarence Harris, an owner of Signal Mountain Lodge, eight miles across Jackson Lake from the mountain, took out a pair of powerful field glasses.

"I saw what looked like a burning fuselage way up there in the snow," he said. "I don't think anybody could be alive."

One watcher reported what looked like a flare from the fires. Harris said that "it looked to me more like a piece of burning wreckage that had slipped down."

Judge made plans to push out across the lake at daybreak by boat.

Meanwhile a Civil Air Patrol plane from nearby Jackson, Wyo., was to circle the area. A C.A.P. rescue unit headed by Maj. Arthur McCain was to move to the scene with [illegible].

In Los Angeles, a mission official, Irving Johnson, said the plane had been flown only a few hours. He said it was thoroughly checked before it left. The pilots were experienced, he said.

Senate Told Goods Sent to Red China Are Not Important

Also, Commerce Agency Says, Items Are in Surplus Supply

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—The commerce department told Senate probers today that the goods it allowed to go to Red China were (a) not of strategic importance and (b) in surplus supply in this country.

The department's answer to complaints by a Senate commerce subcommittee was made to acting Chairman O'Conor (D-Md) by Ray C. Miller, head of the department's Office of International Trade.

Miller said that in view of the interest shown by the subcommittee, a government inter-agency committee on exports will take another look at the advisibility of re-controlling certain rejected and scrap steel items.

Openly Critical

The subcommittee, which has been investigating shipments of oil, metals and other war useful materials to the Chinese Communists, has been openly critical of some government trade policies.

A public hearing on copper shipments was held yesterday and another hearing was scheduled today, but O'Conor declined in advance to state its purpose.

Miller told O'Conor the steel items were omitted when the general re-control of steel shipments was ordered by the department last March under its export control powers. He gave these reasons:

1. They were adjudged "not of sufficient strategic importance to control for security reasons."

2. "Large surplus stocks" were on hand in this country.

3. The "scrap and reject" items were "not suitable for American machine processes."

Made by Committee

The decision against re-controlling these items, covered by wartime and early postwar controls but decontrolled in 1949, was made, Miller said, by the interagency committee on which the defense and state departments are represented.

Miller called O'Conor's atten-

New Flood Threats Loom In North Central California

(By The Associated Press)

Two north central California areas today faced new threats from avalanches of muddy, debris-filled flood waters that had begun a general recession elsewhere in California and Nevada.

The floods have caused at least nine deaths and more than $20,000,000 damage in three days.

Army engineers warned residents along the Sacramento river between Sacramento, Calif., and its mouth to watch for possible levee breaks as the crest of the combined Sacramento and American rivers surges downstream. The engineers termed the situation critical and ordered out 150 men to patrol levees near Sacramento. Crews worked on levees weakened by nine days of rain.

The Sacramento river flow reached 100,000 second feet, greatest volume since 1907. A second foot is a flow of one cubic foot per second.

The second danger area was near Modesto, where runoff waters from the Don Pedro Dam are expected to invade lowlands and residential areas today. The dam filled yesterday and 26,000 cubic feet of water a second are still flowing into it.

General relief seemed to be at hand, however.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in San Francisco reported "the excessive rainstorm . . . is ended." The bureau predicted generally fair weather over northern and central California today.

Reno faced a tremendous cleanup job.

The waters of the rampaging Truckee river are once again retained by their banks after a 12-hour flood termed "the worst in Reno's history" by the mayor. Most of the $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 loss estimated by the Reno Chamber of Commerce was suffered in damaged hotels, stores and merchandise. Mud and water filled basements containing stocks of Christmas goods.

California damage was estimated at $16,000,000 to $20,000,000 by the army engineers. The toll is expected to go higher. The state public works department says $2,000,000 damage has been done to highways and bridges alone.

The water still was high, but receding, in two California areas. Near Marysville, 10,000 persons evacuated from their homes looked over a huge sea of mud and debris and waited for the Yuba river to fall.

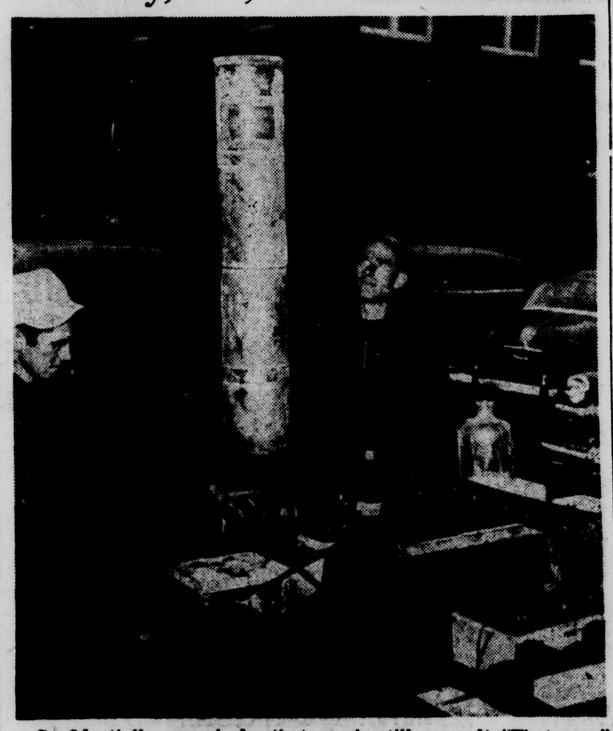

At Lodi, preparations to evacuate the entire population of 14,000 were suspended. Authorities predicted a fall in the Mokelumme river, which had threatened to leap its banks.

In the soggy Central Valley, officials prepared to undertake the tremendous task of rebuilding and rehabilitation.

Gov. Earl Warren yesterday proclaimed a state of emergency. He told state agencies to use every resource to assist cities and counties in allaying flood damage and organizing relief.

Democratic Opposition Blocks Action on Incinerator, Sewer

What Say, Doc, Snow for Christmas?

Confidentially, everybody, that man's still around! "That man" is Dr. Wallace E. Howell, New York City's Rainmaker Extraordinaire, who gets credit for leaving us thoroughly soaked most of last summer. So what's he doing now? Yesterday he sent Joel Kiff and Charles Helsey, ground assault troops, into town with their equipment from which they shoot silver iodide at the clouds. The demonstration was given in the parking lot behind the uptown Freeman office for the benefit of Deputy Commissioner Horak of the New York Department of Water Supply. Veteran Freeman Reporter Fred Hoffman said he, too, watched the show, and when it was in full operation said he couldn't see a thing. It might be a coincidence, but a half hour later snow flurries fell on the main plant of The Freeman three miles away. Dr. Howell didn't show up. He does his cloud "seeding" from a plane. Safer that way, Doc? (Freeman Photo)

Matters Will Be Taken Before Aldermen November 28 at Meeting

A recessed meeting of the Common Council last night failed to bring action on the city incinerator and Elizabeth street projects, but the aldermen adopted legislation fixing new traffic regulations during the crossing project detour and offered new traffic proposals.

Minority opposition in committee delayed action on the two city projects until another recessed meeting November 28.

Completion of an addition to the incinerator calls for an appropriation of $50,000 and that for piping the Twaalfskill brook and connecting it into the Washington avenue tunnel for $30,000.

Introduced Previously

Both were projects introduced to the councilmen some time ago. Action was asked on the incinerator project "for early elimination of the Sterling street dump," and on the other for relief of flood conditions in the Elizabeth street area.

The finance committee was in session for some time before it was finally decided to recess the meeting until next week.

A resolution by Tenth Ward Alderman James J. Carroll, which was referred to the traffic control committee, asked that the 1951 city budget contain "The necessary money to provide for all of the traffic lights heretofore recommended by the various members of this council," and that it include provisions for such lights as may become necessary in 1951.

Asks 1951 Provisions

Carroll's resolution also asked the committee to provide each member of the council with a list of the provisions for the 1951 budget.

Two other resolutions by Carroll and Alderman Charles Cole, 13th Ward, asked for elimination of dangerous conditions in the partly razed former Barmann Brewery building and for bettering conditions in the lot where lumber is stored for the Pilgrim Furniture Co.

The one on the brewery said the partly razed building made a "dangerous environment for children of the 10th and 13th Wards, and it asked that the Board of Public Works investigate and take steps to see that the building is removed. Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly referred it to the B.P.W., corporation counsel and the fire chief.

Residents Concerned

The resolution on the lumber storage said "residents of the 13th Ward were concerned with the resale value of property and no proportionate lowering of assessed valuation of property."

It said it is believed that a compromise could be reached between the management of the plant and officials, and asked that the mayor request the City Planning Board to discuss the problem with the management of the plant "and devise ways and means to correct the condition." It was referred to the mayor and the planning board.

Among other traffic resolutions was one by Aldermen John Buboltz, Fourth Ward, and Edwin Radel, Third Ward, asking that the "proper department be instructed" to install a traffic light at Broadway and Delaware avenue to synchronize with the one at East Chester street and Broadway, similar to that at Main street and Clinton avenue.

Referred to Committee

The resolution stressed that Broadway and Delaware avenue was a dangerous intersection, and considered the light necessary. It was referred to the traffic committee.

Another by Aldrman Carroll said that the traffic light at O'Neil, Henry street and Broadway, is causing confusion, and asked that the proper department be instructed to make the necessary survey and research to "eliminate confusion and danger of accidents." He asked that a report on the survey be presented in writing on or before Feb. 1, 1951. It was referred to the traffic control committee.

One by Alderman David Schechter, Sixth Ward, asked for establishment of a loading zone at 88 Broadway, and was referred to the traffic committee.

One by Radel and Buboltz asked that the 1951 budget provide an appropriation for installing amber caution signals in each city traffic light and for future lights in-

Power Digging Is Started On Broadway Crossing Job

Railroad Detour Tracks Are Being Placed; Ballast Due Friday

Workmen lost no time in starting the digging on Broadway after the crossing project area was closed to traffic yesterday and power digging was in progress today along the section nearest the Y.M.C.A. building.

Tracks of the West Shore railroad's detour route were also placed across Broadway and Henry Millonig, engineer of the state public works department, said today that a work train is scheduled to make the first run on the new tracks Friday at 10 or 10:30 a. m.

The specially built work train will lift the rails and ballast them with a cinder bed before regular trains of the line go over the detour tracks.

Traffic Flows Better

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren announced, meanwhile, that what appeared to be serious traffic jams along the detour route yesterday, "seemed to have straightened themselves out today."

The jam seemed at its worst at intervals yesterday on Smith avenue from Cornell to Grand

Balloting Could Decide West German Stand in Defense

Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 22 (AP)—The biggest state in the American zone of Germany votes next Sunday in an election that could decide the fate of American plans to rearm western Europe in the near future.

The voters of Bavaria elect a new state parliament. The results may determine whether western Germany will take part in the defense of Europe against Russia.

Two large German states gave a ringing "no" to rearmament in similar elections last Sunday.

Allied officials said victories by anti-rearmament Socialists in Hesse and Wuerttemberg-Baden spurred their nationwide drive to keep Germans disarmed. Similarly, the forces seeking to enlist the west Germans in the western defense setup were weakened.

May Turn Tide

The result of the Bavarian election—where rearmament is also the big political issue—may turn

Dewey Vote Exceeded Lynch On Democratic Party Line

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey received more votes in traditionally Democratic New York city on Nov. 7 than were cast on the Democratic party line for his Democratic-Liberal party gubernatorial opponent, Rep. Walter A. Lynch.

Official returns, announced yesterday by the Board of Elections, set Dewey's city total on the Republican ticket at 1,119,400 votes to 1,033,035 Democratic votes for Lynch, a Bronx congressman.

But votes of the Liberal party—which operates only in New York state—cost Dewey the city.

Lynch got 244,728 Liberal party votes, and won the city by a Democratic-Liberal plurality of 158,361.

The American Labor Party nominee for governor, former newspaperman John T. McManus, was credited with 176,149 city votes. There also were other minor party candidates.

Dewey, who was reelected to a third term, made the good city showing in an election complicated by a bitter four-man race for mayor.

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, an insurgent Tammany Democrat running as an independent, beat Democratic-Liberal, Republican and American Labor Party opponents.

Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, the reelected Democratic-Liberal nominee, was credited with a New York city plurality of 713,220 votes over Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley, Republican.

Lehman's Democratic-Liberal vote in the city was 1,534,707, compared to Lynch's 1,277,761.

Combat Group Takes Positions at Captured Hyesanjin

Seoul, Nov. 22 (AP)—B-29 bombers blasted Communist staging bases in northeast Korea today as infantry patrols probed along the entire front to find where the Reds plan to make a stand.

Waves of Superforts rained 140,000 pounds of high explosives on the Musan border area while other B-29s struck the port of Chongjin, 45 miles to the southeast. It was the second strike in a week at Musan.

North Koreans are reported reorganizing and Chinese Reds concentrating at Musan to block the United Nations march toward the Soviet Siberian border.

Reds Are Sought

Musan is 80 miles northeast of Hyesanjin, where U. S. Seventh Division troops raised the U.N. blue and white flag Tuesday on the Yalu river opposite Red Manchuria. Other Seventh Division infantrymen went hunting for a fight with two Communist battalions reported to be holed up 10 miles southwest of Hyesanjin.

General MacArthur's war summary in Tokyo reported:

Here's the way the front looked from east to west:

EAST COAST—Eight inch guns of the U. S. cruiser St. Paul paved the way for the Republic of Korea (ROK) Capital Division pursuing "a retreating disorganized enemy" toward Siberia.

South Koreans were eight miles south of Chongjin, port city 55 miles from the Soviet border where the Reds apparently were preparing to make a stand. B-29s bombed Chongjin after marine airmen ran into heavy antiaircraft fire there.

No Sign of Activity

MANCHURIAN BORDER — The Seventh Division's 17th Regimental combat team dug in around Hyesanjin. It reported no sign of enemy activity on either side of the 100-yard wide Yalu river which divides Korea from Red China's Manchuria.

Other Seventh Division elements, 15 miles to the south, struggled with faulty maps and bad roads in an effort to find and wipe out two Communist battalions. The Reds were in Samsu, 10 miles southwest of Hyesanjin.

One road that maps said went to Samsu ended abruptly seven miles up in the mountains from Kyohang. The Americans tried another. This was blocked by a burning bridge and a landslide.

"We will keep pushing until we have the area cleaned out," a headquarters spokesman said.

CENTRAL MOUNTAINS—First Division Marines, seeking to envelop Changjin reservoir, ran into heavy small arms fire near Sinhung, seven miles up the

Matters Will Be Taken Before Aldermen November 28 at Meeting

A recessed meeting of the Common Council last night failed to bring action on the city incinerator and Elizabeth street projects, but the aldermen adopted legislation fixing new traffic regulations during the crossing project detour and offered new traffic proposals.

Minority opposition in committee delayed action on the two city projects until another recessed meeting November 28.

Completion of an addition to the incinerator calls for an appropriation of $50,000 and that for piping the Twaalfskill brook and connecting it into the Washington avenue tunnel for $30,000.

The finance committee was in session for some time before it was finally decided to recess the meeting until next week.

A resolution by Tenth Ward Alderman James J. Asks 1951 Provisions

Carroll's resolution also asked the committee to provide each member of the council with a list of the provisions for the 1951 budget.

Two other resolutions by Carroll and Alderman Charles Cole, 13th Ward, asked for elimination of dangerous conditions in the partly razed former Barmann Brewery building and for bettering conditions in the lot where lumber is stored for the Pilgrim Furniture Co.

The one on the brewery said the partly razed building made a "dangerous environment for children of the 10th and 13th Wards, and it asked that the Board of Public Works investigate and take steps to see that the building is removed. Residents Concerned

The resolution on the lumber storage said "residents of the 13th Ward were concerned with the resale value of property and no proportionate lowering of assessed valuation of property."

It said it is believed that a compromise could be reached between the management of the plant and officials, and asked that the mayor request the City Planning Board to discuss the problem with the management of the plant "and devise ways and means to correct the condition." General MacArthur's war summary in Tokyo reported:

Here's the way the front looked from east to west:

EAST COAST—Eight inch guns of the U. S. cruiser St. Paul paved the way for the Republic of Korea (ROK) Capital Division pursuing "a retreating disorganized enemy" toward Siberia.

South Koreans were eight miles south of Chongjin, port city 55 miles from the Soviet border where the Reds apparently were preparing to make a stand. B-29s bombed Chongjin after marine airmen ran into heavy antiaircraft fire there.

No Sign of Activity

MANCHURIAN BORDER — The Seventh Division's 17th Regimental combat team dug in around Hyesanjin. It reported no sign of enemy activity on either side of the 100-yard wide Yalu river which divides Korea from Red China's Manchuria.

Other Seventh Division elements, 15 miles to the south, struggled with faulty maps and bad roads in an effort to find and wipe out two Communist battalions. The Reds were in Samsu, 10 miles southwest of Hyesanjin.

One road that maps said went to Samsu ended abruptly seven miles up in the mountains from Kyohang. The Americans tried another. This was blocked by a burning bridge and a landslide.

"We will keep pushing until we have the area cleaned out," a headquarters spokesman said.

CENTRAL MOUNTAINS—First Division Marines, seeking to envelop Changjin reservoir, ran into heavy small arms fire near Sinhung, seven miles up the

Gift of $26,000 Is Made to Fund

Memorial Subscription Is Made for Late Andrew J. Snyder

Four two-bed rooms and two private rooms in the enlarged Kingston Hospital will be established as a memorial to the late Andrew Jacob Snyder, pioneer Rosendale cement manufacturer and leader in civic affairs, through a subscription of $26,000 by his grandson, Andrew J. Snyder.

The announcement was made today by Allan L. Hanstein, memorial gifts committee chairman of the hospital's $850,000 building fund, who explained that the gift is included in the fund's current standing of $400,874.

Like his grandfather, Snyder is a leader in community affairs. He is president of Century Cement Manufacturing Company, Inc., in Rosendale and is a former member of the board of trustees of The Kingston Hospital.

Navy Has $1,400,000 'Brain' for Missiles

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 22 (AP)—The U. S. Navy has a $1,400,000 electronic brain designed to help develop guided missiles such as a rocket-borne atom bomb.

Introduced yesterday as "Project Typhoon," it was called the largest and most accurate electronic computer ever built to evaluate the performance of guided missiles and aid in the air protection of American cities.

Officials of the RCA laboratories here, who built the computer for the navy, said it is expected to "save many millions of dollars in the design of guided missiles and also solve many riddles encountered in the air defense of our cities."

Capt. John R. Ruhsenberger, commanding officer of the office of naval research's special devices center, said at yesterday's demonstration that the new development may eventually cut the time for design and construction of an airplane from five years to six months.

"If that happens," he added, "we will have a great weapon."

The new analogue calculator uses approximately 4,000 electron tubes, several miles of intricate wiring, and "a new set of super accurate components, exact to better than one part in 25,000," RCA officials said.

Plane Carrying 21 Believed Down, Burned in West

Moran, Wyo., Nov. 22 (AP)—Four skilled mountaineers started at daybreak climbing cloud-shrouded Mount Moran in search of a missionary plane that disappeared near the peak last night with 21 persons aboard.

Forest Ranger Blake Van De Water and three ski-shod Alpinists started trudging through snow toward a spot where watchers last night saw a huge fire. Heavy clouds cloaked the scene this morning. Winds of 30 to 40 miles an hour whipped the area but there was no snowfall. The temperature is around freezing.

Only faint hope was held by forest service officials that there were any survivors if the plane crashed and burned on the mountain. The four mountaineers carried radio and light signaling equipment but it was expected to take them six to eight hours to reach the scene of last night's fire.

Saw Burning Fuselage

A resort owner said he saw a burning fuselage in the flames far above timberline on the precipitous east face of the mountain. When the fire subsided, he could see nothing resembling a campfire.

The missing plane was bound from Chico, Calif., to Billings, Mont. Owned by the New Tribes Mission a religious organization, it was on the first leg of a flight to South America.

Passengers included two young mothers with their children, widowed in the crash of another mission-owned plane in Venezuela last June which killed 15. Also aboard was Dr. Paul W. Flemings of Chico, mission director.

The new, twin-engine DC-3 last reported by radio over Idaho Falls, Idaho, at 3:48 p. m., M.S.T. That was 50 miles west of here. The plane was due at Billings at 6:30 p. m.

Heard Craft Overhead

It was about that time that residents of this picturesque area 25 miles south of Yellowstone Park heard a plane overhead. It was far off usual air lanes. And it was flying west, just opposite the direction the California plane should have been headed. There was speculation it was lost and hunting landmarks.

Half an hour later, acting Teton Park Superintendent Paul A. Judge said a fire was reported about 1,000 feet from the top of Mount Moran.

"There were no mountain climbers out," Judge said. "We assumed it could be nothing but a plane wreck. A little while later the Civil Aeronautics Authority said the Chico plane was overdue and to watch for it, we reported it must be on Mount Moran."

Took Out Glasses

Clarence Harris, an owner of Signal Mountain Lodge, eight miles across Jackson Lake from the mountain, took out a pair of powerful field glasses.

"I saw what looked like a burning fuselage way up there in the snow," he said. "I don't think anybody could be alive."

One watcher reported what looked like a flare from the area. Harris said that "it looked to me more like a piece of burning wreckage that had slipped down."

Judge made plans to push out across the lake at daybreak by boat.

Meanwhile a Civil Air Patrol plane from nearby Jackson, Wyo., was to circle the area. A C.A.P. rescue unit headed by Maj. Arthur McCain was to move to the scene with snowmobiles.

In Los Angeles, a mission official, Irving Santschon, said the plane had been flown only a few hours. He said it was thoroughly checked before it left. The pilots were experienced, he added.

Senate Told Goods Sent to Red China Are Not Important

Also, Commerce Agency Says, Items Are in Surplus Supply

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—The commerce department told Senate probers today that the goods it allowed to go to Red China were (a) not of strategic importance and (b) in surplus supply in this country.

The department's answer to complaints by a Senate commerce subcommittee was made to acting Chairman O'Conor (D-Md) by Ray C. Miller, head of the department's Office of International Trade.

Miller said that in view of the interest shown by the subcommittee, a government inter-agency committee on exports will take another look at the advisibility of re-controlling certain rejected and scrap steel items.

Openly Critical

The subcommittee, which has been investigating shipments of oil, metals and other war useful materials to the Chinese Communists, has been openly critical of some government trade policies.

A public hearing on copper shipments was held yesterday and another hearing was scheduled today, but O'Conor declined in advance to state its purpose.

Miller told O'Conor the steel items were omitted when the general re-control of steel shipments was ordered by the department last March under its export control powers. He gave these reasons:

1. They were adjudged "not of sufficient strategic importance to control for security reasons."

2. "Large surplus stocks" were on hand in this country.

3. The "scrap and reject" items were "not suitable for American machine processes."

Made by Committee

The decision against re-controlling these items, covered by wartime and early postwar controls but decontrolled in 1949, was made, Miller said, by the interagency committee on which the defense and state departments are represented.

Miller called O'Conor's atten-

New Flood Threats Loom In North Central California

(By The Associated Press)

Two north central California areas today faced new threats from avalanches of muddy, debris-filled flood waters that had begun a general recession elsewhere in California and Nevada.

The floods have caused at least nine deaths and more than $20,-000,000 damage in three days.

Army engineers warned residents along the Sacramento river between Sacramento, Calif., and its mouth to watch for possible levee breaks as the crest of the combined Sacramento and American rivers surges downstream. The engineers termed the situation critical and ordered out 150 men to patrol levees near Sacramento. Crews worked on levees weakened by nine days of rain.

The Sacramento river flow reached 100,000 second feet, greatest volume since 1907. A second foot is a flow of one cubic foot per second.

The second danger area was near Modesto, where runoff waters from the Don Pedro Dam are expected to invade lowlands and residential areas today. The dam filled yesterday and 26,000 cubic feet of water a second are still flowing into it.

General relief seemed to be at hand, however.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in San Francisco reported "the excessive rainstorm . . . is ended." The bureau predicted generally fair weather over northern and central California today.

Reno faced a tremendous cleanup job.

The waters of the rampaging Truckee river are once again retained by their banks after a 12-hour flood termed "the worst in Reno's history" by the mayor. Most of the $2,000,000 to $3,000,-000 loss estimated by the Reno Chamber of Commerce was suffered in damaged hotels, stores and merchandise. Mud and water filled basements containing stocks of Christmas goods.

California damage was estimated at $16,000,000 to $20,000,-000 by the army engineers. The toll is expected to go higher. The state public works department says $2,000,000 damage has been done to highways and bridges alone.

The water still was high, but receding, in two California areas. Near Marysville, 10,000 persons evacuated from their homes looked over a huge sea of mud and debris and waited for the Yuba river to fall.

At Lodi, preparations to evacuate the entire population of 14,-000 were suspended. Authorities predicted a fall in the Mokelumme river, which had threatened to leap its banks.

In the soggy Central Valley, officials prepared to undertake the tremendous task of rebuilding and rehabilitation.

Gov. Earl Warren yesterday proclaimed a state of emergency. He told state agencies to use every resource to assist cities and counties in allaying flood damage and organizing relief.

Power Digging Is Started On Broadway Crossing Job

Railroad Detour Tracks Are Being Placed; Ballast Due Friday

Workmen lost no time in starting the digging on Broadway after the crossing project area was closed to traffic yesterday and power digging was in progress today along the section nearest the Y.M.C.A. building.

Tracks of the West Shore railroad's detour route were also placed across Broadway and Henry Millonig, engineer of the state public works department, said today that a work train is scheduled to make the first run on the new tracks Friday at 10 or 10:30 a. m.

The specially built work train will lift the rails and ballast them with a cinder bed before regular trains of the line go over the detour tracks.

Traffic Flows Better

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren announced, meanwhile, that what appeared to be serious traffic jams along the detour route yesterday, "seemed to have straightened themselves out today."

The jam seemed at its worst at intervals yesterday on Smith avenue from Cornell to Grand

Balloting Could Decide West German Stand in Defense

Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 22 (AP)—The biggest state in the American zone of Germany votes next Sunday in an election that could decide the fate of American plans to rearm western Europe in the near future.

The voters of Bavaria elect a new state parliament. The results may determine whether western Germany will take part in the defense of Europe against Russia.

Two large German states gave a ringing "no" to rearmament in similar elections last Sunday.

Allied officials said victories by anti-rearmament Socialists in Hesse and Wuerttemberg-Baden spurred their nationwide drive to keep Germans disarmed. Similarly, the forces seeking to enlist the west Germans in the western defense setup were weakened.

May Turn Tide

The result of the Bavarian election—where rearmament is also the big political issue—may turn

Dewey Vote Exceeded Lynch On Democratic Party Line

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey received more votes in traditionally Democratic New York city on Nov. 7 than were cast on the Democratic party line for his Democratic-Liberal party gubernatorial opponent, Rep. Walter A. Lynch.

Official returns, announced yesterday by the Board of Elections, set Dewey's city total on the Republican ticket at 1,119,400 votes to 1,033,035 Democratic votes for Lynch, a Bronx congressman.

But votes of the Liberal party—which operates only in New York state—cost Dewey the city.

Lynch got 244,726 Liberal party votes, and won the city by a Democratic-Liberal plurality of 158,361.

The American Labor Party nominee for governor, former newspaperman John T. McManus, was credited with 176,149 city votes. There also were other minor party candidates.

Dewey, who was reelected to a third term, made the good city showing in an election complicated by a bitter four-man race for mayor.

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, an insurgent Tammany Democrat running as an independent, beat Democratic-Liberal, Republican and American Labor Party opponents.

Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, the reelected Democratic-Liberal nominee, was credited with a New York city plurality of 713,220 votes over Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley, Republican.

Lehman's Democratic-Liberal vote in the city was 1,534,707, compared to Lynch's 1,277,761.

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
A PROCLAMATION

In keeping with the custom established by our forefathers and hallowed by faithful observance throughout the years, it is fitting that once again at this season we set aside a day for giving thanks to God for the many blessings which He has bestowed upon us.

We are deeply grateful for the bounties of our soil, for the unequalled production of our mines and factories, and for all the vast resources of our beloved country, which have enabled our citizens to build a great civilization. We are thankful for the enjoyment of our personal liberties and for the loyalty of our fellow Americans.

We offer fervent thanks that we are privileged to join with other countries in the work of the United Nations, which was founded to maintain peace in a troubled world and is now standing firm in upholding the principles of international justice.

Contemplating these blessings with humility, we have a deepened sense of our responsibility to serve unselfishly, and we pray to Almighty God for wisdom in our relations with our fellow men.

Now, therefore, I, Harry S. Truman, President of the United States of America, in conformance with the joint resolution of Congress approved December 26, 1941, designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 23, 1950, as a day of national thanksgiving, and I call upon every citizen to offer thanks to God for His gracious guidance and help. Again I ask all my countrymen to appeal to the Most High, that the God of our fathers who has blessed this land beyond all others will in His infinite mercy grant to all nations that peace which the world cannot give. I entreat them, in church, chapel and synagogue, in their homes and in the busy walks of life, every day and everywhere, to pray for peace.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be fixed.

Done at the City of Washington this nineteenth day of October in the year of Our Lord Nineteen Hundred and Fifty, and on the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventy-fifth.

(Seal)

HARRY S. TRUMAN.

39 Men Are Booked For Bronx Gambling

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—Thirty-nine men were booked at the Morrisania Police Station last night after a squad of plainclothesmen raided a dice game in a basement club room at 276 East 150th street, the Bronx. A police official said it was a continuing drive to wipe out gambling in the city.

Assistant Chief Inspector James Kennedy, of the police headquarters confidential squad, who with Lieut. William Burrell led seven plainclothesmen in the raid, said also it was the biggest raid staged since Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy took office.

The players were taken completely by surprise, Inspector Kennedy said, when the police squad broke down a bolted, wooden door.

Approximately $3,000 in bills and coins was gathered up from a pool table about which the players were gathered, police said, and $543 was piled in front of Angelo Di Capeo, 48-year-old barber, of 972 Leggett avenue, the Bronx. He was charged with a violation of the penal law which deals with "cutting" and running a dice game.

Police identified the club as the Morrisania Independent Voters, Inc.

Crocodiles Are Gifts

Melbourne (AP)—A passenger on a crowded tram touched Jerry Randell, 37, of Darwin, on the shoulder and said: "Excuse me, but I see a crocodile coming out of your satchel." Randell pushed the crocodile's head back into the satchel, thanked the passenger, who nodded gravely and resumed reading his newspaper. Randell is a crocodile and buffalo hunter who is spending a few weeks in Melbourne to recuperate from a bite on his left arm from a 12 foot crocodile. He explained that he was carrying a baby crocodile to Melbourne friends as an "unusual gift in return for hospitality."

THANKSGIVING

What are we thankful for in this strange year? Asking people brought replies that they were, "thankful things were no worse." They were glad of food and shelter for the winter—which is the primitive reason for giving thanks after harvest. But they had an uneasy sense about the costs of food and other needs. They were not sure they could continue to have the usual abundance; they were merely "glad costs were no worse."

They were uneasy about war. Have we already moved into the Big War by the back door? Or will the Chinese Communists have sense and let us end the action at the border of Manchuria? They are "glad the war is no worse."

People are uneasy about so many things! They are afraid of they hardly know what. Will the world survive? Can our nation go on, prosperous and safe?

Because of this anxiety Thanksgiving Day is especially good for us this year. On that day we count our blessings. We put away fears and substitute joy, jollity, gratitude. Doing so, we put away weakness and put on strength. We begin to realize our power. We substitute the gentleness, friendliness and confidence of the strong for the bluster, fear and fury of the weak.

No man can foresee the future. But so far we are safe. So far we are strong. So far we are fed, warmed, sheltered. So far we work with the assurance of those who know they are producing for the common good. What more could we want?

For the beauty and bounty of our earth, for the energy and good purpose of our people, we are truly thankful. Maybe the word for this Thanksgiving Day is:

"So long Thy power hath blest me—"

And if we have done the good work, fought the good fight and kept the faith, we can finish the couplet in complete and comforting certainty:

"—sure it still will lead me on
"O'er moor and fen, o'er crag and torrent, till the night be gone."

With the elections now a matter of history, half the politicians feel they are the choice of the people. The other half, caught with their votes down, think the people made the wrong choice. Only in a democracy like ours would these differences of feeling go on further.

ACCEPTING THE ATOM

The Army expects by the middle of 1951 to have available for mass use a simple device which will give warning when an individual has received a dangerous dose of atomic radiation. Designed to be worn around the neck like the familiar service "dog tag," it is to be worn by soldiers in combat areas, and to be made available to civilian defense organizations. It will reveal instantly, on a graduated scale, varying degrees of exposure to radiation up to a pre-determined saturation point. That is the point at which, by present medical knowledge, death becomes certain.

Despite the somber note about the saturation point, the general availability of this device should be of help in learning to live with atomic energy. Even the most level-headed persons may have panicky moments if they think seriously of possible exposure to atomic attack. This is caused not so much by appreciation of the force of an atomic explosion as by the uncertainties about it. One of the greatest uncertainties is that of personal exposure: one can receive radiation sufficient to cause serious injury or to kill, without being aware of it. Here is an answer—a device which tells the wearer whether he has been imperiled, and to what degree.

Military people are beginning to regard the atomic bomb as just another weapon. Civilians may never be able to look on it quite [illegible], but no doubt a calmer view could be achieved if more of the mystery and needless fears could be erased. We hope it will never be necessary to accept the possibility of atomic attack, but the sooner we accept the atomic age in a rational manner the sooner we may be able to put its forces to useful work.

To live in the house by the side of the road and be a friend to man is all very well. But the living calls for a lot of cleaning, cooking and laundering, not to mention lawn-mowing and leaf-raking, if one is to be a friend to his neighbors.

'These Days'

THEY ARE INNOCENT!

Just about this time of the year, the mails begin to fill up with circulars of appeal for numerous good causes. They come every day. With taxes what they are, it is going to be difficult to give to charity even the 15 per cent that the income tax law permits as a deduction, but I am sure that we shall all do the best we can.

Among the circulars that I received is one from the International Children's Emergency Fund of the United Nations, the executive director of which is my old friend, Maurice Pate, who has been devoting himself to feeding the hungry and the care of abandoned children since he joined Herbert Hoover in the American relief during World War I.

The children's fund has no politics; it knows no foe. It only recognizes that children are innocent. They pay for the mistakes of their elders with starved bodies and rickety legs and tubercular lungs. They are born under bombing skies and they grow up without parents in a war-distressed world. They cannot speak their terror; they know no peace.

So far, this fund has received contributions from many countries and has expended its money in just about as many. This is what they say a one dollar bill will do:

"Enough powdered milk to give 10 children a glass of milk a day for a week; a dose of cod-liver oil for 300 children; enough leather to make a pair of shoes for a child; a good part of the raw wool to make cloth for a child's coat or suit; enough raw cotton to make 15 diapers for an infant; testing and vaccinating eight children against tuberculosis; enough penicillin to treat five children for yaws; enough penicillin to safeguard a child against syphilis; enough DDT to protect 20 persons against malaria."

But all that is not as much as the sweetness of giving. For the little child who finds a helping hand must be warmed to know that someone cares. It is frightful to grow up believing that no one cares; that one's life means no more than that of a roach. Human life cannot be that.

The children's fund is selling Christmas cards at 10 cents each. These can be purchased in book stores or at the International Children's Emergency Fund, 405 East 42nd street, New York 17, New York.

On each card sold, the fund can earn a profit of four cents, which obviously is considerable aid if the above figures are correct. I do not know how many cards they have printed, but if orders come piling in now, they can print more. The card itself provides the season's greetings in five languages, English French, Spanish, Russian and Chinese. An envelope to fit is provided. The art work is all right, although it is propagandistic for the fund.

Here is a chance to do something useful beyond doubt. I receive nearly a thousand cards during the Christmas season and they are welcome, but sometimes I wonder what the cards themselves mean.

For Christmas is celebrated as the birth of Christ, and in so many of the cards, while there are red and green and pictures of sleighs on snow, there is nothing of charity, which is the greatest of all virtues, and there is nothing of love, which is the spirit of the occasion.

And so we wish each other a merry Christmas, when we should wish each other a charitable Christmas. And we hope we shall all have a happy New Year, when actually what we mean is not happy in the sence of gaiety, but in the sense of loving our neighbors, of loving friend and foe, of kindliness, compassion, pity and forgiveness.

If the civilization that came out of Palestine, in either the Old or the New Testament, from Moses or Jesus, has anything more to say than war, it must bespeak charity and love.

That is all that these Christmas cards can say to us as we open them and recall a name or a face, or an emotion

The children's fund card can add one more sentence to that. It gives the sender an opportunity to announce on Christmas morning that if the innocent do suffer they will not be forgotten or abandoned by those who can love and will be charitable.

That Body of Yours

PHYSICAL AND MENTAL TREATMENT

An old friend dropped in to see me one day and, among other things, told me of some symptoms that were disturbing him: some loss of memory, some mental confusion, anxieties about his and his family's health, an ever-present tired feeling. As I had always known him as a level-headed individual, I discussed his symptoms with a psychiatrist. I described the symptoms and asked what category, what type of brain disease, he thought was likely present.

"Oh," the psychiatrist replied, "I don't call any group of symptoms by a special name any more because there are many cases where the symptoms of various diseases may be present. I learn as much as I can from the patient, try out his nerve reflexes, and then simply treat the symptoms present or as they arise."

We can see the wisdom of this psychiatrist's answer as we remember what the psychiatrist must keep in mind when a patient is referred to him. He must not only investigate the nervous or behavior symptoms, but the patient's personality and background. It is on this personality or background that a nervous or behavior disease or group of symptoms have been built.

In Medical Clinics of North America, Dr. Joe R. Brown, Consulting Physician in the Department of Neurology and Psychiatry, Mayo Clinic, states, "Here is an individual with his own physical, intellectual, vocational, family and social assets and liabilities. Added to this is a disease which frequently disables him physically and limits or decreases his working ability. The work disability and the financal burden of illness frequently changes the family relationship. A person faced with such a situation must use all his resources to accomplish a new adjustment in life."

While any disabling disease requires adjustment, the person with a neurologic disorder may have brain damage which decreases his intellectual ability and changes his personality so that he is further handicapped in facing life.

Dr. Brown points out that while the treatment of a nervous disorder in an individual already physically disabled makes a difficult problem all round, if the physical disability present and the personality of the patient are carefully considered, the physician has a basis on which he can apply proper treatment.

No Foreign Birds for Us on This Thanksgiving Day!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Some people will hardly believe it, but herewith is a bouquet to my old deep-freeze pal, Gen. Harry Vaughan.

Ever since the Korean war, 10,000 servicemen have been wandering the streets of Washington with no place to go and none of the hospitality shown them during World War II. For the nation's capital—like a lot of other cities—hasn't realized that with the cold war now warm, we civilians ought to shift our hospitality from cold to warm.

An exception is General Vaughan, who has been quietly raising Cain with the Treasury and Jess Larson, chief of the General Services of Supply, in order to pry loose the old Belasco Theatre for the use of the American Legion and other veterans' groups in entertaining servicemen.

The Belasco Theatre enjoys one of the most central locations in Washington. Diagonally across Lafayette Square from the White House, it is adjacent to the old Dolly Madison House where the wife of the fourth president of the United States entertained in the early days of the republic. But because legitimate theatres have long been closed in the nation's capital, the Belasco—believe it or not—is filled with old government files and canceled checks.

And the Treasury Department, whose files are chiefly concerned, won't release the theatre to the veterans for entertainment purposes.

More Red Tape

First stumbling block was a Treasury claim that it would cost $20,000 to transport the files to another building. Whereupon Maj. Gen. T. W. Warren, army commander in the District of Columbia, offered to transport the files in army trucks, free.

Then the Treasury came up with a new argument—that it would cost the government $75,000 to find other storage space for the files. Furthermore, the Treasury wants an armed guard to be placed over its canceled checks and it's more convenient to keep guard over them in the Belasco Theatre.

But what Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder doesn't seem to realize is that $75,000 a year is chickenfeed compared to the morale and morals of 10,000 young American who don't want to be away from home, but who in serving their country have to be away from home, and need some place to relax evenings.

General Vaughan, recognizing this problem, has done his best to cut red tape. But so far his friends John Maragon and Joe Major seem to have been more successful with Jess Larson regarding surplus property in the past than the general is now regarding hospitality for servicemen.

Protecting the President

The folks back in Independence, Mo., still are talking about the strict security precautions taken by the secret service during the President's recent visit to his home town. It wasn't at all like other visits, when Mr. Truman casually walked around the main streets waving to neighbors and chatting with old friends.

Milton Morris, a deliveryman for the Independence Ice and Creamery Co., is one who knows how different Harry's visit was this time. For when Morris wheeled his ice truck into the parking lot at the reorganized Latter Day Saint Auditorium where Truman was being entertained at lunch, he was met by two secret service agents. And a new method of delivery was set for the iceman that day.

Morris was told to leave his pocket knife, his ice pick, and his ice tongs in the truck. He was required to carry the 50-pound chunk of ice to the door of the building in his arms. There the ice was washed—twice—and then handed to a worker inside the building.

Down at Kelsey's Restaurant on Truman road, the route usually taken from the Muehlebach Hotel to Independence, a few of the townspeople waited patiently for the President's caravan to pass. But his limousine, followed by seven secret service agents riding in an open car, whizzed by a bit in excess of the Independence 25-mile-an-hour speed limit, and few saw Truman.

Ellen, a waitress, looking out at the seven agents in the open car, remarked: "Those guys looked darn cold."

And up on the roof of the Muehlebach Hotel that night, two Kansa city detectives, Floyd Hyland and Fred Wilson, caught the night watch from 9:30 p. m. to 6 a. m. They remarked: "It was damned cold."

Note—While the home folks sympathize with the new precautions taken to protect the President, they look forward to the time when he can be just plain "Harry" again.

Phone Strike

The Senate Labor-Management Subcommittee is rushing a report on labor and strike conditions in the Bell Telephone System.

The report will show that while American Telephone and Telegraph, the mother company, actually dictates labor policy for the entire system, the labor union is forced to deal independently with the local companies, and that "careful and deliberate wage chaos exists in the Bell System. There are over 100 different wage schedules for the single job of telephone operator in the United States."

Starting rates for telephone operators in Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia and the south are only $27 a week; yet it takes these operators eight years to reach the top rate of $36 per week.

"It is our position," the C.I.O. Communications Workers of America told senators, "that a wage rate of $36 a week for a skilled operator after eight years service with the largest and richest company in the world is an unreasonable and improper wage rate."

The committee found that skilled telephone installers and cable splicers often make less than common laborers. In Newark, N. J., common laborers in the building industry are paid $2.12 an hour, while the starting rate for skilled telephone craftsmen is 91 cents an hour. After eight years, a telephone installer still receives one cent less than an unskilled laborer. Yet the Bell System has such a monopoly on the telephone industry that its skilled workers cannot quit and go to work for a competitor.

Senators also found that the Bell System has collected $394,000,000 in rate increases since V-J Day, considerably more than the wage increases paid out.

High-Riding Senator

Oregon's G.O.P. Sen. Wayne Morse was given a surprise birthday party recently on a plane 11,000 feet over Alaska. His two traveling companions, Democratic Sen. Lester Hunt of Wyoming and G.O.P. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, smuggled a birthday cake on board and produced it at the strategic moment. Since Morse is a teetotaler, they also served coffee.

However, Saltonstall noted they were flying at 11,000 feet altitude and warned the senator from Oregon:

"I am going to tell the senate I saw you plenty high on your birthday."

Farley Is Viewed as Entitled to Speak About Democratic Party as Institution

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 22 — Probably the sagest of the political observers of our times is James A. Farley, who, after twice piloting a presidential nominee to success at the polls, nevertheless parted from that same individual on a matter of principle—opposing a break in the third-term tradition.

What Mr. Farley says now in analyzing the recent election is particularly significant and revealing. For it is the opinion of a man who, more than any other outside of public office, knows what the Democratic party really means to its followers and what it can mean in pursuing a course that might be termed sane instead of insane liberalism.

The man who not only served in the late President Roosevelt's cabinet as postmaster general but who led the Democratic National Committee is certainly entitled to speak about the Democratic party as an institution.

"First," says Mr. Farley concerning the last election, "it showed in Ohio and in several other places that neither the Republican nor the Democratic parties, nor the working man himself, nor the voters generally want an independent labor party. I have many times made myself clear on this subject.

"Since labor unions became an effective force in our economy it has been suggested by some that labor might conceivably form a political party of its own, with the avowed objective of presenting its aims through the medium of a platform sponsored by an independent labor party.

"I want to say that I am definitely opposed to such an idea because I am a firm believer in the two-party system...

"The great danger since the two big labor federations have set up their own political organizations is that in many districts and in some states these organizations might well supplant one or both of the regular parties. The result of this would be the elimination of policies by one issue and by one group in the community. That is quite contrary to the whole theory of government in this republic under a two-party system. The fear of that in Ohio I know in this year's election drove many Democrats to vote for Taft. And it is also clear that thousands of union members refused to be told how to vote by the political arms of the unions and voted for Taft in protest."

This is a frank exposition by one who knows the trends in party fortunes and the changing attitudes of voters. Mr. Farley, however, not only refers to what happened in Ohio but in his latest speech—made in the deep south at Tampa, Florida—he calls attention to the way the American Labor party, which he says "came to be heavily influenced by Communists," ran a ticket in New York state that was thoroughly buried by the regular party vote. He adds that he is "happy to note that the outlook is very dark for third or fourth parties in this country."

The former chief of the Democratic National Committee condemns also "The Brannan Plan, socialized medicine and other unsubstantial experiments" and calls on the President to summon the leaders of the south to solve civil-rights problems "on a regional and state basis."

"To pass a law," he remarks with reference to this issue that has aroused the south, "especially a federal law, is never the best way to correct an injustice."

What Mr. Farley says to his fellow Democrats and to the nation will be discussed widely. For it is the beginning of a very important dissent against New Dealism and Fair Dealism which has been smouldering for some time but which is now coming to the surface as the independent Democrats, forced to choose between radicalism under the Democratic banner or anti-radicalism in the opposite party, are voting in favor of Republican candidates. Thus they do not hesitate to leave their party for the time being—at least until the Democratic party can get back on the track again.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Nov. 21—Isidore Lipschutz, the mysterious emigre diamond dealer who runs the Society for the presention of World War III and his own personal espionage concern called the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League, was granted citizenship in the United States on July 7, 1947, by United States Judge Edward Conger, of the Southern District of New York. Judge Conger gave Lipschutz the benefit of a doubt in charges that he had not established good moral character. The hearing was held before him on Friday, June 27. Friday is the last day of the court week. Persons who frequent courts know that it is a let-down day. Proceedings which occur on Friday are likely to attract less public attention and newspaper publicity than they might attract on other days of the court week.

Judge Conger wrote that "it would be idle and serve no useful purpose for me to write a long and detailed opinion."

He was badly mistaken, to put the best face on the matter. It would not have been "idle." And it would have served a very useful purpose for him to write a detailed opinion because his decision was arbitrary and did not justify itself. He would have been justified in submitting the whole dirty mess to the federal grand jury. The government's effort was flabby and unaggressive. The want of cross-examination of Lipschutz's witnesses was noteworthy.

Judge Conger observed that "the government offered no witnesses." He might also have commented on the uncombativeness of this remark by the government's counsel: "It cannot be said that there is no doubt as to that an illicit relationship has taken place. A review of the file and of all the evidence will indicate that a doubt does exist." The illicit relationship referred to was alleged to have existed between Lipschutz and the wife of an old friend in Belgium.

Having made this gratuitous admission, the government's lawyer, Mario T. Noto, rallied and said Lipschutz had failed to sustain his burden of proof of good moral character. The government therefore objected to his naturalization. Mr. Noto, however, was a relatively green hand in this case which involved an enormous record, a bribery incident, recantations of testimony and imprecations of perjury. He had had it in hand only a short time. Lipschutz had built up a political pull with persons who could have interceded with the Immigration Service. This service has brought itself into bad repute by artful concealment of information concerning the volume of immigration, blackmail and other matters of importance.

The witnesses for Lipschutz, who were not cross-examined, included Senator James Murray, of Montana, a radical of the same hue as Claude Pepper, who was beaten recently largely on the issue of pro-Sovietism; the Rev. Guy Emory Shipler, one of the most notorious clerical associates of Communist fronts; and James H. Sheldon, the so-called executive director of Lipschutz's gumshoe detective enterprise known as the anti-Nazi League.

The Society for the Prevention of World War III has recently been sending out its propaganda free in envelopes bearing the frank of Senator Murray. The envelopes reach the society unaddressed, but containing matter printed by the government, at private expense, but at bargain rates. A former member of the society, who is familiar with its office methods, states that the envelopes are delivered by the society to an addressing and mailing service which prints the addresses from a mailing list and puts them in the mail.

Shipler's record in the files of the House Committee on Un-American Activities is so long that it takes up three and one-half typewritten pages of single space, Elite type.

Sheldon said he was "formerly professor of government at Boston University," a Methodist institution. He was also "a member of the faculty of the Graduate School of Religious and Social Work at Boston University."

He is an employe of Lipschultz as the principal supporter of the Anti-Nazi League.

On Nov. 2, I visited Dr. Daniel L. Marsh, president of Boston University, and he told me that Sheldon had been brought in to fill the vacancy when the head of the university's Department of Government went on leave. His status was "visiting assistant professor" and his subject was "U. S. citizenship," in 1932 and 1933.

"There are three ranks of professorship," Doctor Marsh said, "professor, associate professor and

THANKSGIVING

What are we thankful for in this strange year? Asking people brought replies that they were, "thankful things were no worse." They were glad of food and shelter for the winter—which is the primitive reason for giving thanks after harvest. But they had an uneasy sense about the costs of food and other needs. They were not sure they could continue to have the usual abundance; they were merely "glad costs were no worse."

They were uneasy about war. Have we already moved into the Big War by the back door? Or will the Chinese Communists have sense and let us end the action at the border of Manchuria? They are "glad the war is no worse."

People are uneasy about so many things! They are afraid of they hardly know what. Will the world survive? Can our nation go on, prosperous and safe?

Because of this anxiety Thanksgiving Day is especially good for us this year. On that day we count our blessings. We put away fears and substitute joy, jollity, gratitude. Doing so, we put away weakness and put on strength. We begin to realize our power. We substitute the gentleness, friendliness and confidence of the strong for the bluster, fear and fury of the weak.

No man can foresee the future. But so far we are safe. So far we are strong. So far we are fed, warmed, sheltered. So far we work with the assurance of those who know they are producing for the common good. What more could we want?

For the beauty and bounty of our earth, for the energy and good purpose of our people, we are truly thankful. Maybe the word for this Thanksgiving Day is:

"So long Thy power hath blest me—"

And if we have done the good work, fought the good fight and kept the faith, we can finish the couplet in complete and comforting certainty:

"—sure it still will lead me on
"O'er moor and fen, o'er crag and torrent,
till the night be gone."

With the elections now a matter of history, half the politicians feel they are the choice of the people. The other half, caught with their votes down, think the people made the wrong choice. Only in a democracy like ours would these differences of feeling go on further.

ACCEPTING THE ATOM

The Army expects by the middle of 1951 to have available for mass use a simple device which will give warning when an individual has received a dangerous dose of atomic radiation. Designed to be worn around the neck like the familiar service "dog tag," it is to be worn by soldiers in combat areas, and to be made available to civilian defense organizations. It will reveal instantly, on a graduated scale, varying degrees of exposure to radiation up to a pre-determined saturation point. That is the point at which, by present medical knowledge, death becomes certain.

Despite the somber note about the saturation point, the general availability of this device should be of help in learning to live with atomic energy. Even the most level-headed persons may have panicky moments if they think seriously of possible exposure to atomic attack. This is caused not so much by appreciation of the force of an atomic explosion as by the uncertainties about it. One of the greatest uncertainties is that of personal exposure: one can receive radiation sufficient to cause serious injury or to kill, without being aware of it. Here is an answer—a device which tells the wearer whether he has been imperiled, and to what degree.

Military people are beginning to regard the atomic bomb as just another weapon. Civilians may never be able to look on it quite equally, but no doubt a calmer view could be achieved if more of the mystery and needless fears could be erased. We hope it will never be necessary to accept the possibility of atomic attack, but the sooner we accept the atomic age in a rational manner the sooner we may be able to put its forces to useful work.

To live in the house by the side of the road and be a friend to man is all very well. But the living calls for a lot of cleaning, cooking and laundering, not to mention lawn-mowing and leaf-raking, if one is to be a friend to his neighbors.

'These Days'

THEY ARE INNOCENT!

Just about this time of the year, the mails begin to fill up with circulars of appeal for numerous good causes. They come every day. With taxes what they are, it is going to be difficult to give to charity even the 15 per cent that the income tax law permits as a deduction, but I am sure that we shall all do the best we can.

Among the circulars that I received is one from the International Children's Emergency Fund of the United Nations, the executive director of which is my old friend, Maurice Pate, who has been devoting himself to feeding the hungry and the care of abandoned children since he joined Herbert Hoover in the American relief during World War I.

The children's fund has no politics; it knows no foe. It only recognizes that children are innocent. They pay for the mistakes of their elders with starved bodies and rickety legs and tubercular lungs. They are born under bombing skies and they grow up without parents in a war-distressed world. They cannot speak their terror; they know no peace.

So far, this fund has received contributions from many countries and has expended its money in just about as many. This is what they say a one dollar bill will do:

"Enough powdered milk to give 10 children a glass of milk a day for a week; a dose of cod-liver oil for 300 children; enough leather to make a pair of shoes for a child; a good part of the raw wool to make cloth for a child's coat or suit; enough raw cotton to make 15 diapers for an infant; testing and vaccinating eight children against tuberculosis; enough penicillin to treat five children for yaws; enough penicillin to safeguard a child against syphilis; enough DDT to protect 20 persons against malaria."

But all that is not as much as the sweetness of giving. For the little child who finds a helping hand must be warmed to know that someone cares. It is frightful to grow up believing that no one cares; that one's life means no more than that of a roach. Human life cannot be that.

The children's fund is selling Christmas cards at 10 cents each. These can be purchased in book stores or at the International Children's Emergency Fund, 405 East 42nd street, New York 17, New York.

On each card sold, the fund can earn a profit of four cents, which obviously is considerable aid if the above figures are correct. I do not know how many cards they have printed, but if orders come piling in now, they can print more. The card itself provides the season's greetings in five languages, English French, Spanish, Russian and Chinese. An envelope to fit is provided. The art work is all right, although it is propagandistic for the fund.

Here is a chance to do something useful beyond doubt. I receive nearly a thousand cards during the Christmas season and they are welcome, but sometimes I wonder what the cards themselves mean.

For Christmas is celebrated as the birth of Christ, and in so many of the cards, while there are red and green and pictures of sleighs on snow, there is nothing of charity, which is the greatest of all virtues, and there is nothing of love, which is the spirit of the occasion.

And so we wish each other a merry Christmas, when we should wish each other a charitable Christmas. And we hope we shall all have a happy New Year, when actually what we mean is not happy in the sence of gaiety, but in the sense of loving our neighbors, of loving friend and foe, of kindliness, compassion, pity and forgiveness.

If the civilization that came out of Palestine, in either the Old or the New Testament, from Moses or Jesus, has anything more to say than war, it must bespeak charity and love.

That is all that these Christmas cards can say to us as we open them and recall a name or a face, or an emotion

The children's fund card can add one more sentence to that. It gives the sender an opportunity to announce on Christmas morning that if the innocent do suffer they will not be forgotten or abandoned by those who can love and will be charitable.

PHYSICAL AND MENTAL TREATMENT

An old friend dropped in to see me one day and, among other things, told me of some symptoms that were disturbing him: some loss of memory, some mental confusion, anxieties about his and his family's health, an ever-present tired feeling. As I had always known him as a level-headed individual, I discussed his symptoms with a psychiatrist. I described the symptoms and asked what category, what type of brain disease, he thought was likely present.

"Oh," the psychiatrist replied, "I don't call any group of symptoms by a special name any more because there are many cases where the symptoms of various diseases may be present. I learn as much as I can from the patient, try out his nerve reflexes, and then simply treat the symptoms present or as they arise."

We can see the wisdom of this psychiatrist's answer as we remember what the psychiatrist must keep in mind when a patient is referred to him. He must not only investigate the nervous or behavior symptoms, but the patient's personality and background. It is on this personality or background that a nervous or behavior disease or group of symptoms have been built.

In Medical Clinics of North America, Dr. Joe R. Brown, Consulting Physician in the Department of Neurology and Psychiatry, Mayo Clinic, states, "Here is an individual with his own physical, intellectual, vocational, family and social assets and liabilities. Added to this is a disease which frequently disables him physically and limits or decreases his working ability. The work disability and the financal burden of illness frequently changes the family relationship. A person faced with such a situation must use all his resources to accomplish a new adjustment in life."

While any disabling disease requires adjustment, the person with a neurologic disorder may have brain damage which decreases his intellectual ability and changes his personality so that he is further handicapped in facing life.

Dr. Brown points out that while the treatment of a nervous disorder in an individual already physically disabled makes a difficult problem all round, if the physical disability present and the personality of the patient are carefully considered, the physician has a basis on which he can apply proper treatment.

No Foreign Birds for Us on This Thanksgiving Day!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Some people will hardly believe it, but herewith is a bouquet to my old deep-freeze pal, Gen. Harry Vaughan.

Ever since the Korean war, 10,000 servicemen have been wandering the streets of Washington with no place to go and none of the hospitality shown them during World War II. For the nation's capital—like a lot of other cities—hasn't realized that with the cold war now warm, we civilians ought to shift our hospitality from cold to warm.

An exception is General Vaughan, who has been quietly raising Cain with the Treasury and Jess Larson, chief of the General Services of Supply, in order to pry loose the old Belasco Theatre for the use of the American Legion and other veterans' groups in entertaining servicemen.

The Belasco Theatre enjoys one of the most central locations in Washington. Diagonally across Lafayette Square from the White House, it is adjacent to the old Dolly Madison House where the wife of the fourth president of the United States entertained in the early days of the republic. But because legitimate theatres have long been closed in the nation's capital, the Belasco—believe it or not—is filled with old government files and canceled checks.

And the Treasury Department, whose files are chiefly concerned, won't release the theatre to the veterans for entertainment purposes.

More Red Tape

First stumbling block was a Treasury claim that it would cost $20,000 to transport the files to another building. Whereupon Maj. Gen. T. W. Warren, army commander in the District of Columbia, offered to transport the files in army trucks, free.

Then the Treasury came up with a new argument—that it would cost the government $75,000 to find other storage space for the files. Furthermore, the Treasury wants an armed guard to be placed over its canceled checks and it's more convenient to keep guard over them in the Belasco Theatre.

But what Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder doesn't seem to realize is that $75,000 a year is chickenfeed compared to the morale and morals of 10,000 young American who don't want to be away from home, but who in serving their country have to be away from home, and need some place to relax evenings.

General Vaughan, recognizing this problem, has done his best to cut red tape. But so far his friends John Maragon and Joe Major seem to have been more successful with Jess Larson regarding surplus property in the past than the general is now regarding hospitality for servicemen.

Protecting the President

The folks back in Independence, Mo., still are talking about the strict security precautions taken by the secret service during the President's recent visit to his home town. It wasn't at all like other visits, when Mr. Truman casually walked around the main streets waving to neighbors and chatting with old friends.

Milton Morris, a deliveryman for the Independence Ice and Creamery Co., is one who knows how different Harry's visit was this time. For when Morris wheeled his ice truck into the parking lot at the reorganized Latter Day Saint Auditorium where Truman was being entertained at lunch, he was met by two secret service agents. And a new method of delivery was set for the iceman that day.

Morris was told to leave his pocket knife, his ice pick, and his ice tongs in the truck. He was required to carry the 50-pound chunk of ice to the door of the building in his arms. There the ice was washed—twice—and then handed to a worker inside the building.

Down at Kelsey's Restaurant on Truman road, the route usually taken from the Muehlebach Hotel to Independence, a few of the townspeople waited patiently for the President's caravan to pass. But his limousine, followed by seven secret service agents riding in an open car, whizzed by a bit in excess of the Independence 25-mile-an-hour speed limit, and few saw Truman.

Ellen, a waitress, looking out at the seven agents in the open car, remarked: "Those guys looked darn cold."

And up on the roof of the Muehlebacl Hotel that night, two Kansa city detectives, Floyd Hyland and Fred Wilson, caught the night watch from 9:30 p. m. to 6 a. m. They remarked: "It was damned cold."

Note—While the home folks sympathize with the new precautions taken to protect the President, they look forward to the time when he can be just plain "Harry" again.

Phone Strike

The Senate Labor-Management Subcommittee is rushing a report on labor and strike conditions in the Bell Telephone System.

The report will show that while American Telephone and Telegraph, the mother company, actually dictates labor policy for the entire system, the labor union is forced to deal independently with the local companies, and that "careful and deliberate wage chaos exists in the Bell System. There are over 100 different wage schedules for the single job of telephone operator in the United States."

Starting rates for telephone operators in Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia and the south are only $27 a week; yet it takes these operators eight years to reach the top rate of $36 per week.

"It is our position," the C.I.O. Communications Workers of America told senators, "that a wage rate of $36 a week for a skilled operator after eight years service with the largest and richest company in the world is an unreasonable and improper wage rate."

The committee found that skilled telephone installers and cable splicers often make less than common laborers. In Newark, N. J., common laborers in the building industry are paid $2.12 an hour, while the starting rate for skilled telephone craftsmen is 91 cents an hour. After eight years, a telephone installer still receives one cent less than an unskilled laborer. Yet the Bell System has such a monopoly on the telephone industry that its skilled workers cannot quit and go to work for a competitor.

Senators also found that the Bell System has collected $394,000,000 in rate increases since V-J Day, considerably more than the wage increases paid out.

High-Riding Senator

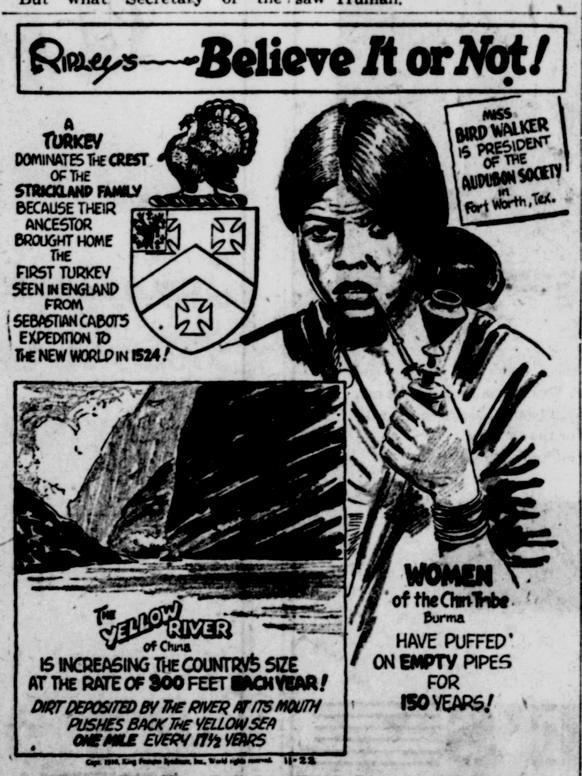

Oregon's G.O.P. Sen. Wayne Morse was given a surprise birthday party recently on a plane 11,000 feet over Alaska. His two traveling companions, Democratic Sen. Lester Hunt of Wyoming and G.O.P. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, smuggled a birthday cake on board and produced it at the strategic moment. Since Morse is a teetotaler, they also served coffee.

However, Saltonstall noted they were flying at 11,000 feet altitude and warned the senator from Oregon:

"I am going to tell the senate I saw you plenty high on your birthday."

Farley Is Viewed as Entitled to Speak About Democratic Party as Institution

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 22 — Probably the sagest of the political observers of our times is James A. Farley, who, after twice piloting a presidential nominee to success at the polls, nevertheless parted from that same individual on a matter of principle—opposing a break in the third-term tradition.

What Mr. Farley says now in analyzing the recent election is particularly significant and revealing. For it is the opinion of a man who, more than any other outside of public office, knows what the Democratic party really means to its followers and what it can mean in pursuing a course that might be termed sane instead of insane liberalism.

The man who not only served in the late President Roosevelt's cabinet as postmaster general but who led the Democratic National Committee is certainly entitled to speak about the Democratic party as an institution.

"First," says Mr. Farley concerning the last election, "it showed in Ohio and in several other places that neither the Republican nor the Democratic parties, nor the working man himself, nor the voters generally want an independent labor party. I have many times made myself clear on this subject.

"Since labor unions became an effective force in our economy it has been suggested by some that labor might conceivably form a political party of its own, with the avowed objective of presenting its aims through the medium of a platform sponsored by an independent labor party.

"I want to say that I am definitely opposed to such an idea because I am a firm believer in the two-party system...

"The great danger since the two big labor federations have set up their own political organizations is that in many districts and in some states these organizations might well supplant one or both of the regular parties. The result of this would be the elimination of policies by one issue and by one group in the community. That is quite contrary to the whole theory of government in this republic under a two-party system. The fear of that in Ohio I know in this year's election drove many Democrats to vote for Taft. And it is also clear that thousands of union members refused to be told how to vote by the political arms of the unions and voted for Taft in protest."

This is a frank exposition by one who knows the trends in party fortunes and the changing attitudes of voters. Mr. Farley, however, not only refers to what happened in Ohio but in his latest speech—made in the deep south at Tampa, Florida—he calls attention to the way the American Labor party, which he says "came to be heavily influenced by Communists," ran a ticket in New York state that was thoroughly buried by the regular party vote. He adds that he is "happy to note that the outlook is very dark for third or fourth parties in this country."

The former chief of the Democratic National Committee condemns also "The Brannan Plan, socialized medicine and other unsubstantial experiments" and calls on the President to summon the leaders of the south to solve civil-rights problems "on a regional and state basis."

"To pass a law," he remarks with reference to this issue that has aroused the south, "especially a federal law, is never the best way to correct an injustice."

What Mr. Farley says to his fellow Democrats and to the nation will be discussed widely. For it is the beginning of a very important dissent against New Dealism and Fair Dealism which has been smouldering for some time but which is now coming to the surface as the independent Democrats, forced to choose between radicalism under the Democratic banner or anti-radicalism in the opposite party, are voting in favor of Republican candidates. Thus they do not hesitate to leave their party for the time being—at least until the Democratic party can get back on the track again.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Nov. 21—Isidore Lipschutz, the mysterious emigre diamond dealer who runs the Society for the presention of World War III and his own personal espionage concern called the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League, was granted citizenship in the United States on July 7, 1947, by United States Judge Edward Conger, of the Southern District of New York. Judge Conger gave Lipschutz the benefit of a doubt in charges that he had not established good moral character. The hearing was held before him on Friday, June 27. Friday is the last day of the court week. Persons who frequent courts know that it is a let-down day. Proceedings which occur on Friday are likely to attract less public attention and newspaper publicity than they might attract on other days of the court week.

Judge Conger wrote that "it would be idle and serve no useful purpose for me to write a long and detailed opinion."

He was badly mistaken, to put the best face on the matter. It would not have been "idle." And it would have served a very useful purpose for him to write a detailed opinion because his decision was arbitrary and did not justify itself. He would have been justified in submitting the whole dirty mess to the federal grand jury. The government's effort was flabby and unaggressive. The want of cross-examination of Lipschutz's witnesses was noteworthy.

Judge Conger observed that "the government offered no witnesses." He might also have commented on the uncombativeness of this remark by the government's counsel: "It cannot be said that there is no doubt as to that an illicit relationship has taken place. A review of the file and of all the evidence will indicate that a doubt does exist." The illicit relationship referred to was alleged to have existed between Lipschutz and the wife of an old friend in Belgium.

Having made this gratuitous admission, the government's lawyer, Mario T. Noto, rallied and said Lipschutz had failed to sustain his burden of proof of good moral character. The government therefore objected to his naturalization. Mr. Noto, however, was a relatively green hand in this case which involved an enormous record, a bribery incident, recantations of testimony and imprecations of perjury. He had had it in hand only a short time. Lipschutz had built up a political pull with persons who could have interceded with the Immigration Service. This service has brought itself into bad repute by artful concealment of information concerning the volume of immigration, blackmail and other matters of importance.

The witnesses for Lipschutz, who were not cross-examined, included Senator James Murray, of Montana, a radical of the same hue as Claude Pepper, who was beaten recently largely on the issue of pro-Sovietism; the Rev. Guy Emory Shipler, one of the most notorious clerical associates of Communist fronts; and James H. Sheldon, the so-called executive director of Lipschutz's gumshoe detective enterprise known as the anti-Nazi League.

The Society for the Prevention of World War III has recently been sending out its propaganda free in envelopes bearing the frank of Senator Murray. The envelopes reach the society unaddressed, but containing matter printed by the government, at private expense, but at bargain rates. A former member of the society, who is familiar with its office methods, states that the envelopes are delivered by the society to an addressing and mailing service which prints the addresses from a mailing list and puts them in the mail.

Shipler's record in the files of the House Committee on Un-American Activities is so long that it takes up three and one-half typewritten pages of single space, Elite type.

Sheldon said he was "formerly professor of government at Boston University," a Methodist institution. He was also "a member of the faculty of the Graduate School of Religious and Social Work at Boston University."

He is an employe of Lipschultz as the principal supporter of the Anti-Nazi League.

On Nov. 2, I visited Dr. Daniel L. Marsh, president of Boston University, and he told me that Sheldon had been brought in to fill the vacancy when the head of the university's Department of Government went on leave. His status was "visiting assistant professor" and his subject was "U. S. citizenship," in 1932 and 1933.

"There are three ranks of professorship," Doctor Marsh said, "professor, associate professor and

K. of C. Annual Scholarship Exams

The Knights of Columbus in New York state is continuing to offer eight scholarships, five for boys and three for girls, valued at $1,600 each, totaling $12,000. The scholarships will entitle the winners to receive $400 per year for each of four years to help defray tuition or other expenses in any Catholic College in the United States. The awards will be made as the result of a series of two competitive examinations. The first will be conducted, under direct auspices of the Knights of Columbus, to determine the top three candidates from each of the eight scholarship districts. These 24 students will then take the College Entrance Examination Board examination on March 10, 1951 in order to select the eight winners.

A candidate, to be eligible for the preliminary examination, must be a Catholic, reside in New York state and expect to graduate from a recognized four-year Catholic or public high school in either January or June, 1951.

Applications, which will not be acceptable after December 1, 1950, should be filed as soon as possible with the state chairman of the Scholarship Committee. Application blanks are available now at the guidance office in the high school or by writing to the chairman, Edward F. Hargroves, 187 Lefferts avenue, Brooklyn 25, New York.

Five Ulster Schools To Participate in TB Press Project

Student journalists from five schools in Ulster county will take part in the school press project being sponsored by the National Tuberculosis Association and its 3,000 affiliated associations throughout the country and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, John A. Gillis, health education assistant of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association announced today.

The project in Ulster county is under the direction of the tuberculosis association, which will conduct the county's 1950 Christmas Seal Sale from Nov. 20 to January 1. Proceeds from this year's Seal Sale will finance the 1951 program of the association and its tuberculosis prevention and control projects.

School publications participating in the project will feature articles, editorials, and cartoons in their November and December issues on either of the following subjects: "What Facilities Does My Community Need to Control Tuberculosis?" and "How the Christmas Seal Fights Tuberculosis."

This is the 14th consecutive year that school papers all over the country have participated in the school press project, according to Gillis. The purpose of the project, he said, is to stimulate the interest of student journalists and their readers in the tuberculosis control program of their community and how this problem is being met.

A committee of Ulster county residents, chosen by the tuberculosis association, will review the entries and the papers selected by them will then be forwarded to the State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health. The State Committee will select outstanding entries which will be sent to the National Tuberculosis Association.

A nationally selected committee of health educators and journalists will make final evaluations of the entries. A certificate of honor will be awarded each school whose entry is approved by the national committee.

School papers participating in the project this year are:

The Quill, Ellenvile High School.

The Flying Goose, Kerhonkson High School.

Nepa Hi-Lites, New Paltz High School.

Dame Rumor, Kingston High School.

MJM Chatter, Myron J. Michael School, Kingston.

Five Ulster Schools To Participate in TB Press Project

Student journalists from five schools in Ulster county will take part in the school press project being sponsored by the National Tuberculosis Association and its 3,000 affiliated associations throughout the country and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, John A. Gillis, health education assistant of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association announced today.

The project in Ulster county is under the direction of the tuberculosis association, which will conduct the county's 1950 Christmas Seal Sale from Nov. 20 to January 1. Proceeds from this year's Seal Sale will finance the 1951 program of the association and its tuberculosis prevention and control projects.

School publications participating in the project will feature articles, editorials, and cartoons in their November and December issues on either of the following subjects: "What Facilities Does My Community Need to Control Tuberculosis?" and "How the Christmas Seal Fights Tuberculosis."

This is the 14th consecutive year that school papers all over the country have participated in the school press project, according to Gillis. The purpose of the project, he said, is to stimulate the interest of student journalists and their readers in the tuberculosis control program of their community and how this problem is being met.

A committee of Ulster county residents, chosen by the tuberculosis association, will review the entries and the papers selected by them will then be forwarded to the State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health. The State Committee will select outstanding entries which will be sent to the National Tuberculosis Association.

A nationally selected committee of health educators and journalists will make final evaluations of the entries. A certificate of honor will be awarded each school whose entry is approved by the national committee.

School papers participating in the project this year are:

The Quill, Ellenvile High School.

The Flying Goose, Kerhonkson High School.

Nepa Hi-Lites, New Paltz High School.

Dame Rumor, Kingston High School.

MJM Chatter, Myron J. Michael School, Kingston.

Cab Rates Increased

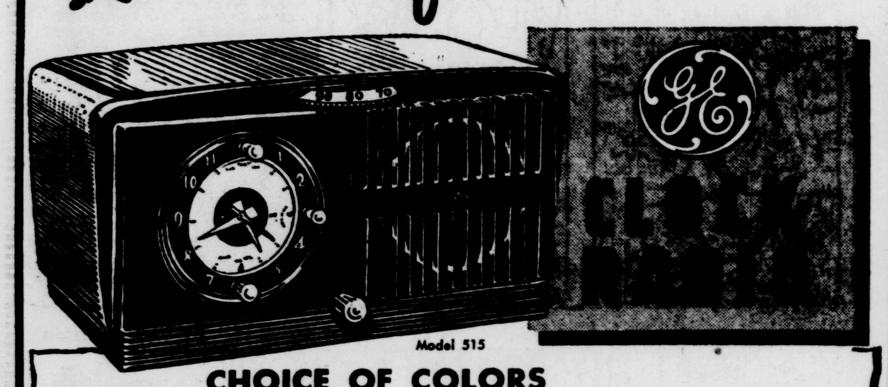

Detroit, Nov. 22 (AP)—Taxicabs here are rolling along with the times. The City Council, acting under franchise powers, assented yesterday to an increase in cab fares, the first in nine years.

Bringing Up Father

Each day I cope with my young brood
Confirms my certainty
That I am learning more from them
Than they have learned from me.

Charlie—My sister is marrying an X-ray technician.

Eloise—I'm glad he sees something in her.

Teacher—Why, Willie, what are you drawing?

Willie—I'm drawing a picture of God.

Teacher — But, Willie, you mustn't do that; nobody knows how God looks.

Willie—Well, they will when I get this done.

There is something curious about the number 37. Multiply it, in turn, by 3, 6, 9, 12, 15, 18, 21, 24 and 27, and see what you get. In every case you will find that the answer consists of three figures which are alike. Now, in each case, add the three figures of the multiplied total together and you'll get the number in each case by which you multiplied. Take a piece of paper and pencil and try it out.

Turkey for Thanksgiving

Turkey in the Straw we'll sing no more
For Thanksgiving settles that score
Your goose is cooked, but do make room
For a turkey will meet its doom.
Turkey, cranberries and pumpkin pie
A feast for which a king would sigh
The holiday of Thanksgiving merits our praise
Be thankful and appreciate such happy days.
Let's talk turkey at this time
Greece can also fill the rhyme
Chestnut stuffing fills your birds
Of this recipe all housewives have heard. . .
The Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock
On the Mayflower they did dock
Thanksgiving was born by their adventure
They were people simple and pure.
For our fare we are humble and sincere
On Thanksgiving feast with cheer
May we continue, and give thanks in peace
Freedom forever, may it never cease.

Rocket Speed Reported

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—Navy Viking rocket reached a speed of 3,600 miles an hour yesterday in climbing 107 miles into the upper atmosphere over New Mexico. The Viking, 50 feet long and weighing 5½ tons, beat by one mile the previous altitude record for an American-made single stage missile. However, a German V-2 fired at White Sands, N. M., climbed 114 miles and an American "Wac Corporal" it released at the top of its flight has been officially recorded as attaining a height of more than 250 miles.

All Over West Point

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—Army cadets continued their mop-up operations today after being bombed with 20,000 unwanted invitations to the Princeton-Dartmouth football game yesterday. Four Princeton students hired a private plane so they could dump the leaflets on Dartmouth at Hanover, N. H. But icy conditions forced the plane back. Rather than waste the invitations to "an Indian massacre," they let them loose over West Point. "We got a big kick out of the thought of those cadets have to pick up all that paper," a member of the anonymous quartet said.

Into New Aircraft

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—More than half of the $8,092,000,000 which the armed forces have obligated for new supplies and equipment in the last four months is going into new aircraft. This was announced yesterday by the Defense Department. Without breaking down the figure between the navy and the air force, it said $4,357,000,000 has been obligated for aircraft. The four-month period is roughly that in which the nation has been involved in the fighting in Korea.

The National Geographic Society says Japan is probably the world's worst earthquake risk.

"We have a very mixed up question to ask you," confesses a Denver correspondent. "Part of the question is whether North or South is responsible for not getting to game on this hand. The rest of the question is whether or not they were better off for having underbid the hand."

"South made ten tricks, of course, by virtue of the fact that the ace of spades and the king of clubs were both favorably located. If the king of clubs and the king of diamonds were exchanged, the bidding might b. substantially the same, but four hearts could not then be made. Likewise, West might have held the king of diamonds and not the ace of spades—and then the game would still be impossible.

"As it turned out, South scored 90 points below the line and 130 points above the line (counting the overtrick and the honors). The value of having a part score must give the hand a full count of close to 300 points. If he had bid four hearts (or if North had done so), West would have bid four spades; and then a double would have produced only 200 points for a one-trick set.

"Now for our question. Were North and South foolish for not bidding the game in hearts? If so, who was at fault? Or were they very clever instead of foolish for bidding less than they could make? Or, break it to us bluntly, was it a case of dumb luck?"

Well, I don't think it was very clever of North and South to miss a laydown game. I'll rule that one out fast!

Also I don't think they were so lucky—but I won't go into what kind of luck they may have had. Who can say with any certainty that West would have bid four spades if North or South had gone to four hearts? Maybe he'd double, thus increasing the North-South score. Maybe he'd just pass and hope to beat it.

While we're considering possibilities, maybe if West did bid four spades, he'd go down 500 points. After all, South might happen to pick a club opening lead, and then he'd get a ruff. Unlikely, of course, but possible.

I think if this hand were bid to four hearts ten times, assuming that West didn't know anything about the hand each time, he'd pass about six times, double about three times, and bid four spades only about once. In the long run, North and South would gain a lot more by bidding the game than by keeping under game.

Who underbid? That isn't close. North is the culprit, South had bid two hearts vulnerable with North silent and both opponents bidding. Surely South could be counted on to have a very strong suit and at east six taking tricks.

North couldn't be sure that he would supply a full four tricks, but he knew his hand was worth very close to four tricks. He was behind the opening bidder, and there was a very good chance that the king of spades and the queen of clubs would both take tricks. If not, South might have some other kind of "fit" which would produce the tenth trick.

Rocket Speed Reported

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—Navy Viking rocket reached a speed of 3,600 miles an hour yesterday in climbing 107 miles into the upper atmosphere over New Mexico. The Viking, 50 feet long and weighing 5½ tons, beat by one mile the previous altitude record for an American-made single stage missile. However, a German V-2 fired at White Sands, N. M., climbed 114 miles and an American "Wac Corporal" it released at the top of its flight has been officially recorded as attaining a height of more than 250 miles.

Four Are Injured In Uptown Crash

Two children and two adults were injured in a traffic mishap at Maiden Lane and Clinton avenue at 2:15 p. m. Tuesday.

One car was operated north on Clinton avenue by Mary Fitzgerald, 21, of 21 Ann street, and the other, a station wagon, driven by Madeline Wood, 35, of 63 Gill street, was headed east on Maiden Lane, when they were in collision.

In the Fitzgerald car were Michael, 3, who suffered a head and nose injury, and Jean Marie Fitzgerald, 4, who suffered bruises of the right leg, and the driver, bruises of the right shoulder and left arm. The driver of the other car suffered injuries of the head and right shoulder. All were treated at Kingston Hospital.

Officer Thomas McGrane and Sgt. Lemuel Howard investigated. The Fitzgerald car was towed from the scene.

Yule Lighting Ceremony Friday

The annual ceremony of turning on the Christmas lighting in Kingston will take place Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock, heralding the holiday shopping season for 1950.

Lights will be turned on by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk in a ceremony at the corner of Fair and John streets where the switch controlling the Christmas lighting decorations is located. The ceremony will be witnessed by President George Schneider of the Uptown Kingston Business Men's Association, Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, Jay Melton, chairman of the Christmas lighting committee and members of the committee.

This year the Christmas lighting effects in the shopping center are even more elaborate than in past years. Strings of colored lights, extra large laurel evergreen streamers and larger and finer show pieces have been used in the decoration scheme this season. The area covered by the Christmas lighting has been extended and beginning Friday evening the business section uptown will be brilliantly illuminated each evening until Christmas.

Cold and Snow On Bill of Fare

(By The Associated Press)

A white Thanksgiving and cold, blustery weather was in prospect for wide areas of the country.

A blast of sub-zero cold, fanned by strong northerly winds, streaked across the Canadian border into the northern Rockies today. Cold wave warnings were posted for some of the mountain and plains states.

The chilly air, moving eastward and southward, was expected to push temperatures to their lowest marks of the season over midwest areas by tomorrow. It was one below in Cutbank, Mont., early today. Lower readings were forecast.

The strong winds which swept over the North Atlantic states have diminished but snow continued this morning in parts of New York and nearby states. The season's first big storm pounded the eastern seaboard yesterday, with gale winds, rain and snow. Power and telephone lines suffered heavy damage. At least eight persons died in the eastern storms.

Narrow Escape

Tuesday afternoon as Eleanor Woolsey of Highland backed her car from the curb after a shopping trip in the village, her attention was attracted by a shout from the rear of her car. On investigating she found Estelle Davis, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Casper Davis of Highland had fallen to the street back of the car. State police at Highland investigated and reported the girl apparently been back of the car when it started and fell to the pavement. She had not been run over and appeared to be uninjured, state police reported. The girl was taken home by the driver of the car.

New York Gets Freezing

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—The mercury dipped below the freezing point early today for the first time this fall, giving New York city its coldest recording of the season. Shortly after midnight the U. S. Weather Bureau here took a reading of 31.8 degrees. During the morning, however, the temperature climbed gradually. The low reading was ascribed to a cold front from the northwest that later passed out to sea. Today's low does not set a record for the date. The mercury fell to 14 degrees on Nov. 22, 1880.

Travel Is Heavy

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—Thousands of New Yorkers began trooping out of the city today by train, plane, bus and auto to celebrate Thanksgiving while other thousands poured in to spend the holiday here. The traffic was expected to be about the same as last year. The weather forecast called for a fair, cold day and the Automobile Club of New York issued its usual warning for motorists to fill car radiators with anti-freeze.

30 Go to Albany

Local Draft Board 18 (city) sent 30 men to Albany Tuesday for preinduction physical examination. The next group to go out will be 20 sent for induction by Local Board 19 (county) on Dec. 7. Selective Service headquarters is currently not permitting the release of the names of those inducted, it was said at the local draft office.

Civil Service Meeting

A very important meeting of Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Employes Association, will be held Monday, Nov. 27, at 8 p. m. in the lunch room of the board of public works building. All members are urged to attend.

Wounded Twice, Home

With the U. S. First Marine Division, Korea, Nov. 22 (AP)—Combat weary U. S. Marines were told today that any man wounded twice in either the last World War or the Korean war is going to be sent home. A letter from the marine corps commandant in Washington instructed commanders to see that the homegoing is arranged for those deserving it. The letter specified each wound must have required at least 24 hours of hospitalization.

3,000 Are Homeless

Manila, Nov. 22 (AP)—A typhoon swept into the China Sea today, leaving 3,000 homeless and 453 houses destroyed in the central Philippines.

Britain, U. S., Take Different Stand on China Aggressions

Lake Success, Nov. 22 (AP)—Britain and the United States lined up in opposite camps again today on the question of investigating Nationalist China's charges of Russian aggression.

The U. N. Assembly's 60-nation political committee, resuming debate on the issue, may decide it before the day is over.

Nationalist China's T. F. Tsiang presented his case yesterday. He charged that the Kremlin not only engineered the Chinese civil war, but now has 45,000 agents in China controlling all political, economic and cultural life.

Tsiang proposed that the U.N. set up a fact-finding commission to look into the situation and report back to the assembly next fall. His plan found little support except from the United States, which agreed the problem should be studied by some sort of commission.

Russia demanded that the entire question be thrown out as unfit for discussion. Soviet delegate Jacob A. Malik said Nationalist China already is headed for the "historic scrap heap."

Won't Change Views

Britain agreed that it would be useless to inquire into what happened in China. British delegate E. J. Coulson said the facts are not really in dispute and added: "Our opinions won't be changed."

Britain is one of the 17 U.N. members which have recognized Red China. For this reason, she frequently finds herself at odds with the United States on Chinese problems.

"Anything that embitters the Far Eastern situation cannot do anything but harm," Coulson said.

Also Against Commission

Faris El Khoury of Syria also expressed the belief it would be useless to create a fact-finding commission. He suggested instead that the question either be sent to the little assembly for study another year or be referred to the International Court of Justice at The Hague.

The committee then adjourned to give members a chance to consider the question overnight.

Nationalist China first brought her charges of aggression last year. The assembly refused at that time to accept Tsiang's demand that Russia be condemned. It decided finally to refer the issue to the Little Assembly. That body met twice on the question in 12 months and took no action.

east side of the reservoir. Red concentrations were reported nearby.

Yongwon Occupied

NORTHWEST FRONT — The R.O.K. Eighth Division occupied Yongwon, and with other divisions of the R.O.K. Second Corps established a line running five to six miles north of Tokchon. Chinese Communists were building a series of strong defenses six to 11 miles north, just as they were on the rest of the northwest front manned by the U. S. First Corps.

First Corps patrols probed in spots as far as six miles without encountering the Chinese. But at either end they ran into trouble.

U. S. First Cavalry patrols on the right found Reds dug in on high ground five miles north of Yongbyon.

Chinese were building a mountain defense line to the north, and pockmarking highways with tank traps and road blocks. The flat lands along the coast leading to the border city of Sinuiju were dotted with roadblocks.

Tough Fighting Reported

GUERRILLA "FRONT" — Tough and bitter fighting was reported in by-passed areas of western Korean Wednesday. Two R.O.K. Second Division regiments attacked Chunchon in full force, trying to drive Reds out of the town 40 miles northeast of Seoul, the R.O.K. capital.

Bavarians to Vote

the tide either for or against the creation of a new German army, these officials said.

Allied military officials agree that western Europe cannot be effectively defended without the full military participation of both France and western Germany.

The Atlantic powers now are considering how German armed units could be integrated into a unified western defense force.

If the pro-rearmament Christian Democrats win or hold their own in Bavaria, there will be a good chance that the federal government which they dominate can ram rearmament through the national parliament at Bonn once the question of German aid is settled by the west.

But if the anti-rearmament Socialists win—or even make sizeable gains in Bavaria—then the forces opposing rearmament may well vote down German participation in western defense when the issue comes before parliament.

The regulations governing traffic along the detour route around the Broadway crossing project, were reported out by the traffic committee and approved. They were the same as published last Saturday in the Freeman.

Wurtsboro Man Is Held on Rape Charge

Elmer Hummel, 38, of Wurtsboro, was ordered held for grand jury on a second degree rape charge when he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Clifford Evans of the town of Wawarsing Tuesday.

Hummel was arrested early Tuesday morning by County Investigator Clayton Vredenburg and Deputy Wesley O'Brien of the sheriff's office on a warrant issued last summer, charging that he had lived with a 15-year-old girl, Sheriff George C. Smith said. The arrest was made at Highland Falls.

Bus, Car Crash Case Is Tried in Court

An action arising out of an accident between a bus and a car near New Paltz on October 24, 1949, was taken up for trial in County Court this morning before Judge John M. Cashin and a jury.

Michael Lembo, who was en route to Kingston to attend court that day, charged his car was struck by a New Paltz bus owned by the Wallkill Valley Motor Service, Inc., driven by George Dammier, when the bus attempted to make a left turn into a garage just after the Lembo car had passed the bus which had been parked on the highway. Lembo charges the front of the bus struck the rear of his car.

Abraham Streifer and Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appear for plaintiff and Hugh J. Boylan appears for the defendants.

Jurors not engaged on the case were excused until Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Cases Settled In County Court

Victor Joseph Beatty of South Amboy, N. J., entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny in County Court before Judge John M. Cashin this morning. Beatty, indicted for grand larceny, second degree, was charged with having taken sheets and other household articles.

Charles Saccoman who appeared for Beatty, told the court there was a dispute as to the value of the articles stolen and Beatty was willing to plead guilty to petit larceny. It was alleged the merchandise had cost $120 and Assistant District Attorney Vincent G. Connelly said there was a question as to the value of the articles at the time of the act. He said The People would accept the petit larceny plea. Beatty, who had served 118 days in jail, was sentenced to 118 days and told to get out of the county.

Thomas Peterson, Highland, charged with assault, third degree, for an alleged striking of a man with a rock in a dispute while, Peterson said, they were both drinking, changed a former innocent plea to one of guilty to the charge. Peterson had served 94 days in jail and Judge Cashin imposed that sentence and warned Peterson to stay sober.

There were no other criminal matters taken up.

Hunter Fined

Brattleboro, Vt., Nov. 22 (AP)—Herbert Perkins, 16, Northport, N. Y., high school sophomore, was fined $150 today and given a suspended sentence of six to 12 months in State Industrial School for accidentally wounding a hunting companion Nov. 18. Judge Ernest F. Berry in Municipal Court ordered Perkins not to use firearms during the one-year period of his probation. Judge Berry was told that Perkins' companion, Robert Herrera, 20, of Huntington, N. Y., will be crippled for life. State's Attorney Edward John said Perkins told him he thought he was shooting at a bear. The bullet cut Herrera's spinal cord and injured his kidneys. Perkins pleaded nolo contendere Monday to a charge of careless and negligent use of firearms.

Duchess Returns

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Duchess of Windsor is back in her native land but without her duke. She will spend the winter here. The former Wallis Warfield of Baltimore arrived last night from France aboard the Queen Elizabeth. She said the duke, who was King Edward VIII of Great Britain, would arrive here either on Nov. 30 or Dec. 9. He was detained in Paris by business, she said. Meanwhile, she said, she had "some things to do" including a visit with her aunt, Mrs. Buchanan Merryman, in Washington. The Duchess said she and the Duke would be here for four months, spending Christmas in New York.

Graham Adams Dies

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—Graham Adams, 59, a Wall Street investment banker and vice-president of the American Trust Co., died Monday. A native of Middletown, N. Y., he began his career as an investment banker in 1914 and for many years specialized in railroad securities. He served as director of several railroads at one time or another.

Study Shows Most Cities Not Ready To Combat A-Bomb

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—Most U. S. cities are far from ready to deal with an atomic attack.

And many city officials blame the federal government—along with public indifference—for the lack of preparedness.

These two main conclusions emerged today from a 137-city civil defense study undertaken by the American Municipal Association, made up of city and town officials.

The coast-to-coast picture shaped up this way:

On paper, our A-bomb defenses look pretty good. Special organizations have been set up, some emergency workers trained, stacks of detailed plans prepared.

Wouldn't Be Ready

But almost all city officials say frankly that if an A-bomb fell today, they'd be nowhere near ready to care for the wounded, bury the dead, put out the fires and try to restore order.

Preparedness estimates vary greatly. Little Rock, Ark., says it's five percent ready. Camden, N. J. figures it's 10 percent prepared. Other estimates at random: San Diego, Calif., 30 per cent; Atlanta, Ga., 10 per cent; Dallas and Ft. Worth, Texas, about 50 per cent.

"Cities are handicapped most," the survey said, "by the absence of a check list or bill of particulars from the Federal and state governments. * * *

Are More Critical

"Rightly or wrongly, local officials are more critical of federal action or inaction than they are of state relations."

President Truman sent Congress last Sept. 18 a blueprint for civil defense study and asked early approval. Most congressional leaders say the program will be taken up in the session that begins next Jan. 3.

The program was prepared by the National Securities Resources Board. It outlines general policies, including mutual aid agreements among neighboring cities, counties and states. The new report indicates that some such agreements already are being made.

Probers Take New Track on Red Deal

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—Senators investigating trade with Communist China set off on a new track today declining to name in advance their immediate objective.

Acting Chairman O'Conor (D.-Md.) of the investigating Senate commerce subcommittee said that advance notice of the course charted for today's public hearing "might tip our hand and make it difficult or impossible to get at some of the information we are seeking."

The subcommittee has been probing into shipments of oil, metals and other strategic materials to China since it was overrun by the Reds.

Testimony received yesterday centered on bills of lading used in shipping about 4,000,000 pounds of copper to China, the bulk of it by the Kane Import Co. of New York city. O'Conor told a reporter today that while this phase of the investigation was being put aside temporarily, it was by no means ended and would be threshed out further in future committee hearings.

Officials of other American companies told the committee of buying copper in Japan, selling it to the Kane Company while it was en route to New York and then of new bills of lading being made out purporting to show that it had left Japan destined for China.

The original bills of lading, made out in Japan, called for shipment of the copper only to New York, they said.

Still Probing Girl's Story of Injury

An investigation was still under way today by state police at Highland in an attempt to ascertain the person who allegedly struck Eileen Carozza, 18, of Yonkers on the head as she sat in one of the New Paltz State Teachers College dormitories on Monday.

The assailant was not identified by Miss Carozza who was treated by Dr. Robert Reed for a slight laceration of the head. She was seated in a first floor room at the time. There has been a theory advanced that the case may be one of mistaken identity.

Two Killed by Bomb

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 22 (AP)—Nelson Harris, 41-year-old figure in the Green Dragon narcotics case, was killed today by a bomb. His wife was fatally injured. The bomb exploded as he started his car. Harris was identified by acquaintances as an aide of Herbert Noble, Dallas gambler whose wife was killed in a similar manner several months ago.

The adult study group will meet on Thursday evening, Nov. 30, at 7:45 at Rabbi Bloom's residence, 192 Clinton avenue.

Coalition Claims

licans only 49 to 47. The line now is 54 to 42.

Tighter Ranks

The southerners' ranks apparrently will be tightened by the election of Willis Smith to replace Senator Graham in North Carolina and Rep. George A. Smathers to replace Senator Pepper in Florida.

Graham and Pepper sometimes strayed from the Dixie fold and weren't counted as sure votes against President Truman's civil rights proposals.

Everybody expects the President to renew in January his plea for civil rights legislation, along with all of the other "Fair Deal" proposals he has made in the past.

In the House, Arends' estimate of coalition strength assumed that the Republicans might lose around a dozen of their own members on some votes. More than offsetting that loss, he said, will be half of the southern Democrats and probably more.

Four Are Injured In Uptown Crash

Two children and two adults were injured in a traffic mishap at Maiden Lane and Clinton avenue at 2:15 p. m. Tuesday.

One car was operated north on Clinton avenue by Mary Fitzgerald, 21, of 21 Ann street, and the other, a station wagon, driven by Madeline Wood, 35, of 63 Gill street, was headed east on Maiden Lane, when they were in collision.

In the Fitzgerald car were Michael, 3, who suffered a head and nose injury, and Jean Marie Fitzgerald, 4, who suffered bruises of the right leg, and the driver, bruises of the right shoulder and left arm. The driver of the other car suffered injuries of the head and right shoulder. All were treated at Kingston Hospital.

Officer Thomas McGrane and Sgt. Lemuel Howard investigated. The Fitzgerald car was towed from the scene.

Yule Lighting Ceremony Friday

The annual ceremony of turning on the Christmas lighting in Kingston will take place Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock, heralding the holiday shopping season for 1950.

Lights will be turned on by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk in a ceremony at the corner of Fair and John streets where the switch controlling the Christmas lighting decorations is located. The ceremony will be witnessed by President George Schneider of the Uptown Kingston Business Men's Association, Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, Jay Melton, chairman of the Christmas lighting committee and members of the committee.

This year the Christmas lighting effects in the shopping center are even more elaborate than in past years. Strings of colored lights, extra large laurel evergreen streamers and larger and finer show pieces have been used in the decoration scheme this season. The area covered by the Christmas lighting has been extended and beginning Friday evening the business section uptown will be brilliantly illuminated each evening until Christmas.

Cold and Snow On Bill of Fare

(By The Associated Press)

A white Thanksgiving and cold, blustery weather was in prospect for wide areas of the country.

A blast of sub-zero cold, fanned by strong northerly winds, streaked across the Canadian border into the northern Rockies today. Cold wave warnings were posted for some of the mountain and plains states.

The chilly air, moving eastward and southward, was expected to push temperatures to their lowest marks of the season over midwest areas by tomorrow. It was one below in Cutbank, Mont., early today. Lower readings were forecast.

The strong winds which swept over the North Atlantic states have diminished but snow continued this morning in parts of New York and nearby states. The season's first big storm pounded the eastern seaboard yesterday, with gale winds, rain and snow. Power and telephone lines suffered heavy damage. At least eight persons died in the eastern storms.

Narrow Escape

Tuesday afternoon as Eleanor Woolsey of Highland backed her car from the curb after a shopping trip in the village, her attention was attracted by a shout from the rear of her car. On investigating she found Estelle Davis, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Casper Davis of Highland had fallen to the street back of the car. State police at Highland investigated and reported the girl apparently been back of the car when it started and fell to the pavement. She had not been run over and appeared to be uninjured, state police reported. The girl was taken home by the driver of the car.

New York Gets Freezing

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—The mercury dipped below the freezing point early today for the first time this fall, giving New York city its coldest recording of the season. Shortly after midnight the U. S. Weather Bureau here took a reading of 31.8 degrees. During the morning, however, the temperature climbed gradually. The low reading was ascribed to a cold front from the northwest that later passed out to sea. Today's low does not set a record for the date. The mercury fell to 14 degrees on Nov. 22, 1880.

Travel Is Heavy

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—Thousands of New Yorkers began trooping out of the city today by train, plane, bus and auto to celebrate Thanksgiving while other thousands poured in to spend the holiday here. The traffic was expected to be about the same as last year. The weather forecast called for a fair, cold day and the Automobile Club of New York issued its usual warning for motorists to fill car radiators with anti-freeze.

30 Go to Albany

Local Draft Board 18 (city) sent 30 men to Albany Tuesday for preinduction physical examination. The next group to go out will be 20 sent for induction by Local Board 19 (county) on Dec. 7. Selective Service headquarters is currently not permitting the release of the names of those inducted, it was said at the local draft office.

Wounded Twice, Home

With the U. S. First Marine Division, Korea, Nov. 22 (AP)—Combat weary U. S. Marines were told today that any man wounded twice in either the last World War or the Korean war is going to be sent home. A letter from the marine corps commandant in Washington instructed commanders to see that the homegoing is arranged for those deserving it. The letter specified each wound must have required at least 24 hours of hospitalization.

3,000 Are Homeless

Manila, Nov. 22 (AP)—A typhoon swept into the China Sea today, leaving 3,000 homeless and 453 houses destroyed in the central Philippines.

Britain, U. S., Take Different Stand on China Aggressions

Lake Success, Nov. 22 (AP)—Britain and the United States lined up in opposite camps again today on the question of investigating Nationalist China's charges of Russian aggression.

The U. N. Assembly's 60-nation political committee, resuming debate on the issue, may decide it before the day is over.

Nationalist China's T. F. Tsiang presented his case yesterday. He charged that the Kremlin not only engineered the Chinese civil war, but now has 45,000 agents in China controlling all political, economic and cultural life.

Tsiang proposed that the U.N. set up a fact-finding commission to look into the situation and report back to the assembly next fall. His plan found little support except from the United States, which agreed the problem should be studied by some sort of commission.

Russia demanded that the entire question be thrown out as unfit for discussion. Soviet delegate Jacob A. Malik said Nationalist China already is headed for the "historic scrap heap."

Won't Change Views

Britain agreed that it would be useless to inquire into what happened in China. British delegate E. J. Coulson said the facts are not really in dispute and added: "Our opinions won't be changed."

Britain is one of the 17 U.N. members which have recognized Red China. For this reason, she frequently finds herself at odds with the United States on Chinese problems.

"Anything that embitters the Far Eastern situation cannot do anything but harm," Coulson said.

Also Against Commission

Faris El Khoury of Syria also expressed the belief it would be useless to create a fact-finding commission. He suggested instead that the question either be sent to the little assembly for study another year or be referred to the International Court of Justice at The Hague.

The committee then adjourned to give members a chance to consider the question overnight.

Nationalist China first brought her charges of aggression last year. The assembly refused at that time to accept Tsiang's demand that Russia be condemned. It decided finally to refer the issue to the Little Assembly. That body met twice on the question in 12 months and took no action.

Yongwon Occupied

NORTHWEST FRONT — The R.O.K. Eighth Division occupied Yongwon, and with other divisions of the R.O.K. Second Corps established a line running five to six miles north of Tokchon. Chinese Communists were building a series of strong defenses six to 11 miles north, just as they were on the rest of the northwest front manned by the U. S. First Corps.

First Corps patrols probed in spots as far as six miles without encountering the Chinese. But at either end they ran into trouble.

U. S. First Cavalry patrols on the right found Reds dug in on high ground five miles north of Yonghyon.

Chinese were building a mountain defense line to the north, and pockmarking highways with tank traps and road blocks. The flat lands along the coast leading to the border city of Sinuiju were dotted with roadblocks.

Tough Fighting Reported

GUERRILLA "FRONT" — Tough and bitter fighting was reported in by-passed areas of western Korean Wednesday. Two R.O.K. Second Division regiments attacked Chunchon in full force, trying to drive Reds out of the town 40 miles northeast of Seoul, the R.O.K. capital.

Bavarians to Vote

the tide either for or against the creation of a new German army, these officials said.

Allied military officials agree that western Europe cannot be effectively defended without the full military participation of both France and western Germany.

The Atlantic powers now are considering how German armed units could be integrated into a unified western defense force.

If the pro-rearmament Christian Democrats win or hold their own in Bavaria, there will be a good chance that the federal government which they dominate can ram rearmament through the national parliament at Bonn once the question of German aid is settled by the west.

But if the anti-rearmament Socialists win—or even make sizeable gains in Bavaria—then the forces opposing rearmament may well vote down German participation in western defense when the issue comes before parliament.

Wurtsboro Man Is Held on Rape Charge

Elmer Hummel, 38, of Wurtsboro, was ordered held for grand jury on a second degree rape charge when he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Clifford Evans of the town of Wawarsing Tuesday.

Hummel was arrested early Tuesday morning by County Investigator Clayton Vredenburg and Deputy Wesley O'Brien of the sheriff's office on a warrant issued last summer, charging that he had lived with a 15-year-old girl, Sheriff George C. Smith said. The arrest was made at Highland Falls.

Bus, Car Crash Case Is Tried in Court

An action arising out of an accident between a bus and a car near New Paltz on October 24, 1949, was taken up for trial in County Court this morning before Judge John M. Cashin and a jury.

Michael Lembo, who was en route to Kingston to attend court that day, charged his car was struck by a New Paltz bus owned by the Wallkill Valley Motor Service, Inc., driven by George Dammier, when the bus attempted to make a left turn into a garage just after the Lembo car had passed the bus which had been parked on the highway. Lembo charges the front of the bus struck the rear of his car.

Abraham Streifer and Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appear for plaintiff and Hugh J. Boylan appears for the defendants.

Jurors not engaged on the case were excused until Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Cases Settled In County Court

Victor Joseph Beatty of South Amboy, N. J., entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny in County Court before Judge John M. Cashin this morning. Beatty, indicted for grand larceny, second degree, was charged with having taken sheets and other household articles.

Charles Saccoman who appeared for Beatty, told the court there was a dispute as to the value of the articles stolen and Beatty was willing to plead guilty to petit larceny. It was alleged the merchandise had cost $120 and Assistant District Attorney Vincent G. Connelly said there was a question as to the value of the articles at the time of the act. He said The People would accept the petit larceny plea. Beatty, who had served 118 days in jail, was sentenced to 118 days and told to get out of the county.

Thomas Peterson, Highland, charged with assault, third degree, for an alleged striking of a man with a rock in a dispute while, Peterson said, they were both drinking, changed a former innocent plea to one of guilty to the charge. Peterson had served 94 days in jail and Judge Cashin imposed that sentence and warned Peterson to stay sober.

There were no other criminal matters taken up.

Hunter Fined

Brattleboro, Vt., Nov. 22 (AP)—Herbert Perkins, 16, Northport, N. Y., high school sophomore, was fined $150 today and given a suspended sentence of six to 12 months in State Industrial School for accidentally wounding a hunting companion Nov. 18. Judge Ernest F. Berry in Municipal Court ordered Perkins not to use firearms during the one-year period of his probation. Judge Berry was told that Perkins' companion, Robert Herrera, 20, of Huntington, N. Y., will be crippled for life. State's Attorney Edward John said Perkins told him he thought he was shooting at a bear. The bullet cut Herrera's spinal cord and injured his kidneys. Perkins pleaded nolo contendere Monday to a charge of careless and negligent use of firearms.

Duchess Returns

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Duchess of Windsor is back in her native land but without her duke. She will spend the winter here. The former Wallis Warfield of Baltimore arrived last night from France aboard the Queen Elizabeth. She said the duke, who was King Edward VIII of Great Britain, would arrive here either on Nov. 30 or Dec. 9. He was detained in Paris by business, she said. Meanwhile, she said, she had "some things to do" including a visit with her aunt, Mrs. Buchanan Merryman, in Washington. The Duchess said she and the Duke would be here for four months, spending Christmas in New York.

Study Shows Most Cities Not Ready To Combat A-Bomb

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—Most U. S. cities are far from ready to deal with an atomic attack.

And many city officials blame the federal government—along with public indifference—for the lack of preparedness.

These two main conclusions emerged today from a 137-city civil defense study undertaken by the American Municipal Association, made up of city and town officials.

The coast-to-coast picture shaped up this way:

On paper, our A-bomb defenses look pretty good. Special organizations have been set up, some emergency workers trained, stacks of detailed plans prepared.

Wouldn't Be Ready

But almost all city officials say frankly that if an A-bomb fell today, they'd be nowhere near ready to care for the wounded, bury the dead, put out the fires and try to restore order.

Preparedness estimates vary greatly. Little Rock, Ark., says it's five percent ready. Camden, N. J. figures it's 10 percent prepared. Other estimates at random: San Diego, Calif., 30 per cent; Atlanta, Ga., 10 per cent; Dallas and Ft. Worth, Texas, about 50 per cent.

"Cities are handicapped most," the survey said, "by the absence of a check list or bill of particulars from the Federal and state governments. * * *

Are More Critical

"Rightly or wrongly, local officials are more critical of federal action or inaction than they are of state relations."

President Truman sent Congress last Sept. 18 a blueprint for civil defense and asked early approval. Most congressional leaders say the program will be taken up in the session that begins next Jan. 3.

The program was prepared by the National Securities Resources Board. It outlines general policies, including mutual aid agreements among neighboring cities, counties and states. The new report indicates that some such agreements already are being made.

Probers Take New Track on Red Deal

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—Senators investigating trade with Communist China set off on a new track today declining to name in advance their immediate objective.

Acting Chairman O'Conor (D.-Md.) of the investigating Senate commerce subcommittee said that advance notice of the course charted for today's public hearing "might tip our hand and make it difficult or impossible to get at some of the information we are seeking."

The subcommittee has been probing into shipments of oil, metals and other strategic materials to China since it was overrun by the Reds.

Testimony received yesterday centered on bills of lading used in shipping about 4,000,000 pounds of copper to China, the bulk of it by the Kane Import Co. of New York city. O'Conor told a reporter today that while this phase of the investigation was being put aside temporarily, it was by no means ended and would be threshed out further in future committee hearings.

Officials of other American companies told the committee of buying copper in Japan, selling it to the Kane Company while it was en route to New York and then of new bills of lading being made out purporting to show that it had left Japan destined for China.

The original bills of lading, made out in Japan, called for shipment of the copper only to New York, they said.

Still Probing Girl's Story of Injury

An investigation was still under way today by state police at Highland in an attempt to ascertain the person who allegedly struck Eileen Carozza, 18, of Yonkers on the head as she sat in one of the New Paltz State Teachers College dormitories on Monday.

The assailant was not identified by Miss Carozza who was treated by Dr. Robert Reed for a slight laceration of the head. She was seated in a first floor room at the time. There has been a theory advanced that the case may be one of mistaken identity.

Two Killed by Bomb

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 22 (AP)—Nelson Harris, 41-year-old figure in the Green Dragon narcotics case, was killed today by a bomb. His wife was fatally injured. The bomb exploded as he started his car. Harris was identified by acquaintances as an aide of Herbert Noble, Dallas gambler whose wife was killed in a similar manner several months ago.

Firemen answered a still alarm call to the home of Edward Monfelt, 71 Abbey street at 7:19 a. m., today where an oil burner was out of adjustment.

Sunday school is held on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock; and Hebrew school on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons in the B'nai B'rith building.

The adult study group will meet on Thursday evening, Nov. 30, at 7:45 at Rabbi Bloom's residence, 192 Clinton avenue.

Coalition Claims

licans only 49 to 47. The line now is 54 to 42.

Tighter Ranks

The southerners' ranks apparrently will be tightened by the election of Willis Smith to replace Senator Graham in North Carolina and Rep. George A. Smathers to replace Senator Pepper in Florida.

Graham and Pepper sometimes strayed from the Dixie fold and weren't counted as sure votes against President Truman's civil rights proposals.

Everybody expects the President to renew in January his plea for civil rights legislation, along with all of the other "Fair Deal" proposals he has made in the past.

In the House, Arends' estimate of coalition strength assumed that the Republicans might lose around a dozen of their own members on some votes. More than offsetting that loss, he said, will be half of the southern Democrats and probably more.

Recreation Hall Becomes a Mecca For City Children

Cold fall afternoons, when the sun sets early, and deep blue shadows streak across the length of lower Broadway, you can see a tangled group of running, laughing youngsters, pushing a cream-colored door closed behind them with a loud, juvenile bang. The bright brass handles have become a Mecca to hundreds of children who, if it were not for the red brick building on lower Broadway, would have no place to go.

Probably most of them never think about it. The important thing is that the Department of Recreation is there, and has been there for almost a generation of pigtailed, freckle-nosed boys and girls.

Although the Recreation Department opened with the first September days of school, last week witnessed another sort of opening; the beginning of sewing, cooking, dancing and dramatic classes under the auspices of the Junior League, for little girls who will one day grow to be wives and mothers.

Depression Baby

Essentially, the Department of Recreation is a depression baby. It began in the mid-thirties' dark, futile days, when public officials realizing the need for some constructive training program to keep its youth from the streets, allowing them at the same time to earn enough money to continue their educations, founded the National Youth Administration. It was to help create and man recreational facilities, as well as teach its young people some practical trade. In New York state alone $8,000,000 was appropriated for the project.

Not long after the N.Y.A. had been initiated, Harry L. Edson happened to be in Albany. While he was there he heard about the government plan. It was a good idea, he thought. The sort of idea a man shouldn't allow to slip through his fingers.

Comes to Kingston

Mr. Edson's trip to Albany began a round of thinking, planning, and talking. Before he was finished NYA had come to Kingston.

When the Department of Recreation first opened here, it was housed in the old Weber Hose Co., Mill street. There Edson went to work training his boys in various useful crafts. But, as time went on, one thing became painfully obvious; the old firehouse was far too small. The Recreation Department, barely more than an infant itself needed a new home, and needed it badly.

The Perfect Spot

As luck would have it, they soon discovered the perfect spot. The Jewish Community Center, a large and essentially well built building, had proved too great a financial drain on its congregation. Already in the hands of a bank, and disintegrating from lack of use, it was finally rented at an almost nominal figure. It had, however, one large drawback. The difficulty lay, as Mr. Edson will tell you, in the basement where an underground stream flowed beneath one portion of the building.

When the Recreation Department first took the Community Center over under N.Y.A., some work was done on the basement. By 1940, however, when the city bought the building, the basement was still badly in need of repairs.

"But the second time," Mr. Edson smiles, "it was really done right, with well engineered drains, that keep the gymnasium warm and dry."

Junior League Volunteers

It's been four years now since the Junior League began working at the center. And, in those four years, their program has grown like Topsy. Now, while long-legged boys are playing basketball in the gymnasium, or are upstairs learning the intricacies of a lathe, the girls may be learning to sew, or stamp out some square dance's intricate figures.

Kitchen Police

This year, through the kindness of the American Legion, who has loaned the group their kitchen, the cooking class has assumed new importance. Mrs. William Anderson of Port Ewen, tutored the class last year.

"Really," she smiles, "it was terrible, for there are no cooking facilities in the Recreation building. Everything we did had to be cooked over hot plates, and all the equipment had to be brought from our homes in baskets. But this year the girls will have a fully equipped kitchen at their disposal.

"You know," she adds, "it's very important that they learn the fundamentals of good nutrition, and economical buying. Think of the savings to their families if we teach them, for instance, the value of dried milk, which costs almost 15 cents a quart less."

And It's Fun

Meanwhile, from five to 15 dozens of youngsters have found a constructive, enjoyable outlet for high spirits and energies that in many communities have led adolescents to the police courts. At the Recreation Department there's the gymnasium, the ping-pong table, the checker boards, and the inevitable huddle of junior misses playing jacks. Twice a week the large upstairs room is open to the children for movies, while their elders can see the same reel on Tuesday nights.

And there's always a helping hand and a sympathetic ear from Andrew J. Murphy, 3rd, the superintendent, and his assistant, Harry Edson, to Lorraine McGinnis who is equally competent with the girls and the movie projector; and William Van Keuren who devotes a lot of elbow grease to keep the guilding fresh and scrubbed.

Liked to Check

Hoboken, N. J., Nov. 22 (AP)—Steve Dadiak said he liked to read newspaper divorce notices to get a line on possible dates with divorcees. Last night he drove up to keep one with recently divorced Mrs. Catherine Morrison. But he didn't keep it. Police, tipped off ahead of time by Mrs. Morrison took him in tow instead on a disorderly persons charge.

Call for Nurses Made

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—The army has issued a second call for volunteer nurses and women medical specialists to meet expanded needs. It called yesterday for 3,000 nurses and 250 women medical workers through next June 30. A first call for 650 women, issued Aug. 9, brought in 477 nurses and 17 specialists.

Cadet Philip J. Danahy, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Danahy of Stone Ridge, started his academic term September 6 at the U. S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn., following a summer cruise along the Atlantic coast on the U. S. Coast Guard Training Ship Eagle and the U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Campbell. He will participate in a European cruise next summer, international conditions permitting.

Cadet Danahy, who was graduated from Kingston High School, won his appointment by means of a nation-wide competitive examination in February.

Each year these competitive examinations are given and are the sole basis on which appointments are awarded. Any young men interested in a naval career and an engineering education should correspond with the Cadet Public Information Office, U. S. Coast Academy, New London, Conn.

Rubber Planters Protest

Kuala Lumpur (AP)—Many rubber planters in Malaya say they'll sell out and leave the country if the federal government carries through a proposed boost in income taxes. That is the report of the magazine "The Planter." Referring to a falling off of rubber sales to the United States, the publication said: "America has reopened many of her synthetic plants and, even were the Korean war finished tomorrow, she is unlikely to close them for a long time."

Hunt for Bodies

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 22 (AP)—Rescue teams dug today for missing victims in the splintered wreckage of two trains which crashed head-on yesterday 312 miles west of Edmonton. Eighteen persons — including 14 Korea-bound Canadian soldiers—were believed dead, and 53 others were injured. The bodies of 12 soldiers have been recovered, but searchers still probed beneath the debris for two other soldiers and four trainmen—the engineer and firemen aboard both locomotives. Most of the injured were soldiers. Four of them were railway employes. Twenty-two of the injured were reported in a serious condition.

Would Ban Book

Chicago, Nov. 22 (AP)—The head of Chicago's police censorship division says he favors banning a new novel by the ex-wife of Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins — but he wants a city judge's decision before taking action. Capt. Harry Fulmer, termed the book, "A Diary of Love," "vulgar, purple and in spots filthy." He asked Municipal Judge Matthew Hartigan to decide whether the novel by Maude Phelps Hutchins, divorced wife of the University of Chicago chancellor, ought to be banned.

New Date Is Set

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—Tammany Leader Carmine G. De Sapio has set a new date for a meeting of the New York County (Manhattan) Democratic Committee to vote for him to continue in his $12,000-a-year board of elections job. He engaged Manhattan Center yesterday for a meeting next Monday night. Backers of Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri obtained a court injunction last Monday which prevented the meeting from being held that night at Cooper Union.

GARDINER

Gardiner, Nov. 21—Mrs. A. D. McKinstry, Mrs. Edytha Dusinberre and Mrs. Agnes Henschel were in Poughkeepsie on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy spent last Wednesday with his father, Daniel Murphy of Brookfield, Conn.

Mrs. Edward Knott and son of Valley Stream, L. I., spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyle.

Mrs. Julia Davis and Mrs. Donald Holden of Poughkeepsie were guests of Mrs. Anna Donahue last Thursday.

Mrs. George Ammerman and two children of Clifton, N. J., spent last week with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. John Van Strien.

Lewis Inontanye spent the week-end with his uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. George Jayne of New Paltz and attended the first concert given by the alumni chorus. Edward Fox, teacher in the local school, is a member of the chorus.

James Coffey entertained a number of little friends for his seventh birthday on Saturday.

The young women's pinochle club entertained their husbands at a chicken dinner at the Ireland Corners Hotel on Sunday evening.

A number of Gardiner people enjoyed the concert at the Modena Methodist Church on Sunday evening.

The joint committee of the Ladies' Aid and Dutch Circle of the Reformed Church will sponsor a tea and food sale at the church hall on Saturday, Dec. 2 at 2:30 p. m.

The annual Christmas entertainment and tree for the Reformed Sunday school will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 22. The candlelight service and cantata by the choir will be held on Sunday evening, Dec. 24.

The ladies of St. Charles Church will sponsor a roast beef dinner at the parish house on Wednesday evening, Dec. 6. Reservations are to be made by December 4. Servings will be at 5:30 and 7 o'clock. Phones for reservations are New Paltz 3062 or 2634.

The Home Bureau met at the home of Mrs. James George last Thursday when the public health nurse, Mrs. Joyce Kops, spoke on the prevention of disease, stressing importance of dieting for overweight under the supervision of a physician. After lunch the Christmas kit was displayed and many of the patterns were copied. Some additional work was done by those making trays. This class will meet at the home of Mrs. David DuBois on Thursday, Nov. 30. Appointed on the nominating committee were Mrs. Giles Randall, Miss Edna Dugan and Mrs. Thomas Murphy.

The large dairy barn of Julius McLain, owner of the former Charles Upright farm, was totally destroyed by fire on Saturday morning. The cattle were saved but the crops and machinery were burned. The Gardiner Fire Department responded speedily but were unable to save the building because of a strong wind that fanned the flames.

A technical name for color television is "trichomatic," meaning three-colored.

Albany Doctor To Be Arraigned

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—An Albany physician accused of performing a fatal abortion on a former college student faced arraignment today on a charge of first-degree manslaughter.

Dr. Leonard G. Stanley, 78, was arrested yesterday at his home. His arraignment was scheduled in Albany county court.

An Albany county grand jury indicted him in connection with the death of 18-year-old Janice Bromley of Jonesville, Saratoga county. It charged that Dr. Stanley performed an illegal operation on the pregnant girl October 11, in his office across the street from the county court house.

District Attorney Julian B. Erway said Miss Bromley died in Cohoes Hospital Oct. 22, as a result of the operation. She had been admitted to the hospital the previous day.

Miss Bromley formerly was a student at Plattsburgh State Teachers College. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Bromley.

Dr. Stanley is well-known as a musician as well as a physician. He is a violinist and conductor of an orchestra that has given private concerts in his home each week for 47 years.

assistant. Sheldon was visiting assistant."

Doctor Marsh said that the qualifying term "visiting" tended to "dilute the honorific, 'professor,'" and that the further qualification "assistant" tended to dilute it still more.

Referring to directories he said that in 1937-8, Sheldon was an "instructor" in "governmental social agencies." An instructor is markedly inferior to a full professor in the professorial scale.

Judge Congre wrote that Lipschutz's application for citizenship had been pending "for some time." Actually it had been held up for three years, an extraordinarily long time.

The government relied on circumstantial evidence. Lipschutz relied on recantations of testimony by the son and son-in-law of the woman. The former was made to appear to be mentally ill. This is a common resort in Lipschutz's political circle for the purpose of discrediting hostile witnesses. The attacks on Whittaker Chambers in the Hiss trial also are of recent memory.

Mario T. Noto and Abraham Scharf represented the government.

I have been unable to communicate with Mr. Noto, who argued the government's case. He is on leave. However, I did ask Mr. Scharf why the government did not cross-examine Lipschut's witnesses and his answer was, "I can't tell you why. I can't reveal any information. Yes, I was present at the hearing."

I have reason to believe that Mr. Noto did his best under the handicap of scant preparation with a voluminous, complex record in a short time. Mr. Scharf would appear to have taken no active part and to be blameless.

The soft approach and the lack of cross-examination are unexplained, however, and the whole mess should have been referred to the grand jury for an inquiry which should have touched the higher management of the Bureau of Immigration. Corruption was flagrant and admitted.

"HOW DR. EDWARDS' HELPED ME LICK CONSTIPATION

the clogging, TRANSIENT kind"

Mr. William Tirrell, brilliant top-flight account executive of New York City, says: "For years Dr. F. M. Edwards, a noted Ohio physician, recommended Olive Tablets to patients troubled with constipation and its headaches, bad breath and lack of pep.

"I myself have taken Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets a number of years and find nothing better to relieve constipation. Olive Tablets are so gentle yet thorough in action. They give complete relief from transient constipation."

Olive Tablets work on BOTH upper and lower bowels and give more natural-like movements. 15¢, 30¢.

assistant. Sheldon was visiting assistant."

Doctor Marsh said that the qualifying term "visiting" tended to "dilute the honorific, 'professor,'" and that the further qualification "assistant" tended to dilute it still more.

Referring to directories he said that in 1937-8, Sheldon was an "instructor" in "governmental social agencies." An instructor is markedly inferior to a full professor in the professorial scale.

Judge Congre wrote that Lipschutz's application for citizenship had been pending "for some time." Actually it had been held up for three years, an extraordinarily long time.

The government relied on circumstantial evidence. Lipschutz relied on recantations of testimony by the son and son-in-law of the woman. The former was made to appear to be mentally ill. This is a common resort in Lipschutz's political circle for the purpose of discrediting hostile witnesses. The attacks on Whittaker Chambers in the Hiss trial also are of recent memory.

Mario T. Noto and Abraham Scharf represented the government.

I have been unable to communicate with Mr. Noto, who argued the government's case. He is on leave. However, I did ask Mr. Scharf why the government did not cross-examine Lipschutz's witnesses and his answer was, "I can't tell you why. I can't reveal any information. GARDINER

Gardiner, Nov. 21—Mrs. A. D. McKinstry, Mrs. Edytha Dusinberre and Mrs. Agnes Henschel were in Poughkeepsie on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy spent last Wednesday with his father, Daniel Murphy of Brookfield, Conn.

Mrs. Edward Knott and son of Valley Stream, L. I., spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyle.

Mrs. Julia Davis and Mrs. Donald Holden of Poughkeepsie were guests of Mrs. Anna Donahue last Thursday.

Mrs. George Ammerman and two children of Clifton, N. J., spent last week with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. John Van Strien.

Lewis Inontanye spent the week-end with his uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. George Jayne of New Paltz and attended the first concert given by the alumni chorus. Edward Fox, teacher in the local school, is a member of the chorus.

James Coffey entertained a number of little friends for his seventh birthday on Saturday.

The young women's pinochle club entertained their husbands at a chicken dinner at the Ireland Corners Hotel on Sunday evening.

A number of Gardiner people enjoyed the concert at the Modena Methodist Church on Sunday evening.

The joint committee of the Ladies' Aid and Dutch Circle of the Reformed Church will sponsor a tea and food sale at the church hall on Saturday, Dec. 2 at 2:30 p. m.

The annual Christmas entertainment and tree for the Reformed Sunday school will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 22. The candlelight service and cantata by the choir will be held on Sunday evening, Dec. 24.

The ladies of St. Charles Church will sponsor a roast beef dinner at the parish house on Wednesday evening, Dec. 6. Reservations are to be made by December 4. Servings will be at 5:30 and 7 o'clock. Phones for reservations are New Paltz 3062 or 2634.

The Home Bureau met at the home of Mrs. James George last Thursday when the public health nurse, Mrs. Joyce Kops, spoke on the prevention of disease, stressing importance of dieting for overweight under the supervision of a physician. After lunch the Christmas kit was displayed and many of the patterns were copied. Some additional work was done by those making trays. This class will meet at the home of Mrs. David DuBois on Thursday, Nov. 30. Appointed on the nominating committee were Mrs. Giles Randall, Miss Edna Dugan and Mrs. Thomas Murphy.

The large dairy barn of Julius McLain, owner of the former Charles Upright farm, was totally destroyed by fire on Saturday morning. The cattle were saved but the crops and machinery were burned. The Gardiner Fire Department responded speedily but were unable to save the building because of a strong wind that fanned the flames.

Albany Doctor To Be Arraigned

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—An Albany physician accused of performing a fatal abortion on a former college student faced arraignment today on a charge of first-degree manslaughter.

Dr. Leonard G. Stanley, 78, was arrested yesterday at his home. His arraignment was scheduled in Albany county court.

An Albany county grand jury indicted him in connection with the death of 18-year-old Janice Bromley of Jonesville, Saratoga county. It charged that Dr. Stanley performed an illegal operation on the pregnant girl October 11, in his office across the street from the county court house.

District Attorney Julian B. Erway said Miss Bromley died in Cohoes Hospital Oct. 22, as a result of the operation. She had been admitted to the hospital the previous day.

Miss Bromley formerly was a student at Plattsburgh State Teachers College. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Bromley.

Dr. Stanley is well-known as a musician as well as a physician. He is a violinist and conductor of an orchestra that has given private concerts in his home each week for 47 years.

Veterans' Benefits in Security Law

Survivors of All World War 2 Vets Urged to Apply

Mrs. Doris Gerlach and two children, Jeffrey, age seven, and Gary, age two, of Sleightsburg, will receive the first Old-Age and Survivors Insurance benefits in Ulster county, under the Veterans Provision of the New Social Security Law, it was announced by George J. Johnson, manager of the Kingston office of the Social Security Administration, today.

The total possible payments to Mrs. Gerlach from October 1950 until February 1966, will amount to $19,616.40. In addition, at age 65, if Mrs. Gerlach has not remarried, she will be entitled to monthly benefits as an aged widow in the amount of $43.50 per month. The benefits will be paid in the form of monthly checks, $43.50 to Mrs. Gerlach and $36.30 each to Jeffrey and Gary, a total of $116.10 monthly for the family. This amount will continue until March 1961, when Jeffrey reaches age 18. The checks for Jeffrey will stop then but Gary will receive an increase to $43.50 so the income for Mrs. Gerlach and Gary will be $87.00 per month starting March 1961 and ending with February 1966, the month prior to Gary's attaining age 18.

Mrs. Gerlach in giving the Social Security Field Office permission to use her story, said she was in hopes it would assist other families of deceased veterans to secure the benefits to which they are entitled. In explaining the benefits Mrs. Gerlach will receive, Mr. Johnson also stated this was one of the first cases in which a lump-sum will be paid when monthly benefits are also payable in the month of death.

This new provision provides for a lump-sum to be paid upon the death of an insured wage earner regardless of whether there are other benefits payable or not.

What are the new provisions for World War 2 servicemen? Well, to begin with, they give $160 wage credits for each month of active service between September 16, 1940, and July 24, 1947. Recomputation to take these wage credits into account will be made, and such recomputation is used in all cases where it will result in high old-age or survivors insurance payments.

Unlike the 1946 temporary measure, the new provision is not affected by any compensation or pension that may be paid by the Veterans Administration. The only cases where the $160 service-connected wage credits will not be given are those in which benefits, other than a lump sum, are payable under some other Federal plan, for instance, Civil Service or Railroad Retirement.

The $160 wage credits will be given to every serviceman who had 90 days or more of military or naval service, within the dates mentioned, and whose discharge or release from service was not dishonorable. The 90-day provision while in service.

Obviously, this $160 a month service-connected wage credit of the new Social Security Law will bring larger benefits to present survivors of servicemen and to the families of veterans who die within the next few years. Also, many World War 2 ex-servicemen, now in the 50-60 age group, will acquire old-age and survivors insurance status through these service-earned wage credits.

Johnson urges survivors of all World War 2 Veterans, regardless of whether they died in service or not, to contact his office in the Central Post Office Building, about possible benefits.

Passes Bar Exam at 64

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 22 (AP)—Sixty-four-year-old William H. Montgomery of nearby Margate was informed yesterday he passed the New Jersey bar examination. Montgomery, who quit his law practice at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in 1948 to preserve his health, said he just couldn't keep away from courts. He took a clerkship in a local firm and studied a year for the New Jersey test. The last bar examination he took was in 1912 in New York. Three years before that he passed Oklahoma's test. He will be sworn in as a New Jersey lawyer Nov. 30 at Trenton.

Tibet Sends Delegation

New Delhi, India, Nov. 22 (AP)—Tibet is sending a delegation to the United Nations to press the Himalayan country's plea for U.N. intervention against Chinese Communist invaders. Tibet's finance minister, Tsepon Shakabpa, told newsmen at Kalimpong on the India-Tibet border that a three-man delegation headed by Dzasa Surkhang has left Lhasa for Lake Success. El Salvador has asked that the U.N. General Assembly consider the Tibetan case but it has not yet been placed on the assembly's agenda:

Spent More in 1949

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—More than a third of the nation's families spent more than they took in last year, managing to get by chiefly on credit, the Federal Reserve Board reported yesterday. Most of them were in lower income brackets, the board said, adding that families in the top tenth in income piled up more savings than all other families put together.

Had Your Muktuk? Then Go to Alaska

Barrow, Alaska, Nov. 22 (AP)—The whole United States will be talking turkey tomorrow but here on the shores of the Arctic ocean the main topic will be whale.

Several hundred Eskimos are gathering here for the Thanksgiving day celebration tomorrow and a traditional feast of muktuk (whale) and jerked caribou.

For weeks the gathering has been the chief topic of conversation along the Arctic rim as hundreds of Nomadic Eskimos converged on this farthest-north town from hunting camps and villages in the barren-lands.

They will gather in their new 40 by 100 foot karigee for three days of celebration. Two gigantic whales will provide the menu for the feast. And they will celebrate construction of the $30,000 karigee, or men's meeting place, by the labor of their own people.

The Eskimos will give thanks for a good hunting season and plentiful jobs with the navy's oil exploration crews based a few miles north of here.

Raids Are Reported

New Delhi, India, Nov. 22 (AP)—A Nepalese embassy communique today reported sporadic raids by insurgents in the Bhairawa and Biratnagar areas of Nepal. The communique said 200 insurgents who attempted to raid a house in the Bhairawa district fled when government troops arrived.

Veterans' Benefits in Security Law

Survivors of All World War 2 Vets Urged to Apply

Mrs. Doris Gerlach and two children, Jeffrey, age seven, and Gary, age two, of Sleightsburg, will receive the first Old-Age and Survivors Insurance benefits in Ulster county, under the Veterans Provision of the New Social Security Law, it was announced by George J. Johnson, manager of the Kingston office of the Social Security Administration, today.

The total possible payments to Mrs. Gerlach from October 1950 until February 1966, will amount to $19,616.40. In addition, at age 65, if Mrs. Gerlach has not remarried, she will be entitled to monthly benefits as an aged widow in the amount of $43.50 per month. The benefits will be paid in the form of monthly checks, $43.50 to Mrs. Gerlach and $36.30 each to Jeffrey and Gary, a total of $116.10 monthly for the family. This amount will continue until March 1961, when Jeffrey reaches age 18. The checks for Jeffrey will stop then but Gary will receive an increase to $43.50 so the income for Mrs. Gerlach and Gary will be $87.00 per month starting March 1961 and ending with February 1966, the month prior to Gary's attaining age 18.

Mrs. Gerlach in giving the Social Security Field Office permission to use her story, said she was in hopes it would assist other families of deceased veterans to secure the benefits to which they are entitled. In explaining the benefits Mrs. Gerlach will receive, Mr. Johnson also stated this was one of the first cases in which a lump-sum will be paid when monthly benefits are also payable in the month of death.

This new provision provides for a lump-sum to be paid upon the death of an insured wage earner regardless of whether there are other benefits payable or not.

What are the new provisions for World War 2 servicemen? Well, to begin with, they give $160 wage credits for each month of active service between September 16, 1940, and July 24, 1947. Recomputation to take these wage credits into account will be made, and such recomputation is used in all cases where it will result in high old-age or survivors insurance payments.

Unlike the 1946 temporary measure, the new provision is not affected by any compensation or pension that may be paid by the Veterans Administration. The only cases where the $160 service-connected wage credits will not be given are those in which benefits, other than a lump sum, are payable under some other Federal plan, for instance, Civil Service or Railroad Retirement.

The $160 wage credits will be given to every serviceman who had 90 days or more of military or naval service, within the dates mentioned, and whose discharge or release from service was not dishonorable. The 90-day provision while in service.

Obviously, this $160 a month service-connected wage credit of the new Social Security Law will bring larger benefits to present survivors of servicemen and to the families of veterans who die within the next few years. Also, many World War 2 ex-servicemen, now in the 50-60 age group, will acquire old-age and survivors insurance status through these service-earned wage credits.

Johnson urges survivors of all World War 2 Veterans, regardless of whether they died in service or not, to contact his office in the Central Post Office Building, about possible benefits.

Passes Bar Exam at 64

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 22 (AP)—Sixty-four-year-old William H. Montgomery of nearby Margate was informed yesterday he passed the New Jersey bar examination. Montgomery, who quit his law practice at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in 1948 to preserve his health, said he just couldn't keep away from courts. He took a clerkship in a local firm and studied a year for the New Jersey test. The last bar examination he took was in 1912 in New York. Three years before that he passed Oklahoma's test. He will be sworn in as a New Jersey lawyer Nov. 30 at Trenton.

Tibet Sends Delegation

New Delhi, India, Nov. 22 (AP)—Tibet is sending a delegation to the United Nations to press the Himalayan country's plea for U.N. intervention against Chinese Communist invaders. Tibet's finance minister, Tsepon Shakabpa, told newsmen at Kalimpong on the India-Tibet border that a three-man delegation headed by Dzasa Surkhang has left Lhasa for Lake Success. El Salvador has asked that the U.N. General Assembly consider the Tibetan case but it has not yet been placed on the assembly's agenda:

Spent More in 1949

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—More than a third of the nation's families spent more than they took in last year, managing to get by chiefly on credit, the Federal Reserve Board reported yesterday. Most of them were in lower income brackets, the board said, adding that families in the top tenth in income piled up more savings than all other families put together.

Had Your Muktuk? Then Go to Alaska

Barrow, Alaska, Nov. 22 (AP)—The whole United States will be talking turkey tomorrow but here on the shores of the Arctic ocean the main topic will be whale.

Several hundred Eskimos are gathering here for the Thanksgiving day celebration tomorrow and a traditional feast of muktuk (whale) and jerked caribou.

For weeks the gathering has been the chief topic of conversation along the Arctic rim as hundreds of Nomadic Eskimos converged on this farthest-north town from hunting camps and villages in the barren-lands.

They will gather in their new 40 by 100 foot karigee for three days of celebration. Two gigantic whales will provide the menu for the feast. And they will celebrate construction of the $30,000 karigee, or men's meeting place, by the labor of their own people.

The Eskimos will give thanks for a good hunting season and plentiful jobs with the navy's oil exploration crews based a few miles north of here.

Profits Tax May Increase Price of Natural Gas Use

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—Stiff increases in consumer prices for natural gas were foreseen today by an industry spokesman as one result of the proposed excess profits tax.

The higher prices prediction was made to the House Ways and Means Committee by William G. Woolfolk, chairman of the American Natural Gas Company.

Woolfolk was one of a group of witnesses called on this final day of committee hearings on President Truman's request for a 75 per cent tax on excess corporation profits tax to raise $4,000,000,000 yearly in new revenue.

Like other business spokesmen, Woolfolk opposed the President's request, which so far has found major support only from organized labor and the treasury department.

Four Million Consumers

Woolfolk's company supplies gas to an estimated 4,000,000 consumers in Detroit, Milwaukee and other Michigan and Wisconsin cities through the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, the Milwaukee Gas Light Company and the Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Company.

Even under most favorable conditions, he said in a statement for the committee, the excess profits tax proposal would increase the tax rate on the normal, regulated earnings of his company from 45 per cent to 63 per cent.

"In this event our system would have to apply for increases of about $16,000,000, or 20 per cent, in its charge to the public for utility service to bring its earnings up to a normal return," he said.

"If our earnings, regulated by law, are reduced, we cannot raise new money, construction must stop and gas must be rationed," he added.

Other witnesses today represented various other utilities and agreed generally that an excess profits tax would be discriminatory, inflationary and difficult to administer.

Committee Chairman Doughton (D-NC) told newsmen he plans to recall the committee into closed session Friday and to work daily thereafter, Sundays excluded, until an actual bill is drafted.

4-H CLUB NEWS

New County Agent

SHIRLEY THIELKER

Miss Shirley J. Thielker of R.F.D. 3, Poughkeepsie, has assumed her duties as assistant Ulster county 4-H Club agent. She succeeds Mrs. Virginia Hoppenstedt, who resigned in August.

Miss Thielker was born in Dutchess county and did six years of 4-H Club work there. After graduation from high school, she attended Cornell University, where she specialized in extension service. She was active in church work among older persons, and was a member of Cornell Union of Religious Workers. Her last term at Cornell she spent in practice teaching at Elmira.

After graduation from Cornell in 1949, Miss Thielker was engaged in home bureau work in St. Lawrence county. Finding more of a challenge in 4-H Club work, she went to the 4-H Club state office and worked for several months as an agent-at-large before coming to Kingston this month.

Plan Is Postponed

London, Nov. 22 (AP)—Some 20,000 British doctors, who had threatened to pull out of the National Health Program unless they got higher fees, have agreed to postpone their withdrawal at least until June.

PORT EWEN NEWS

Port Ewen, Nov. 22—The annual Thanksgiving service will be held at the Methodist Church tonight at 7:30. The pastor, the Rev. R. D. Watson, B.D., will be in charge. The Rev. Harry E. Christiana, pastor of the Reformed Church, will preach the Thanksgiving message. The senior choir will meet after the service.

Mrs. Paul Beaver was elected president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Port Ewen Fire Company during the regular meeting Monday night. Others named were Miss Helen Schryver, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Fisk, secretary; Mrs. John G. Reynolds, treasurer; Miss Dorothy Atkins, assistant secretary; and Miss Mary Coniglio, assistant treasurer.

The Men's Candlepin Bowling League will bowl tonight with Teams 2 and 4 at 7 and Teams 1 and 3 at 8:30.

The Ladies' Candlepin Bowling League will resume action next week.

Betty Sanford, publicity director for the American Legion Auxiliary, 1298, Town of Esopus, has requested that all persons planning to send gifts to the veterans at Castle Point for Christmas to do so early. She reports that such gifts must be non-breakable. Suggestions for gifts include handmade mittens for all ages, nylon stockings, 9½ or 10; socks, men and children, neckties, boxed handkerchiefs, no initials; scarfs, gloves, costume jewelry, mailable toilet sets for all, white stationery, books for all ages, gifts for 14 to 18 year boys; children's school supplies, crayons, paints, mechanical pencils and pens, trucks, games, erector sets, building sets, doll, plastic dishes and toys. All gifts must be at the home of Mrs. Vivian Stadt by Nov. 30. Gifts must not be wrapped. Christmas wrappings may be included with each gift.

Mrs. Mary O'Neil, public health nurse, reported the need of old sheets or other white material during the recent meeting of the Town of Esopus Public Health nursing committee. She also said the group needs a high chair. Mrs. Lester Sanford was appointed chairman of the Christmas committee. Audiometer tests in the school were reported nearly completed. A dental clinic will be held at the Health Center from Dec. 18 to Dec. 29 for children from three to five who are not in the first grade at school. Children will have their teeth examined at the clinic and appointments may be made for the application of sodium. The next meeting of the group will be held Jan. 17.

The Port Ewen School Association will sponsor a movie entitled "Panama Patrol," and two cartoons at the Town of Esopus Auditorium Friday at 7:30 p. m. Refreshments will be available. Proceeds will be used for the school children.

Boys from the seventh and eighth grades of School 13 went to Highland Tuesday and played the seventh and eighth grades of the Highland school in soccer. Highland won the first game by 3-2.

School 13 closed today at noon for the Thanksgiving holiday. Classes will resume next Monday.

Brownies, Troop 44, will not meet this week. The next meeting will be held Friday, Dec. 1, at the Methodist Church house at 3:20 p. m. with Mrs. Frederick Spalt as leader and Mrs. Kenneth Bovee as assistant leader.

Judge Approves

Los Angeles, Nov. 22 (AP)—A family of three was in court because their name, Schoephoerster, is a tough one to spell. "Our little girl (Judith Ann, five) is in kindergarten," said Mrs. Marjorie Schoephoerster, 28. "It's hard for a little girl to spell a name that has 14 letters. Five will be lots easier." Her husband, Lowell, 29, agreed and they asked yesterday that the court legally change the name to Schep. The judge approved.

Profits Tax May Increase Price of Natural Gas Use

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—Stiff increases in consumer prices for natural gas were foreseen today by an industry spokesman as one result of the proposed excess profits tax.

The higher prices prediction was made to the House Ways and Means Committee by William G. Woolfolk, chairman of the American Natural Gas Company.

Woolfolk was one of a group of witnesses called on this final day of committee hearings on President Truman's request for a 75 per cent tax on excess corporation profits tax to raise $4,000,000,000 yearly in new revenue.

Like other business spokesmen, Woolfolk opposed the President's request, which so far has found major support only from organized labor and the treasury department.

Four Million Consumers

Woolfolk's company supplies gas to an estimated 4,000,000 consumers in Detroit, Milwaukee and other Michigan and Wisconsin cities through the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, the Milwaukee Gas Light Company and the Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Company.

Even under most favorable conditions, he said in a statement for the committee, the excess profits tax proposal would increase the tax rate on the normal, regulated earnings of his company from 45 per cent to 63 per cent.

"In this event our system would have to apply for increases of about $16,000,000, or 20 per cent, in its charge to the public for utility service to bring its earnings up to a normal return," he said.

"If our earnings, regulated by law, are reduced, we cannot raise new money, construction must stop and gas must be rationed," he added.

Other witnesses today represented various other utilities and agreed generally that an excess profits tax would be discriminatory, inflationary and difficult to administer.

Committee Chairman Doughton (D-NC) told newsmen he plans to recall the committee into closed session Friday and to work daily thereafter, Sundays excluded, until an actual bill is drafted.

4-H CLUB NEWS

New County Agent

SHIRLEY THIELKER

Miss Shirley J. Thielker of R.F.D. 3, Poughkeepsie, has assumed her duties as assistant Ulster county 4-H Club agent. She succeeds Mrs. Virginia Hoppenstedt, who resigned in August.

Miss Thielker was born in Dutchess county and did six years of 4-H Club work there. After graduation from high school, she attended Cornell University, where she specialized in extension service. She was active in church work among older persons, and was a member of Cornell Union of Religious Workers. Her last term at Cornell she spent in practice teaching at Elmira.

After graduation from Cornell in 1949, Miss Thielker was engaged in home bureau work in St. Lawrence county. Finding more of a challenge in 4-H Club work, she went to the 4-H Club state office and worked for several months as an agent-at-large before coming to Kingston this month.

Plan Is Postponed

London, Nov. 22 (AP)—Some 20,000 British doctors, who had threatened to pull out of the National Health Program unless they got higher fees, have agreed to postpone their withdrawal at least until June.

PORT EWEN NEWS

Port Ewen, Nov. 22—The annual Thanksgiving service will be held at the Methodist Church tonight at 7:30. The pastor, the Rev. R. D. Watson, B.D., will be in charge. The Rev. Harry E. Christiana, pastor of the Reformed Church, will preach the Thanksgiving message. The senior choir will meet after the service.

Mrs. Paul Beaver was elected president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Port Ewen Fire Company during the regular meeting Monday night. Others named were Miss Helen Schryver, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Fisk, secretary; Mrs. John G. Reynolds, treasurer; Miss Dorothy Atkins, assistant secretary; and Miss Mary Coniglio, assistant treasurer.

The Men's Candlepin Bowling League will bowl tonight with Teams 2 and 4 at 7 and Teams 1 and 3 at 8:30.

The Ladies' Candlepin Bowling League will resume action next week.

Betty Sanford, publicity director for the American Legion Auxiliary, 1298, Town of Esopus, has requested that all persons planning to send gifts to the veterans at Castle Point for Christmas to do so early. She reports that such gifts must be non-breakable. Suggestions for gifts include handmade mittens for all ages, nylon stockings, 9½ or 10; socks, men and children, neckties, boxed handkerchiefs, no initials; scarfs, gloves, costume jewelry, mailable toilet sets for all, white stationery, books for all ages, gifts for 14 to 18 year boys; children's school supplies, crayons, paints, mechanical pencils and pens, trucks, games, erector sets, building sets, doll, plastic dishes and toys. All gifts must be at the home of Mrs. Vivian Stadt by Nov. 30. Gifts must not be wrapped. Christmas wrappings may be included with each gift.

Mrs. Mary O'Neil, public health nurse, reported the need of old sheets or other white material during the recent meeting of the Town of Esopus Public Health nursing committee. She also said the group needs a high chair. Mrs. Lester Sanford was appointed chairman of the Christmas committee. Audiometer tests in the school were reported nearly completed. A dental clinic will be held at the Health Center from Dec. 18 to Dec. 29 for children from three to five who are not in the first grade at school. Children will have their teeth examined at the clinic and appointments may be made for the application of sodium. The next meeting of the group will be held Jan. 17.

The Port Ewen School Association will sponsor a movie entitled "Panama Patrol," and two cartoons at the Town of Esopus Auditorium Friday at 7:30 p. m. Refreshments will be available. Proceeds will be used for the school children.

Boys from the seventh and eighth grades of School 13 went to Highland Tuesday and played the seventh and eighth grades of the Highland school in soccer. Highland won the first game by 3-2.

School 13 closed today at noon for the Thanksgiving holiday. Classes will resume next Monday.

Brownies, Troop 44, will not meet this week. The next meeting will be held Friday, Dec. 1, at the Methodist Church house at 3:20 p. m. with Mrs. Frederick Spalt as leader and Mrs. Kenneth Bovee as assistant leader.

Judge Approves

Los Angeles, Nov. 22 (AP)—A family of three was in court because their name, Schoephoerster, is a tough one to spell. "Our little girl (Judith Ann, five) is in kindergarten," said Mrs. Marjorie Schoephoerster, 28. "It's hard for a little girl to spell a name that has 14 letters. Five will be lots easier." Her husband, Lowell, 29, agreed and they asked yesterday that the court legally change the name to Schep. The judge approved.

Emily Lounsbury Is Given Shower

Miss Emily Lounsbury of Port Ewen was given a surprise bridal shower and luncheon Tuesday afternoon by several of her friends at the Hotel Stuyvesant. Miss Helen Anderson and Miss Dorothy Gray were hostesses.

Others attending were the Mmes. David Snell, Ray Lounsbury, Edward Gardner, Michael Maxson and Irwin Thomas and Miss Mary Modica.

Miss Lounsbury will become the bride of Frank Welch, Saturday.

Helen Avery to Wed George L. Schmeltz

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Avery of Shokan announce the engagement of their daughter Helen to George L. Schmeltz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schmeltz of Cottekill.

Mr. Schmeltz is now on active duty in the Atlantic with the U. S. Navy.

Cyril Bibby Plans New Paltz Lecture

The eminent British educator, Dr. Cyril Bibby, will lecture at State Teachers College, New Paltz before members of the American history and government classes in the college auditorium November 30 at 1:15 p. m. His subject will be "The Family and the National Health Plan." Visitors are welcome to attend. Meanwhile in the evening he will speak before the International Relations Club on "Comparative Educational Systems."

Dr. Bibby, who is senior lecturer at St. John's and St. Mark's College, Hertsfordshire, England has been on tour in the United States lecturing at the University of Illinois. En route to England he will stop at New Paltz and Vassar College.

Office to Close

The Girl Scout office, 292 Fair street, will be closed from Wednesday evening through the week-end. It will re-open Monday.

Sorosis Members Give Musicale

Four members of Sorosis presented a musicale Monday afternoon when the group met at the home of Mrs. A. Noble Graham. Performing were Mrs. Florence Cubberly, violin; Miss Lucinda Merritt and Mrs. Willard Burke, piano; and vocalist Mrs. Deweese DeWitt. Between selections Mrs. Cubberly outlined the history of each composer.

George Frederic Handel, she explained, who was born in Germany, was appointed court musician, a position which usually was held for life, but Handel's desire to see England caused a rift with the House of Hanover. When George of Hanover became George 1 of England, friends healed the preach, Mrs. Cubberly continued, by having him compose special music for the King's "Water Party," a musical evening on the royal barge sailing the Thames. The king was so delighted with his compositions, that Handel was forgiven, and was given a substantial pension in 1777.

Another composer mentioned was Henry Eccles, who born in 1671, was one of the early 18th century Parisian composers, whose "Adagio" and "Courante," were greatly enjoyed by members of Sorosis.

Mrs. Deweese DeWitt played Horatio Parker's "The Lark and His Song," accompanied by Mrs. Williard Burke, followed by "My Mother Bids me Bind my Hair," by the early 17th century composer, Franz Joseph Haydn. Other works were Revencroft's "Old English Hornpipe, "selections from James Oswald an John George Freake, and duet arrangements of Beethoven's "Largo," and "Turkish March."

The program chairman, Mrs. Ella Ochs announced the next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen, December 4, when a paper will be presented on "Festive Decorations" by Mrs. Edwin Shumate. There will also be a Christmas party December 18 at the home of Mrs. Grover Lasher when dessert will be served followed by entertainment.

Garden Club Hears Eminent Lecturer

The Ulster Garden Club officially closed the growing season with an open meeting at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, where Montague Free of Hyde Park, known as an eminent author and horticulturalist, addressed the group yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Free, who specializes in the growth and care of house plants, described how winter windows can be made as attractive as last summer's garden. He also advised immediate disposal of unhealthy plants, which tend to infect the others about them.

Mentioning several specific varieties, he spoke of the African violet, which has 60 or 70 species, and the multitude of cacti, as well as patient Lucy, the prayer plant, and the orchid. Orchids, he revealed, which most gardeners feel are expensive and difficult to grow, are in reality a thoroughly satisfactory, as well as attractive houseplant.

House plants, he concluded, prove to be a great solace to the real gardener, wrestling with impatience for spring and gardening.

Following the meeting Mr. Fee autographed several copies of his book for members of the audience. Mrs. Howard Lewis, the club's new president, presided during the meeting.

New Alumni Chorus Holds Debut Concert At Teachers College

The Alumni Chorus of New Paltz State Teachers College was welcomed by an appreciative audience Saturday evening when they presented their first concert on the college stage, sponsored by the Alumni Association's New Paltz chapter.

Program for the evening included selections of sacred music by Mozart and Beethoven, a longer work for a mixed chorus, Brahm's "Song of Destiny," modern music by Mennin, Ives, and Schuman, and a group of popular spirituals. The chorus is under the direction of Miss Marion H. Harding of the college faculty, while Myrtle Thompson Jordan of Highland is accompanist. Harpist Miss Joyce Rosenfield was soloist. A member of the class of '54, Miss Rosenfield has studied at the High School of Music and Art, New York city.

Following the concert, members of the chorus and the Alumni Association met in the social room for refreshments.

Legion Auxiliary Sponsors Gift Shop

This year the American Legion Auxiliary is preparing again for the Christmas gift shop at Veterans Hospital, Castle Point, an annual enterprise which allows men confined in the hospital to select gifts for their families during the holiday season free of charge. This service, which brings the spirit of Christmas a little closer the hearts of the hospital's many patients, is made possible through public generosity and units of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The Kingston unit has advised that donations to the gift shop should cost between one and two dollars, and to be acceptable must be new. The group appreciates articles like stockings, handkerchiefs, aprons, scarves, gloves, mittens, note paper, toys, and children's clothing. Articles should not be breakable, and gift wrappings should be included with the package.

Coach House Group Sees Pinza Film

A film featuring Enzio Pinza, Margaret Phebom, and the Donald Voorhis orchestra, in addition to several short musical features, highlighted the Coach House Players' reception last night for 85 invited guests at the Crystal Room Governor Clinton Hotel. Announcement was also made that the organization's first production, scheduled for late January, will be a three act comedy, "See How They Run."

After welcoming the guests, President Irving Rose briefly outlined the group's purposes, as well as describing their newly acquired theatre, the former Coykendall coach house, Augusta street. He also extended the group's thanks to attorney Hugh R. Elwyn for the work he did when the group formed their corporation, and transfered the coach house property.

Inviting those present who were interested in the various phases of little theatre work to become active members, President Rose stressed that for those who were not interested in playing behind the footlights, there are always a multitude of interesting, technical backstage jobs.

Refreshments and an informal social hour followed Mr. Rose's address.

Engagement Announced

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Mrs. Pauline Petersen, 81 Green street and formerly of Brooklyn, to August Olson, 81 Green street. Mr. Olson is employed at the Schilling Mfg. Co. The wedding will be held December 23.

The first machine ever used in making shoes was a clamping press invented to attach leather soles to shoe uppers.

Sorosis Members Give Musicale

Four members of Sorosis presented a musicale Monday afternoon when the group met at the home of Mrs. A. Noble Graham. Performing were Mrs. Florence Cubberly, violin; Miss Lucinda Merritt and Mrs. Willard Burke, piano; and vocalist Mrs. Deweese DeWitt. Between selections Mrs. Cubberly outlined the history of each composer.

George Frederic Handel, she explained, who was born in Germany, was appointed court musician, a position which usually was held for life, but Handel's desire to see England caused a rift with the House of Hanover. Practical Nurses Hear Cancer Talk

Dr. Frederic Holcomb Jr., lectured at the Tumor Clinic on cancer recently, before the regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Division of Practical Nurses Inc.

Dr. Holcomb explained that cancer, a disorderly growth of cells in the body tissue, if it is not destroyed, or removed, will continue to grow, eventually causing death. Admitting that it's true structural cause is unknown, he told the group, however that chronic, or prolonged irritation often seemed an accessory in its growth.

Dr. Holcomb then discussed cancer cures, which are almost uniformly possible in the disease's early stages. No one age, he told the group, is free from cancer which is neither contagious, or infectious while certain forms are most often found in children. Further information may be obtained, he concluded through literature which, printed by the American Cancer Society, can be obtained at the Tumor Clinic.

Following the lecture there was a discussion period, and various groups toured the Tumor Clinic.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. William Scafidi are the parents of a daughter, Martha Ann, born November 17 at the Benedictine Hospital.

Miss Joyce Auchmoody of Kingston, and her roommate, Miss Pauline Costic of Setauket, L. I., attended the Stewart Field Officer's Club promenade given by the preparatory School, November 17. Both girls are juniors at New Paltz State Teachers College.

A daughter, Kim Anne, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Grove Webster, of Dayton, Ohio, November 17, she is the former Beverly Van Norstrand.

Mr. and Mrs. John Doyle, 50 Broadway, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary November 24. They were married in St. Mary's Church by the Rev. John J. Hickey.

The Governor Picks an Escort

Miss Betty L. Bryant, left, of Lomontville, a senior at Buffalo State College and president of the student council, conducts Gov. Thomas E. Dewey about the campus. The governor was there to attend a cornerstone laying ceremony for the college's new Edward H. Butler library. Miss Bryant was graduated from Kingston High School with the class of '47.

Directs Decorations

Miss Joan Schwartzberg will take complete charge of decorations for Hadassah's annual bazaar, it was announced today. The bazaar will be held November 27, 28 and 29 at the Agudas Achim social hall.

Seniors List Prom Chaperones

Chaperones have been named for Kingston High School's senior prom which will be held Thursday evening at the M.J.M. School from 9 to 12. Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. James Tobin, Mr. and Mrs. John Bechtold, Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Burke and Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Craw.

Ponckhockie Circle

The Ponckhockie Circle of the King's Daughters will meet Tuesday evening at 7:45 in the Ponckhockie Congregational Church.

Kiwanis Kapers Set to Lampoon Kingston History

Kingstonians who think they know their city's history are in for a surprise when they attend Kiwanis Kapers at the high school auditorium November 27 and 28.

An advance look at the script of the show disclosed today that it contains many happenings that never appeared in the history books—and probably never will.

The show, good naturedly lampooning this city's founding, contains such a mixture of historic people as the Esopus Indians, Dr. "Rainmaker" Howell and a surveyor seeking a location for the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge, all in the same act.

Everything from the settlement of the area by the Dutch to the activities of the Colonial Baseball League is fair game for the Kiwanis historians.

Roger Loughran is the Indian chief who received the Dutch. Along with the Dutch, according to the Kapers script, came Elmer Rylance surveying for the bridge.

Another chapter in Kiwanis' history concerns a medicine show of 1900 vintage, with William Leehive dispensing medicine until he is run out of town. In another skit, Dr. John Comstock becomes the tough top sergeant putting the 1780 militia through squad drill.

The "Sad Sack" of the militia is Pvt. Mort Englander, who winds up getting decorated for valor.

Master prestidigitator Fred Van Deusen is scheduled to saw in half Mrs. Christopher Morris, but apparently there is something wrong, for Mrs. Morris is scheduled to come back in the next act to sing and dance with her husband in the Gay Ninety manner.

Kiwanis has done something most historians fear to do. It has included in its dramatized history a television travesty on Kingston in the year 2,000 A.D. Commentator will be William Riseley.

Practical Nurses Hear Cancer Talk

Dr. Frederic Holcomb Jr., lectured at the Tumor Clinic on cancer recently, before the regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Division of Practical Nurses Inc.

Dr. Holcomb explained that cancer, a disorderly growth of cells in the body tissue, if it is not destroyed, or removed, will continue to grow, eventually causing death. Admitting that it's true structural cause is unknown, he told the group, however that chronic, or prolonged irritation often seemed an accessory in its growth.

Dr. Holcomb then discussed cancer cures, which are almost uniformly possible in the disease's early stages. No one age, he told the group, is free from cancer which is neither contagious, or infectious while certain forms are most often found in children. Further information may be obtained, he concluded through literature which, printed by the American Cancer Society, can be obtained at the Tumor Clinic.

Following the lecture there was a discussion period, and various groups toured the Tumor Clinic.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. William Scafidi are the parents of a daughter, Martha Ann, born November 17 at the Benedictine Hospital.

Miss Joyce Auchmoody of Kingston, and her roommate, Miss Pauline Costic of Setauket, L. I., attended the Stewart Field Officer's Club promenade given by the preparatory School, November 17. Both girls are juniors at New Paltz State Teachers College.

A daughter, Kim Anne, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Grove Webster, of Dayton, Ohio, November 17, she is the former Beverly Van Norstrand.

Mr. and Mrs. John Doyle, 50 Broadway, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary November 24. They were married in St. Mary's Church by the Rev. John J. Hickey.

The Governor Picks an Escort

Directs Decorations

Miss Joan Schwartzberg will take complete charge of decorations for Hadassah's annual bazaar, it was announced today. The bazaar will be held November 27, 28 and 29 at the Agudas Achim social hall.

Seniors List Prom Chaperones

Chaperones have been named for Kingston High School's senior prom which will be held Thursday evening at the M.J.M. School from 9 to 12. Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. James Tobin, Mr. and Mrs. John Bechtold, Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Burke and Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Craw.

Ponckhockie Circle

The Ponckhockie Circle of the King's Daughters will meet Tuesday evening at 7:45 in the Ponckhockie Congregational Church.

Kiwanis Kapers Set to Lampoon Kingston History

Kingstonians who think they know their city's history are in for a surprise when they attend Kiwanis Kapers at the high school auditorium November 27 and 28.

An advance look at the script of the show disclosed today that it contains many happenings that never appeared in the history books—and probably never will.

The show, good naturedly lampooning this city's founding, contains such a mixture of historic people as the Esopus Indians, Dr. "Rainmaker" Howell and a surveyor seeking a location for the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge, all in the same act.

Everything from the settlement of the area by the Dutch to the activities of the Colonial Baseball League is fair game for the Kiwanis historians.

Roger Loughran is the Indian chief who received the Dutch. Along with the Dutch, according to the Kapers script, came Elmer Rylance surveying for the bridge.

Another chapter in Kiwanis' history concerns a medicine show of 1900 vintage, with William Leehive dispensing medicine until he is run out of town. In another skit, Dr. John Comstock becomes the tough top sergeant putting the 1780 militia through squad drill.

The "Sad Sack" of the militia is Pvt. Mort Englander, who winds up getting decorated for valor.

Master prestidigitator Fred Van Deusen is scheduled to saw in half Mrs. Christopher Morris, but apparently there is something wrong, for Mrs. Morris is scheduled to come back in the next act to sing and dance with her husband in the Gay Ninety manner.

Kiwanis has done something most historians fear to do. It has included in its dramatized history a television travesty on Kingston in the year 2,000 A.D. Commentator will be William Riseley.

The show is presented annually to raise money for the Kiwanis Scholarship Fund.

Churches to Hold Special Services For Thanksgiving

The following churches have announced plans to hold special services in observance of Thanksgiving:

St. Paul's Church

A service of Thanksgiving will be held in St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, 355 Hasbrouck avenue, tonight at 7:45 o'clock. The sermon topic announced by the pastor, the Rev. Ervin W. Gietz, is "Every Day Thanksgiving." The musical program will include the following selections by the choir under the direction of Herman LaTour: "We Plough the Fields," by Schulz, and "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem," by Clark. The solo parts in the latter work will be sung by Mrs. Carl Knaust. Miss Marion Marquart will be at the organ.

Comforter Church

The annual Thanksgiving Day service will be held at the Reformed Church of the Comforter on Wynkoop Place Thursday at 10 a. m. The anthem for the morning will be rendered by the senior choir of the church. The sermon will be given by the Rev. Raymond J. Pontier, pastor: "Thanks Be to God!" The public is cordially invited to attend this service of worship.

Bloomington Reformed

The annual Thanksgiving service of the Bloomington Reformed Church will be held Thursday at 9:30 a. m., with the Rev. David C. Weidner, pastor, in charge.

Immanuel Lutheran

The annual Thanksgiving day service will be held at Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Livingston street, Thursday at 10 a. m. The singular advantages which this country enjoys in comparison with other nations will be stressed as an incentive to give thanks to Almighty God on a day of national thanksgiving. Countless personal blessings might well lead every one, it will be added, to give generous praise to a heavenly Father for His unmerited goodness. The Rev. Ernest L. Witte will preach on the theme, "A Hymn of Thanksgiving." The public is invited.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

I am just wondering how many born Kingstonians have never been in the Senate House or the Museum? The other day I heard two of them say when they signed their names there, "I was born here, yet this is my first visit to the Museum." Both were grown men. Perhaps because I was born some 5,000 miles from Kingston that I appreciate the wonders of these two buildings so much, and visit them every chance I get. Now that the Senate House has been completely finished for visitors and the doll room up in the attic is back in place the young ones should thrill over it. But go early to the Senate House, because remember back in the old days, there were no lights, and there is only a library lamp downstairs which Miss Katherine Millard graciously takes around as far as the cord will go. But of course the Museum is a modern building built in 1927.

Many of the Vanderlyn paintings have been restored by the Milch Galleries and the portraits are so alive looking that one wonders how Vanderlyn could have procured the excellent paint and to have such talent that one never tires of looking at them. Most of them are of handsome people, skin vibrant with health, texture of clothes looks like the finest woolens and silks. Their hair glossy without modern beautician care. Vanderlyn died in 1852, just about 100 years ago, yet his art is as alive as it was when he painted it. Believe me if you see Vanderlyn portraits, you will go again and again.

Boatmen will be interested in models and paintings of Hudson river vessels. Of course the Mary Powell is there in all her glory on the second floor. One new large item was a needlepoint and petit point embroidery of Di Vinci's famous painting "Last Supper" done in 1878 by Mrs. Charles Merritt. The figures are so lifelike and colorful that their eyes seem to move. It is several feet long and wide. Don't miss it. Everytime I visit the Museum I always find something new to interest me.

"Old Senate House. Historical Sketches" by Fred'k Edw. Westbrook, as loaned to me by the Stone Ridge Library tells nothing about the building of the Senate House except of course that Col. Wessel Ten Broeck had it built. Perhaps some one owns records which are still undiscovered which covers who the carpenters were and other details. This booklet of 1883 mentions many other items such as "Noone & Madden furnished 250,000 tons of stone for the abutment of Brooklyn and New York Bridge, also large quantities for Erie Canal enlargement, and government lighthouses, which require stone of solidity and durability. . . . This firm's monthly payments, when on contract work, exceed $10,000 monthly." Another item of 1883 "The fire department consists of five steam engines, four hand engines and nine hose companies."

On Kingston Academy he writes in part: "At meeting of trustees on March 27th, 1830, it was resolved to build new Academy of brick on triangular lot. The old Academy building was sold at auction on April 17th, 1830. A contract was made to build the Academy in 1834." For those who are interested in seeing this booklet, I understand that the Senate House Museum has one in its upstairs library.

New Automatic Found

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 22 (AP)—The proprietor of a Tucson ice cream parlor may have come up with a new wrinkle in automatic fire extinguishers. B. A. Smith reported between $1,000 and $1,500 in special holiday flavors of ice cream was destroyed in a fire. However, no one saw the blaze. It was out when Smith arrived at the shop. He theorized that heat exploded cases of soda pop and the flying liquid put out the blaze.

WALLKILL

Wallkill, Nov. 21—Oscar Greene is spending the week with his son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Green in Albany.

Members of the Caswell and Van Wagenen families gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bellarosa Thursday night to honor C. E. Caswell who celebrated his 55th birthday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Caswell, Blair Caswell, C. H. Caswell, Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Conklin, Mrs. George Sohns, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Van Wagenen, Mr. and Mrs. Macey Van Wagenen, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Quick, Mrs. Walter Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bellarosa of Wallkill and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Van Wagenen and daughter, Carole of Kingston.

Herb Glass of Bullville, collector and expert on firearms of ancient and modern fires, will be the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Wallkill Chamber of Commerce tonight at 8 o'clock at the central school. The public is invited.

Regular choir rehearsal will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. and again Thursday at 8:30 p. m. to prepare special music for Thanksgiving and Christmas services.

The Wallkill Boy Scouts, Troop 76, entertained at a social party recently at the Scout Cabin. Scouts attending were Donald Wickes, George Backofen, Sam Bowden, Richard Neuwith, Donald Decker, Jerry Headlam and Donald Sloan. Their guests were the Misses Anne Stoneburg, Jane Roach, Barbara Mulqueen, Betty Ferguson, Elaine Kazimir, Alta Sheeley and Kathryn Momer. Movies, dancing and refreshments featured the program.

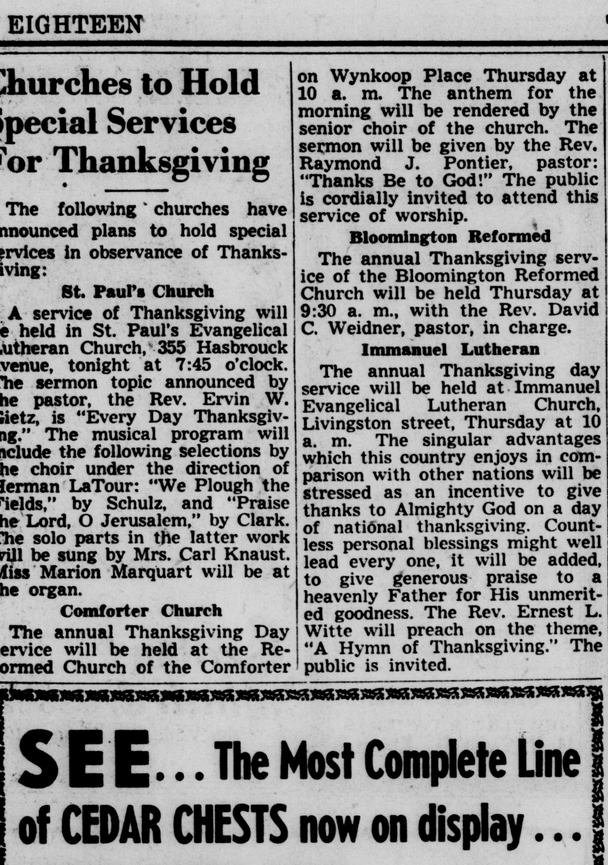

A special morning Thanksgiving Day service will be held Thursday at 11 o'clock. The Rev. Richard Hine, Jr., will deliver the sermon of Thanksgiving. The choir will present "Prayer of Thanksgiving" and "Praise Ye, the Lord on Thanksgiving Day."

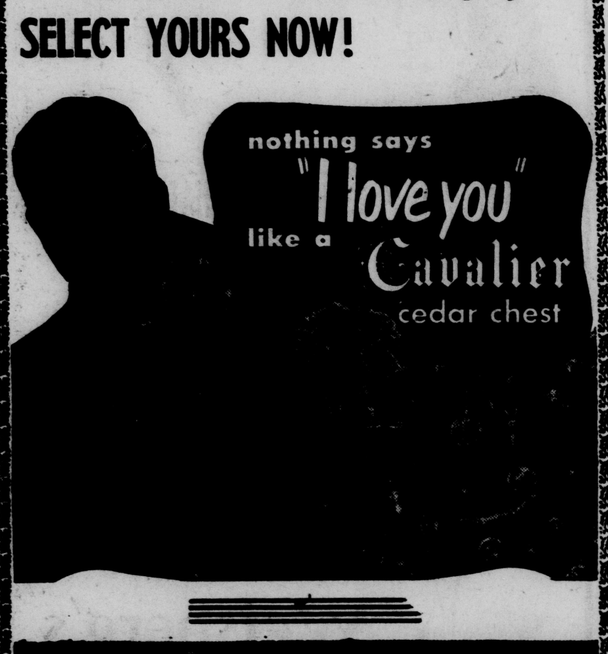

The November meeting of the Wallkill Woman's Club was held at the community hall in Wallkill, Nov. 10. This was the annual reception for the teachers and Congressman Ralph W. Gwinn, of the 27th District, was the guest speaker. Mrs. George Hann resigned as president of the club as she and her family are moving to Detroit. The club presented Mrs. Hann with a gold pin in appreciation of her work. Mrs. Gwinn's topic was "Socialism American Variety" and he pointed out how the U. S. government has taken over many of the socialistic ideas. He said that the government is taking about one-third of what the taxpayer earns and only paying back 30 cents on a dollar. He feels that we were established to be free and only free people can manage themselves. If the government continues to take over as they have been doing we will only be slaves and the government the master," he said. He said that the recent election shows that the people object to communism and the infiltration of communism in the Democratic party and in Washington.

Members of the Caswell and Van Wagenen families gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bellarosa Thursday night to honor C. E. Caswell who celebrated his 55th birthday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Caswell, Blair Caswell, C. H. Caswell, Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Conklin, Mrs. George Sohns, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Van Wagenen, Mr. and Mrs. Macey Van Wagenen, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Quick, Mrs. Walter Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bellarosa of Wallkill and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Van Wagenen and daughter, Carole of Kingston.

Herb Glass of Bullville, collector and expert on firearms of ancient and modern fires, will be the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Wallkill Chamber of Commerce tonight at 8 o'clock at the central school. The public is invited.

Regular choir rehearsal will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. and again Thursday at 8:30 p. m. to prepare special music for Thanksgiving and Christmas services.

The Wallkill Boy Scouts, Troop 76, entertained at a social party recently at the Scout Cabin. Scouts attending were Donald Wickes, George Backofen, Sam Bowden, Richard Neuwith, Donald Decker, Jerry Headlam and Donald Sloan. Their guests were the Misses Anne Stoneburg, Jane Roach, Barbara Mulqueen, Betty Ferguson, Elaine Kazimir, Alta Sheeley and Kathryn Momer. Movies, dancing and refreshments featured the program.

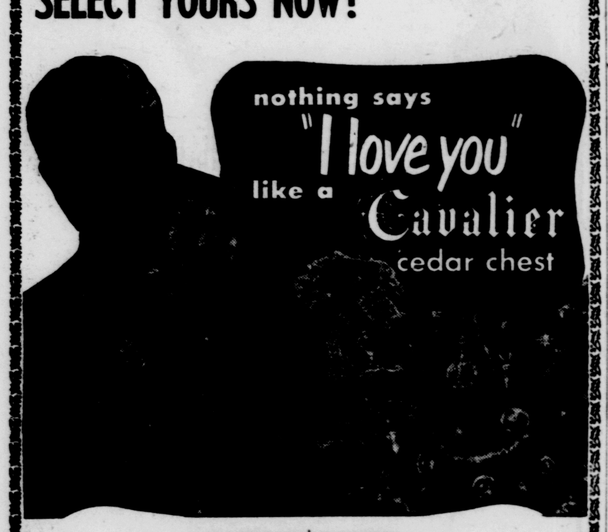

A special morning Thanksgiving Day service will be held Thursday at 11 o'clock. The Rev. Richard Hine, Jr., will deliver the sermon of Thanksgiving. The choir will present "Prayer of Thanksgiving" and "Praise Ye, the Lord on Thanksgiving Day."

The November meeting of the Wallkill Woman's Club was held at the community hall in Wallkill, Nov. 10. This was the annual reception for the teachers and Congressman Ralph W. Gwinn, of the 27th District, was the guest speaker. Mrs. George Hann resigned as president of the club as she and her family are moving to Detroit. The club presented Mrs. Hann with a gold pin in appreciation of her work. Mrs. Gwinn's topic was "Socialism American Variety" and he pointed out how the U. S. government has taken over many of the socialistic ideas. He said that the government is taking about one-third of what the taxpayer earns and only paying back 30 cents on a dollar. He feels that we were established to be free and only free people can manage themselves. If the government continues to take over as they have been doing we will only be slaves and the government the master," he said. He said that the recent election shows that the people object to communism and the infiltration of communism in the Democratic party and in Washington.

Meyer, Marion, and Shotton Top Choices

Kindly Old Burt Stays With Brooks

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—Paging Burt Shotton, Bill Meyer and Marty Marion. Stand by for a phone call. You look like the best bets for the three open big league managing jobs.

This is no exclusive, no "it was learned" story. Just the best gossip available after talking to a couple of men who should know.

Shotton seems to be in the strongest position of the three. It is expected his reappointment as Brooklyn boss will be announced as soon as the football teams vacate a sports page headline.

When Branch Rickey sold out his Dodger stock, it was taken for granted Shotton, a Rickey man, would not be back. Now it seems that was wrong.

Chances Are Good

Unless there is a storm of protest from the Dodger customers, Burt probably will be back for another term.

Chuck Dressen, a Brooklyn coach under Leo Durocher, is a Dodger possibility. It is reported he has strong support from one of the new Dodger vice presidents.

Pee Wee Reese, the popular Dodger shortstop, probably is the manager of the future. Reluctance to combine playing full time and managing, plus a loyalty to Shotton is likely to delay Pee Wee's debut until 1952 or later.

In Pittsburgh, Rickey still is making up his mind about Meyer. The skipper from Knoxville still has another year to go on his contract. After a conference with Rickey, Billy went home knowing little more than when he arrived.

Marion Boosted

Insiders at Pittsburgh say Meyer has a 60-40 chance of returning. Lou Boudreau, deposed Cleveland manager, has the best chance of the others.

Rickey has talked business with Boudreau with the managing job in view. Boudreau undoubtedly will accept if Rickey decides to make a change.

Fred Saigh still is going through his list of candidates for the St. Louis job vacated by Eddie Dyer. An original field of 18 is being narrowed day by day.

Marion, often mentioned by Saigh as a potential managerial timber, is believed to have the inside track. A personable athlete with natural leadership qualities, Marty is definitely bound for a career as a manager. Whether it will be with the Cardinals in 1951, is up to Saigh.

Freeman Sports Editor

Ralph K. Ballard has placed himself on record as unqualifiedly in favor of an 18-hole golf course.

You may ask, what makes Mr. Ballard any different from the hundreds of others who have championed the idea since it was spawned a few years ago?

Well, in the first place, Mr. Ballard happens to be Twaalfskill Golf Club's president. Secondly, and of intriguing interest, is the fact that he is the first official Twaalfskill spokesman to say in just so many words that he favors an 18-holer and thinks it would be an outstanding milestone in local golf history.

The Twaalfskill president said it out in the open—before some 50 persons—at the club's annual President's Dinner.

In a fervent, impassioned plea for Twaalfskill support for the proposed 18-hole course, Ballard pointed out that Twaalfskill and Wiltwyck are almost in the same boat, financially. One club owes a mortgage to a local bank. The other must redeem bonds.

You might be surprised, but the outstanding indebtedness is about the same for each club.

Furthermore, said Ballard, the future of both clubs as regards physical property is clouded in uncertainty. The Thruway is expected to take a couple of holes at Wiltwyck. The Hurley avenue course folks have enough land to re-locate their layout, but this might prove an expensive proposition. At the present time, Twaalfskill rents part of its course from a graveyard corporation and its lease on the land will expire in a few years.

Ballard further notified the Twaalfskill members that the president-elect, James A. "Jim" Dwyer, had asked him to deliver a message to the annual dinner. The message being that he (Dwyer) would stand behind any concerted effort to build an 18-hole course. Mr. Dwyer, who takes office in January, was absent, because of illness in the family.

We thought Ballard delivered a hard-hitting, beautifully timed speech. The membership responded with terrific applause and with the joint meeting of the clubs set for Monday, Nov. 27, nobody could have said it any better or at a more propitious moment.

In 20 years of reporting, we never saw more action and scrambling, running and passing than in that terrific brawl between the New York Yanks and the Los Angeles Rams at Yankee Stadium. And it seemed to this corner that every time the Yanks got their claws on Glenn Davis, the former Army All-America, they hit him just a little harder, bounced him around just a little rougher than any other Los Angeles ball carrier. Can it be that Glenn is paying for the sins of his former coach, Earl Blaik?

St. Lawrence University, where Steve Keating and Mike Rienzo operate, presents John Yannes, varsity left halfback who hails from Fulton, N. Y., as its candidate for the small college All-America.

Yannes is the son of Fred J. Yannes, Fulton, a small college All-American at Rider College in the 20s. Yannes, who played second string halfback in 1949, gained 440 yards and scored six touchdowns in 67 carries for the Larries in 1949. This year he was one of the best ground gainers in the nation.

There is ample evidence that operators of ski centers are perennial optimists and New York skiing is here to stay.

A State Department of Commerce spokesman explains that last winter and the winter before there was very little snow in New York and other eastern states. The winter before that there was too much snow—the whole state was snowbound, skiers and all.

Most interesting development in the state is the new Belleayre Mountain ski center which was formally opened last season. This state-owned and operated center is near Pine Hill, within easy traveling distance from New York. Featured is the first chair lift in the state, carrying skiers to the summit of Belleayre mountain, 3,300 feet high. The entire development is 2,000 feet insuring a long snow season.

Most football coaches barely have their bags unpacked before they're looking for a new job. Good for another ten years, Yale's hefty Herman Hickman is setting a trend. Coaches may some day last long enough to see freshmen graduate.

Esopus Firemen Take Over Roamers; Plan Weekly Games at Wiltwyck

Earle Terwilliger Stays As Coach

The Ulster Park Roamers, one of the area's best 16-18 year-old basketball teams, will represent the Esopus Fire Company for the 1950-51 season, Coach Earle Terwilliger announced today.

The junior quintet will compete in the Y Basketball League starting on December 5 and will play weekly games at the Wiltwyck School court in Esopus.

Nine players already have been selected for the squad and a tenth will be added later, Terwilliger said.

The holdovers, most of whom have played two years, are Joe Pecora, Bob Terwilliger, son of the coach, Richie Mains, Bob Burger, Bill Hermance, Bruce Wilson, Mickey Kozlowski, Ronnie Hopper and Walt Hansen.

Good Winning Mark

During two years of activity, the Terwilliger-coached cagers won more than 50 per cent of their games against the leading travelling teams in the area.

Coach Terwilliger said the calibre of competition will be stepped up this season and by next year the Esopus club expects to be playing against topnotch independent area and travelling teams like the House of David, Detroit Clowns and others.

All teams desiring games with the firemen after December 1 are requested to write Earle Terwilliger, Ulster Park.

The Esopus Fire Company has equipped the club in sprightly new uniforms and jackets.

Football Bowl Picture Scrambled; Texas Longhorns in Cotton Bowl

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—Six bowl games were set today, but the big attractions—Rose, Cotton and Orange—must wait until the football sun sets Saturday before anything can be decided.

Only in the Cotton Bowl, where Texas is an assured participant, has any team been definitely chosen and there's confusion even in Dallas.

Yesterday, for instance, officials of the classic said several teams are under consideration—but no formal invitation had been issued. What prompted the statement was that earlier in Chicago the Big Ten conference had refused to give Michigan State permission to play in the Cotton Bowl.

As of now, it looks like Oklahoma or Tennessee—depending on Saturday's games — will play Texas. Oklahoma meets Nebraska, Tennessee faces Kentucky.

Rose at Pasadena—Illinois vs. California.

Sugar at New Orleans—Kentucky or Tennessee vs. Oklahoma or SMU.

Cotton at Dallas—Texas vs. Oklahoma or Tennessee.

Orange at Miami—Miami vs. Kentucky, Tennessee, Clemson or Wyoming.

Gator at Jacksonville—Several of the above teams are in the running.

West Texas State and the University of Cincinnati accepted bids to play in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., on New Year's Day.

The Orange Blossom classic at Miami Dec. 2 also was set as Florida, A & M and Wilberforce (Ohio) State agreed to meet.

The Presidential Cup game, Washington's Dec. 2 match, also was undecided when Maryland's athletic council couldn't make up its mind. Texas A & M was reported still interested. The Aggies might play Georgia.

Definite Lineups

Here's a list of the bowl teams definitely selected for post-season games:

Nov. 23

Burley Bowl, Johnson City, Tenn. — Appalachian State vs. Emory and Henry.

Pear Bowl, Medford, Ore.—Lewis and Clark vs. San Francisco State.

Bean Bowl, Scottsbluff, Neb.—Colorado State vs. Doane College.

Dec. 1

Texoma Bowl, Denison, Tex.—Paris Junior College vs. San Angelo Junior College.

Dec. 2

Potato Bowl, Bakersfield, Calif.—Olympic Junior College vs. unnamed opponent.

Orange Blossom, Miami—Florida A & M vs. Wilberforce (O.) State.

Dec. 9

Pythian Bowl, Salisbury, N. C.—Appalachian vs. unnamed opponent.

Jan. 1

Salad Bowl, Phoenix—Arizona State at Tempe vs. unnamed opponent.

Sun Bowl, El Paso—West Texas State vs. Cincinnati.

Football

Boston—Boston College accepted resignation of football coach Denny Myers effective after Holy Cross game Dec. 2.

El Paso, Tex.—Cincinnati and West Texas State accept invitations to play in Sun Bowl game Jan. 1.

Earle Terwilliger Stays As Coach

The Ulster Park Roamers, one of the area's best 16-18 year-old basketball teams, will represent the Esopus Fire Company for the 1950-51 season, Coach Earle Terwilliger announced today.

The junior quintet will compete in the Y Basketball League starting on December 5 and will play weekly games at the Wiltwyck School court in Esopus.

Nine players already have been selected for the squad and a tenth will be added later, Terwilliger said.

The holdovers, most of whom have played two years, are Joe Pecora, Bob Terwilliger, son of the coach, Richie Mains, Bob Burger, Bill Hermance, Bruce Wilson, Mickey Kozlowski, Ronnie Hopper and Walt Hansen.

Good Winning Mark

During two years of activity, the Terwilliger-coached cagers won more than 50 per cent of their games against the leading travelling teams in the area.

Coach Terwilliger said the calibre of competition will be stepped up this season and by next year the Esopus club expects to be playing against topnotch independent area and travelling teams like the House of David, Detroit Clowns and others.

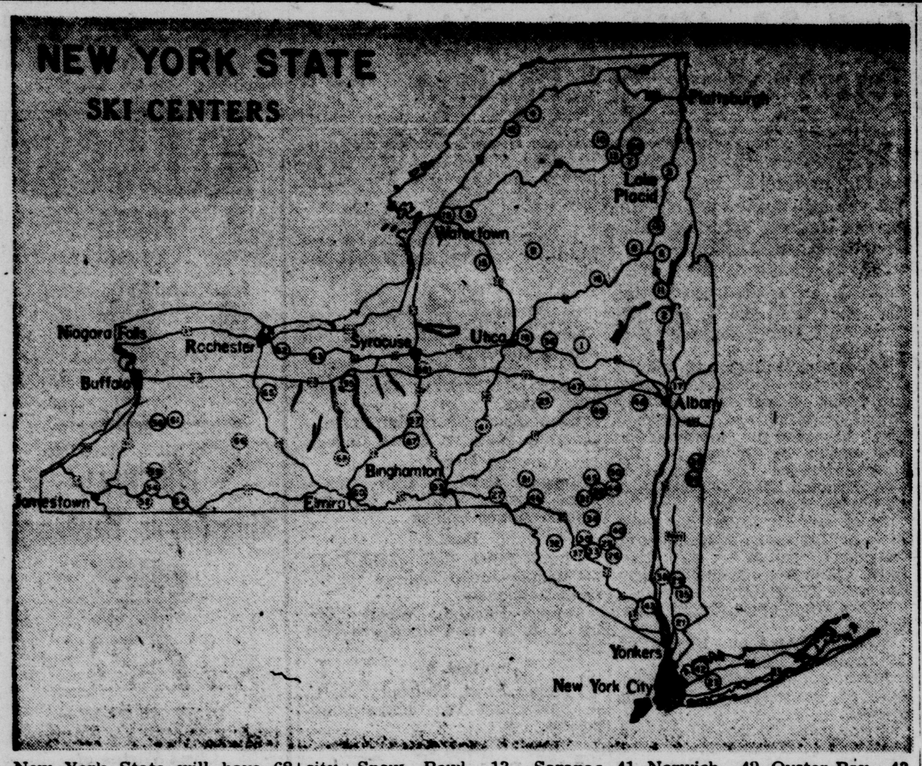

All teams desiring games with the firemen after December 1 are requested to write Earle Terwilliger, Ulster Park.

The Esopus Fire Company has equipped the club in sprightly new uniforms and jackets.

Alan Egler, Greatest Since Tryon, Plays Finale for Colgate Saturday

Hamilton, N. Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—Capt. Alan Egler will play his last game for Colgate against Rutgers Saturday, but his name will linger long in the memories of Red Raider football fans.

They compare the 178-pound right halfback with Eddy Tyron and famed Jack Rourke, trainer of Red Raider football teams for 37 years, who says Egler is the greatest running back he's seen since Tryon.

"Both men run the same," Rourke says, "they're watching for the safety man's actions all the time. They are almost contemptuous of the tacklers who are hitting them from all sides and are concentrating just on getting past that last man downfield."

Last Saturday, Egler was the chief factor in Colgate's 19 to 14 win over its traditional rival Syracuse.

The former White Plains star ran 62 yards for one touchdown, 16 for another and ground out a total of 162 yards in 26 tries for an average of 6½ yards.

Tryon was one of Colgate's greatest all-around performers. He could run, pass, kick and play defensive safety. His handling of enemy punts was devastatingly effective.

Boost for Tryon

Tryon also was one of the Colgate's most versatile track stars.

In speed, Rourke says Tryon rated "a shade ahead of Egler over 100 yards, but it would be very close."

The art of statistics wasn't as polished in 1925 as it is today, so there's no way of comparing Egler's yardage to Tryon's.

But with one game left, Egler has a three-year record of 3,507 yards gained.

In his sophomore year, Egler, like Tryon, was a 60-minute player. But Egler lost 15 pounds that season and Coach Paul Bixler has used him on offense only for the last two years.

The physical resemblance between Egler and Tryon is something Rourke is quick to point out.

Egler is five feet, 11 inches tall and weighs 178 pounds. Tryon was about an inch shorter and about seven pounds heavier.

"Put them both in the same backfield at their peaks," Rourke says, "and things would almost take care of themselves during the course of a season."

Oklahoma 17½ Point Choice Over Nebraska

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 football team, rules a 17½-point favorite in the early odds to whip Nebraska Saturday and retain its Big Sever championship.

Kentucky's third-ranked Wildcats are only a seven-point choice to down ninth-ranked Tennessee. Army No. 2 in this week's A.P. poll, is idle.

Here's how the rest of the top 10 shapes up for Saturday's action:

4. California 13½ over Stanford.
5. Texas idle.
6. Illinois 13 over Northwestern.
7. Pinceton 20½ over Dartmouth.
8. Ohio State 7½ over Michigan.
9. Tennessee.
10. Michigan State season completed.

Major Hoople Picks Kingston by TD Over N.F.A. in Thanksgiving Finale

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

Egad, now zillions of gentle readers, hail and farewell!

With the forecasts herewith for games of Thanksgiving and Nov. 25, your alert correspondent leaves you for a mouthful of turkey and a long winter of pleasant nostalgia.

We are now at the crossroads and the momentous decision must be made. I have given serious consideration to the climactic football game between Kingston High and Newburgh Academy on Thursday and my crystal ball reveals the following startling fact:

Kingston 13, N.F.A. 7.

A merry crowd is expected for this Turkey Day schoolboy classic and it is my devout wish that the maddened Newburgh rooters will kindly refrain from depositing sand in the Kingston gas tanks and hurl nothing harder than marshmallow balls at the Maroon buses.

This autumnal schoolboy madness will reach a climax about 2 p. m. Thursday and it will behoove all Kingston rooters to sit on the Kingston side of the field. They would find it extremely disconcerting in the funeral silence on the N.F.A. side.

Mind you, this prediction was arrived at without consulting my friend Bo Gill's annual form chart listing the long series of N.F.A. wins. Perhaps, I might have spotted a trend to substantiate my irrefutable prediction that Kingston will win.

But, alas, this colossal document has appeared with rare frequency since my pal, Bill Burke, took over on Burke Hill.

Well, now go right on with the forecast—and again, farewell.

Wiltwyck Beats Shaws, 66-51 To Deadlock Race in 'A' League

Kleine Scores 25 For Winners

Wiltwyck Motors' "Iron Men" played one of their best games of the season and Shaw's Grocery one of its worst. And thereby hangs the story of Wiltwyck's 66 to 51 decision over the Grocers in last night's Y Autumn League basketball feature on the Y court.

The Wiltwyck triumph created a deadlock for leadership of the "A" League between the two clubs. Each has a record of 7 wins and 2 losses.

Kleine Hits 25

Led by Big Bill Kleine, who faked and pivoted beautifully under the basket en route to a 25-point harvest, the Motormen dominated the play all the way. Without resorting to a single substitution, they were able to maintain heavy pressure on the Shawmen in every period.

Kleine hit a dozen times from scrimmage and added a singleton for his 25 markers. "Fink" McElrath and Mathers each had 13 and Parslow 11.

Failure of George Carpouzis and Mike Provenzano to hit with customary regularity dimmed Shaw chances. The Grocers trailed 7-17 at the quarter mark and were never able to recoup the damages.

Andy Juhl took plenty of shots and came up with 16 points to lead the losers. George Carpouzis, Provenzano and Haggerty shared 33 points between them.

Angels Clip Chezzies

The Harry Angels' power boys —George Holstein, Ward Dunham and Bob East—accounted for 51 points in the Angels' 71-55 rout of Chez Emile in the preliminary game.

Nearing the form that was conspicuously missing in the early stages of the campaign, the Angels romped to a 20-9 lead in the first quarter and enjoyed a 24-point spree in the third period to nail down the victory.

Dunham's 18 points paced the Angels. George Holstein had 16 and East 17. Lafayette "Champ" Holstein sparked Chez Emile with 21 high for the game, and Clark Mains contributed 11 points.

Phoenix—Bobby Mitchell, 185, Omaha, knocked out Bob Castro, 185, Los Angeles, 5.

Merchant Gridders

New York (AP)—The members of the New York football Yanks' defensive "outfield" of Spec Sanders at safety and Joe Golding and Pete Layden at halfbacks are all off-season merchants. Spec has a sporting goods store in Lawton, Okla., Golding operates a clothing store in Georgetown, Tex., and Layden runs a drug store in Edna,

High School Kegler Hits 247, 209, 232

A young man who has his ups and downs, but good, Jumpin' Joe Bosco is the toast of the Central Rec League today.

The high school flash narrowly missed the Hall of Fame last night when he ponded the dreamland drives for a 688 triple on games of 247, 209, 232.

Needless to say, it was a new seasonal record for the midtown wheel.

One of the crop of outstanding young keglers headed by Jim Moss, Master Bosco recently appeared to be on his way to a "700" triple when he "suffered a horrendous third game collapse. At the time he attributed the fadeout to the fact that Fred Bruno "stopped riding me."

A few nights later, Bosco opened a match with a sizzling 95 but, to his everlasting credit he rallied with a big "200". Last night he was silky smooth all the way with a steady barrage of strikes.

Bowser on Spree

Carl Bowser led Bosco at the end of two games, 460 to 456, after 202 and 258 but a 165 third set held him to 625. Joe Sangi was in the show spot with 221-595; Ronnie Mauro had 202-581; Joe Costello 205-570; Chris Gildersleeve 215-560; Stan Colvin 213-546; W. Schwarz 213-545; and Carl Lundquist 539. Ray Houghtaling soloed for 239 in his middle game. Bowser's 258 is new high single for the league.

Bowling

Dick Little and Byron Chatham achieved "500" triples in the Y Federation National loop last night on the Broadway drives, the former posting 161-189-155-505 and Chatham shooting 218-502. Other top scorers were E. Himmelsback 492; J. Fatum 489; Ed Kittle 488; R. Halbert 472; Howard Minard 467 and B. Fatum 464.

Best scorer in the Business Girls League was Elizabeth Sass with 143-155-186-484, while four others rolled better than "400." Runnerup L. Jordan shot 446; E. Scully 442, O. Sturgeon 427 and S. O'Bryan 408. M. Dunn with 398 and L. LaRocca with 390 were other high scorers. In a couple of rolloffs of tie games, Spring Lake edged Barclay Knitwear by two pins and Howard's Refrigeration beat Kaye Sportwair by 20 pins.

Evelyn Gross and Dot Flemings set a brisk pace in Friendship League action last night on the Bowlatorium lanes. The Blonde Bomber compiled the league-leading total of 162-207-183-552; nine pins better than Mrs. Flemings' 163-187-193-543. Reta Frederick accounted for 515 and Marge Van Alstyne came up with a nice 514.

Other good pinfall was recorded by F. Hogan with 497; Virginia Cave 489; Kay Roosa, Phyl Gehringer and Florence Kelder with 488s; "Chic" Pearson 482; Marge Jansen 481; Carrie Mohr and Dottie Bell 480; and Dot Rawding 475.

Clarence Herdman and William G. Evans got off to fast starts but failed to make the "600" grade. Herdman wound up with 588 and Evans with 215-202—584. A poor 138 middle effort kept Russano out of the select class, the pepsodent man hitting 221-216—575. John Lowe had 549; M. Arlensky 204—544; Carl Beatty 544; M. Levy 539; Pete Tatarzewski 535; John Frederick 201—533.

The Booster League—that cradle of champions—produced a half dozen "500" triples with Rudy Hendricks' 215-196-151—561 taking top honors. Also in the upper bracket were A. Grossbohlin with 208—520; Warren Senor 512; Warren "Bud" Swarthout, R. DuBois 208—503; J. Gillen 502; T. O'Brien 495; John Howard 494; Ed Lindhurst 484; Guernsey Burger, Jr., 482.

IT'S A MATTER OF

You can haul more payload than ever in a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck, because the load is better distributed. Most trucks carry too much of the load on the rear axle—too little on the front. Because the engine of a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck is moved forward and the front axle back, both axles carry the right proportion of the load. That means you can haul bigger payloads without overloading.

NOT THIS The payload on most trucks—like the girl in this boat—rides too far to the rear. Result: there's too much weight aft, not enough forward.

BUT THIS In "Job-Rated" trucks, the load is moved forward—as the girl is now positioned. Results: proper weight distribution—bigger payloads—easier handling.

Job Rated ...for low-cost transportation

POWER: . . . 8 great truck engines—each "Job-Rated" for more power.

ECONOMY: . . . priced with the lowest—"Job-Rated" for dependability and long life.

BIGGER PAYLOADS: . . . carry more without overloading axles or springs because of "Job-Rated" weight distribution.

EASIER HANDLING: . . . sharper turning! Parts in right places. "Job-Rated" maneuverability!

COMFORT: . . . widest seats . . . windshield with best vision of any popular truck. Air-cushioned, adjustable "chair-height" seats.

SAFETY: . . . finest truck brakes in the industry . . . hand brake operating independently on propeller shaft on all models—½-ton and up.

Kleine Scores 25 For Winners

Wiltwyck Motors' "Iron Men" played one of their best games of the season and Shaw's Grocery one of its worst. And thereby hangs the story of Wiltwyck's 66 to 51 decision over the Grocers in last night's Y Autumn League basketball feature on the Y court.

The Wiltwyck triumph created a deadlock for leadership of the "A" League between the two clubs. Each has a record of 7 wins and 2 losses.

Kleine Hits 25

Led by Big Bill Kleine, who faked and pivoted beautifully under the basket en route to a 25-point harvest, the Motormen dominated the play all the way. Without resorting to a single substitution, they were able to maintain heavy pressure on the Shawmen in every period.

Kleine hit a dozen times from scrimmage and added a singleton for his 25 markers. "Fink" McElrath and Mathers each had 13 and Parslow 11.

Failure of George Carpouzis and Mike Provenzano to hit with customary regularity dimmed Shaw chances. The Grocers trailed 7-17 at the quarter mark and were never able to recoup the damages.

Andy Juhl took plenty of shots and came up with 16 points to lead the losers. George Carpouzis, Provenzano and Haggerty shared 33 points between them.

Angels Clip Chezzies

The Harry Angels' power boys—George Holstein, Ward Dunham and Bob East—accounted for 51 points in the Angels' 71-55 rout of Chez Emile in the preliminary game.

Nearing the form that was conspicuously missing in the early stages of the campaign, the Angels romped to a 20-9 lead in the first quarter and enjoyed a 24-point spree in the third period to nail down the victory.

Dunham's 18 points paced the Angels. George Holstein had 16 and East 17. Lafayette "Champ" Holstein sparked Chez Emile with 21, high for the game, and Clark Mains contributed 11 points.

Phoenix—Bobby Mitchell, 185, Omaha, knocked out Bob Castro, 185, Los Angeles, 5.

Jacksonville—Billy Brown, 160, Jacksonville, and Larry Shaw, 168, Brooklyn, drew, 10.

Merchant Gridders

New York (AP)—The members of the New York football Yanks' defensive "outfield" of Spec Sanders at safety and Joe Golding and Pete Layden at halfbacks are all off-season merchants. Spec has a sporting goods store in Lawton, Okla., Golding operates a clothing store in Georgetown, Tex., and Layden runs a drug store in Edna,

Joe Bosco B.asts 688 For Central Record

High School Kegler Hits 247, 209, 232

A young man who has his ups and downs, but good, Jumpin' Joe Bosco is the toast of the Central Rec League today.

The high school flash narrowly missed the Hall of Fame last night when he ponded the dreamland drives for a 688 triple on games of 247, 209, 232.

Needless to say, it was a new seasonal record for the midtown wheel.

One of the crop of outstanding young keglers headed by Jim Moss, Master Bosco recently appeared to be on his way to a "700" triple when he "suffered a horrendous third game collapse. At the time he attributed the fadeout to the fact that Fred Bruno "stopped riding me."

A few nights later, Bosco opened a match with a sizzling 95 but, to his everlasting credit he rallied with a big "200". Last night he was silky smooth all the way with a steady barrage of strikes.

Bowser on Spree

Carl Bowser led Bosco at the end of two games, 460 to 456, after 202 and 258 but a 165 third set held him to 625. Joe Sangi was in the show spot with 221-595; Ronnie Mauro had 202-581; Joe Costello 205-570; Chris Gildersleeve 215-560; Stan Colvin 213-546; W. Schwarz 213-545; and Carl Lundquist 539. Ray Houghtaling soloed for 239 in his middle game. Bowser's 258 is new high single for the league.

Bowling

Dick Little and Byron Chatham achieved "500" triples in the Y Federation National loop last night on the Broadway drives, the former posting 161-189-155-505 and Chatham shooting 218-502. Other top scorers were E. Himmelsback 492; J. Fatum 489; Ed Kittle 488; R. Halbert 472; Howard Minard 467 and B. Fatum 464.

Best scorer in the Business Girls League was Elizabeth Sass with 143-155-186-484, while four others rolled better than "400." Runnerup L. Jordan shot 446; E. Scully 442, O. Sturgeon 427 and S. O'Bryan 408. M. Dunn with 398 and L. LaRocca with 390 were other high scorers. In a couple of rolloffs of tie games, Spring Lake edged Barclay Knitwear by two pins and Howard's Refrigeration beat Kaye Sportwair by 20 pins.

Evelyn Gross and Dot Flemings set a brisk pace in Friendship League action last night on the Bowlatorium lanes. The Blonde Bomber compiled the league-leading total of 162-207-183-552; nine pins better than Mrs. Flemings' 163-187-193-543. Reta Frederick accounted for 515 and Marge Van Alstyne came up with a nice 514.

Other good pinfall was recorded by F. Hogan with 497; Virginia Cave 489; Kay Roosa, Phyl Gehringer and Florence Kelder with 488s; "Chic" Pearson 482; Marge Jansen 481; Carrie Mohr and Dottie Bell 480; and Dot Rawding 475.

Reeling off scors of 211, 222 and 186, Vince Noble moved into top drawer company in the Silver Palace League, with a 619 last night.

Clarence Herdman and William G. Evans got off to fast starts but failed to make the "600" grade. Herdman wound up with 588 and Evans with 215-202—584. A poor 138 middle effort kept Russano out of the select class, the pepsodent man hitting 221-216—575. John Lowe had 549; M. Arlensky 204—544; Carl Beatty 544; M. Levy 539; Pete Tatarzewski 535; John Frederick 201—533.

The Booster League—that cradle of champions—produced a half dozen "500" triples with Rudy Hendricks' 215-196-151—561 taking top honors. Also in the upper bracket were A. Grossbohlin with 208—520; Warren Senor 512; Warren "Bud" Swarthout, R. DuBois 208—503; J. Gillen 502; T. O'Brien 495; John Howard 494; Ed Lindhurst 484; Guernsey Burger, Jr., 482.

IT'S A MATTER OF
better weight distribution

You can haul more payload than ever in a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck, because the load is better distributed. Most trucks carry too much of the load on the rear axle—too little on the front. Because the engine of a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck is moved forward and the front axle back, both axles carry the right proportion of the load. That means you can haul bigger payloads without overloading.

NOT THIS The payload on most trucks—like the girl in this boat—rides too far to the rear. Result: there's too much weight aft, not enough forward.

BUT THIS In "Job-Rated" trucks, the load is moved forward—as the girl is now positioned. Results: proper weight distribution—bigger payloads—easier handling.

Job-Rated ...for low-cost transportation

POWER: . . . 8 great truck engines—each "Job-Rated" for PLUS power.
ECONOMY: . . . priced with the lowest. "Job-Rated" for dependability and long life.
BIGGER PAYLOADS: . . . carry more without overloading axles or springs because of "Job-Rated" weight distribution.
EASIER HANDLING: . . . sharper turning! Parks in tight places. "Job-Rated" maneuverability!
COMFORT: . . . widest seats . . . windshield with best vision of any popular truck. Air-cushioned, adjustable "chair-height" seats.
SAFETY: . . . finest truck brakes in the industry . . . hand brake operating independently on propeller shaft on all models—½-ton and up.

Board of Regents Approves Plan For Army Training

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—The state education department today had orders to devise a plan for releasing male students from college for brief periods of basic military training.

The Board of Regents said the study was aimed at preserving the state's educational system, should large numbers of students be called into the armed forces.

"Educational programs and schedules should be so arranged that our youth might be released for comparatively short periods of basic military training and returned (to college) to further their specialized training," the board said yesterday.

Education Commissioner Lewis A. Wilson proposed the study and called for "integration of the educational and military training processes."

The Regents, in announcing they had approved that recommendation, said the study should "aim to improve efficiency, economy and cooperation between the schools, colleges and other educational institutions within the state and the armed services."

Would Reduce Breaks

The Regents said in a statement that a plan for releasing young men from college for basic training, then returning them to complete their studies would "serve to reduce the dislocations of society and at the same time adequately prepare its manpower for peace as well as for war."

"If necessary, this manpower, after completion of specialized work, could again be released for further military training and thus bring even more value to the armed services," they asserted.

The statement added:

"Enemies of democracy are hoping that we will assume financial and economic burdens beyond our ability and thus undermine our economy and productive strength to a point that will reduce us to impotence.

"Three million men continuously withdrawn for a long period of time from education or industrial training could conceivably bring this about."

Large Sum for Arms

Paris, Nov. 22 (AP)—Official sources said last night Premier Rene Pleven will ask France's Parliament to approve a 1951 budget appropriating 580,000,000,000 francs (about $1,370,000,000) for the armed forces. This would surpass the 1950 arms appropriation by 160,000,000,000 francs (about $450,000,000), a boost of nearly 28 per cent. Part of the money would finance the fight against the Communist-directed Vietminh forces in Indochina. U. S. aid is expected to yield the equivalent of an additional $340,000,000. The appropriation request will be discussed at a cabinet meeting today.

Board of Regents Approves Plan For Army Training

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—The state education department today had orders to devise a plan for releasing male students from college for brief periods of basic military training.

The Board of Regents said the study was aimed at preserving the state's educational system, should large numbers of students be called into the armed forces.

"Educational programs and schedules should be so arranged that our youth might be released for comparatively short periods of basic military training and returned (to college) to further their specialized training," the board said yesterday.

Education Commissioner Lewis A. Wilson proposed the study and called for "integration of the educational and military training processes."

The Regents, in announcing they had approved that recommendation, said the study should "aim to improve efficiency, economy and cooperation between the schools, colleges and other educational institutions within the state and the armed services."

Would Reduce Breaks

The Regents said in a statement that a plan for releasing young men from college for basic training, then returning them to complete their studies would "serve to reduce the dislocations of society and at the same time adequately prepare its manpower for peace as well as for war."

"If necessary, this manpower, after completion of specialized work, could again be released for further military training and thus bring even more value to the armed services," they asserted.

The statement added:

"Enemies of democracy are hoping that we will assume financial and economic burdens beyond our ability and thus undermine our economy and productive strength to a point that will reduce us to impotence.

"Three million men continuously withdrawn for a long period of time from education or industrial training could conceivably bring this about."

Large Sum for Arms

Paris, Nov. 22 (AP)—Official sources said last night Premier Rene Pleven will ask France's Parliament to approve a 1951 budget appropriating 580,000,000,000 francs (about $1,370,000,000) for the armed forces. This would surpass the 1950 arms appropriation by 160,000,000,000 francs (about $450,000,000), a boost of nearly 28 per cent. Part of the money would finance the fight against the Communist-directed Vietminh forces in Indochina. U. S. aid is expected to yield the equivalent of an additional $340,000,000. The appropriation request will be discussed at a cabinet meeting today.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Craftsmen to Hold 1950 Holiday Fair

Woodstock, No. 21—The annual holiday fair of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen will inaugurate the season of festivity and good will on Friday, Nov. 24. Each year the Guild shop is one of the brightest and most inviting at Christmastime, sparkling with lights, color and greens. Conveniently located in the village it is open every day, including Sundays, from 1:30 to 5:30 p. m.

The collection includes jewelry, decorative ceramics, hand woven and hand blocked fabrics, hanging wood spice chests and shelves, quilts, rugs, baby clothes and knitwear, zoo animal toys, knitted gloves, socks, ties and many other articles. Books by Woodstock's famous authors, for sale in the Guild, are autographed.

The Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, a non-profit, membership organization, was formed in 1939. Charter members were Ernest Brace, Helen Buttrick, Mabel Chase, Edith Roberts Cook, Louise Linden, Zulma S. Parker, Elizabeth Russ, Mary Dufresne Smith and Florence Webster. By 1946 membership had reached 125; today it has passed 300 and is still growing.

Allan Gould, the president of the Guild today, a member of the American Designers Institute, is nationally known for his beautiful and original furniture designs. Membership in the organization is open to all craftsmen in Ulster county.

Provenzanos Entertain Home Bureau Meeting

Woodstock, Nov. 21—The November meeting of the Overlook Home Bureau was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Provenzano on Thursday evening, Nov. 16.

Mrs. Irving Ostrander, chairman, presented Mrs. Bud Blazy, retiring chairman, with a gift from the organization.

It was decided that the group will have a pre-Christmas cookie sale on December 16 at the Woodstock Dairies to begin at 10 a. m.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Vredenburg with a Christmas party for the members. The hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Sidney Neilson and Mrs. Irving Ostrander.

The group welcomed two new members, Mrs. Walter Riseley and Mrs. George Hartt.

Clubs Plan Yule Program in Village

Woodstock, Nov. 22 — At a meeting of the Woodstock Masonic Square Club Monday night, representatives from various other organizations attended to discuss plans for the coming Christmas program. Representatives present were Commander Joseph Wagner, American Legion Post 1026; Mrs. Marjory Harder, American Legion Auxiliary; Chester Wolven, Woodstock Fire Company No. 1; Mrs. Austin Mecklem, Woodstock Artists Association; Mrs. Irving Ostrander, Overlook Home Bureau; Birge Simmons, Woodstock Fish and Game Club; Griffin Herrick, Woodstock Riding Club; Jack Lettel, Odd Fellows; John Pike, Woodstock Civic Organization; Joseph Holdridge and Leon Carey, Woodstock Masonic Square Club; Walter Van Wagenen, Woodstock Recreation Committee, the Boy Scouts and the Woodstock School Band; Warren Hutty, Woodstock Business Association. The Woodstock Bureau and the Agapae Rebekahs, although unable to send representatives, reported that they would assist with the program.

The Masonic Square Club has announced that 225 pounds of candy, and 450 oranges have been ordered to be handed out by Santa Claus on Christmas Eve. The club has also ordered 250 to be used during the program. All expenses will be paid from the Masonic Square Welfare Fund.

The subject of a general Christmas fund was discussed and some of the organizations' representatives expressed willingness to make donations to the fund. It was also decided that any individual wishing to contribute money to help defray expenses of the program should send donations to Walter Van Wagenen, treasurer of the fund.

One of the purposes of the program is to stimulate interest in the village for each individual to decorate his home. To promote general interest the committee is offering prizes for the best displays in town. Winners of the prizes will be announced after the program on Christmas Eve. Five judges will officiate, one from each of the following organizations: the Woodstock Business Association; the American Legion Auxiliary; the Masonic Square Club; the Woodstock Home Bureau and the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club.

A program of activities in town, the week before and the week after Christmas, will be printed and distributed through the town giving information on church services, different Christmas programs, dances, skating parties (weather permitting) and anything pertaining to the spirit of Christmas.

Joseph Holdridge, Sr., attended the meeting and was asked by many members how Santa Claus was planning to arrive in Woodstock. He was prevented from disclosing Santa's route by Leon Carey, general chairman, adjourning the meeting.

Fennel (Pop) Franckling, who for many years has decorated the Christmas tree on the village green, by himself, also attended the meeting. This year the work will be done by the Woodstock Fish and Game Club and the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club under Pop's direction.

Hope for Visitors

Woodstock, Nov. 22 — The Woodstock Business Association at its last meeting, prepared a public advertising campaign to take care of out-of-town visitors on Christmas vacation. The schedule will be published around December 1. It is hoped that many visitors will come to Woodstock for the holidays to enjoy the real spirit of Christmas.

Cubs to Meet

Woodstock, Nov. 22—The Cub Scouts of Troop 34 will have a pack meeting on Thursday, Nov. 30 at the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church at 7:30 p. m. Cy Harriman will speak on photography.

Legion Ladies Are After Vets' Gifts

Woodstock, Nov. 21 — Woodstock Unit 1026, American Legion Auxiliary, is now making its annual appeal for gifts for the gift shop at Castle Point Veterans' Hospital. This gift shop is maintained annually by the American Legion Auxiliary so that the veterans may choose gifts free of charge to send home to their families and loved ones. Gifts must be new, unbreakable and valued from one dollar. It is also requested that the gifts be left unwrapped but that wrappings, seals, ribbons, etc., be included with each gift. Boxes have been placed in the Woodstock Food Market for this purpose, or the gifts may be left with Mrs. Erwin Holumzer, rehabilitation chairman, or Mrs. Reuben Jansen, president.

Woodstock has been generous in the past and it is hoped that it will be even more generous this year since the number of veterans in hospitals has increased greatly since last year.

The deadline for this project is December 4, and all gifts must be in by that date.

The next regular meeting of the Woodstock Unit will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 29, at the Legion building in Woodstock.

By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: Suppose I insure my home for $10,000. Does that mean that if my home is totally destroyed by fire, the insurance company has to pay me the entire amount?

ANSWER: No, the insurance company will pay you only the value of the property at the time of loss and only up to the face value of the policy. No insurance policy allows the insured to profit by a fire loss.

• If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE OR OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

Game Prediction Made

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Game Commission predicted today hunters will bag more than 130,000 deer in the Commonwealth during the 13-day season, opening Nov. 27. Thomas Frye, commission executive director, said hunters should have little trouble equaling or bettering the 131,000 shot last year.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Craftsmen to Hold 1950 Holiday Fair

Woodstock, No. 21—The annual holiday fair of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen will inaugurate the season of festivity and good will on Friday, Nov. 24. Each year the Guild shop is one of the brightest and most inviting at Christmastime, sparkling with lights, color and greens. Conveniently located in the village it is open every day, including Sundays, from 1:30 to 5:30 p. m.

The collection includes jewelry, decorative ceramics, hand woven and hand blocked fabrics, hanging wood spice chests and shelves, quilts, rugs, baby clothes and knitwear, zoo animal toys, knitted gloves, socks, ties and many other articles. Books by Woodstock's famous authors, for sale in the Guild, are autographed.

The Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, a non-profit, membership organization, was formed in 1939. Charter members were Ernest Brace, Helen Buttrick, Mabel Chase, Edith Roberts Cook, Louise Linden, Zulma S. Parker, Elizabeth Russ, Mary Dufresne Smith and Florence Webster. By 1946 membership had reached 125; today it has passed 300 and is still growing.

Allan Gould, the president of the Guild today, a member of the American Designers Institute, is nationally known for his beautiful and original furniture designs. Membership in the organization is open to all craftsmen in Ulster county.

Provenzanos Entertain Home Bureau Meeting

Woodstock, Nov. 21—The November meeting of the Overlook Home Bureau was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Provenzano on Thursday evening, Nov. 16.

Mrs. Irving Ostrander, chairman, presented Mrs. Bud Blazy, retiring chairman, with a gift from the organization.

It was decided that the group will have a pre-Christmas cookie sale on December 16 at the Woodstock Dairies to begin at 10 a. m.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Vredenburg with a Christmas party for the members. The hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Sidney Neilson and Mrs. Irving Ostrander.

The group welcomed two new members, Mrs. Walter Riseley and Mrs. George Hartt.

Clubs Plan Yule Program in Village

Woodstock, Nov. 22 — At a meeting of the Woodstock Masonic Square Club Monday night, representatives from various other organizations attended to discuss plans for the coming Christmas program. Representatives present were Commander Joseph Wagner, American Legion Post 1026; Mrs. Marjory Harder, American Legion Auxiliary; Chester Wolven, Woodstock Fire Company No. 1; Mrs. Austin Mecklem, Woodstock Artists Association; Mrs. Irving Ostrander, Overlook Home Bureau; Birge Simmons, Woodstock Fish and Game Club; Griffin Herrick, Woodstock Riding Club; Jack Lettel, Odd Fellows; John Pike, Woodstock Civic Organization; Joseph Holdridge and Leon Carey, Woodstock Masonic Square Club; Walter Van Wagenen, Woodstock Recreation Committee, the Boy Scouts and the Woodstock School Band; Warren Hutty, Woodstock Business Association. The Woodstock Bureau and the Agapae Rebekahs, although unable to send representatives, reported that they would assist with the program.

The Masonic Square Club has announced that 225 pounds of candy, and 450 oranges have been ordered to be handed out by Santa Claus on Christmas Eve. The club has also ordered 250 to be used during the program. All expenses will be paid from the Masonic Square Welfare Fund.

The subject of a general Christmas fund was discussed and some of the organizations' representatives expressed willingness to make donations to the fund. It was also decided that any individual wishing to contribute money to help defray expenses of the program should send donations to Walter Van Wagenen, treasurer of the fund.

One of the purposes of the program is to stimulate interest in the village for each individual to decorate his home. To promote general interest the committee is offering prizes for the best displays in town. Winners of the prizes will be announced after the program on Christmas Eve. Five judges will officiate, one from each of the following organizations: the Woodstock Business Association; the American Legion Auxiliary; the Masonic Square Club; the Woodstock Home Bureau and the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club.

A program of activities in town, the week before and the week after Christmas, will be printed and distributed through the town giving information on church services, different Christmas programs, dances, skating parties (weather permitting) and anything pertaining to the spirit of Christmas.

Joseph Holdridge, Sr., attended the meeting and was asked by many members how Santa Claus was planning to arrive in Woodstock. He was prevented from disclosing Santa's route by Leon Carey, general chairman, adjourning the meeting.

Fennel (Pop) Franckling, who for many years has decorated the Christmas tree on the village green, by himself, also attended the meeting. This year the work will be done by the Woodstock Fish and Game Club and the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club under Pop's direction.

Hope for Visitors

Woodstock, Nov. 22 — The Woodstock Business Association at its last meeting, prepared a public advertising campaign to take care of out-of-town visitors on Christmas vacation. The schedule will be published around December 1. It is hoped that many visitors will come to Woodstock for the holidays to enjoy the real spirit of Christmas.

Cubs to Meet

Woodstock, Nov. 22—The Cub Scouts of Troop 34 will have a pack meeting on Thursday, Nov. 30 at the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church at 7:30 p. m. Cy Harriman will speak on photography.

Pepers Take Two

Woodstock, Nov. 20 —Peper's Garage of Woodstock won two games out of three bowling with the Royal Grill team of Kingston Wednesday night at the Saugerties Recreation Center. Peper's scored 633-711-812 and Royal Grill 748-704-768. Individual scores: J. Holdridge 146-127-195; O. Morrell 144-126-189; A Peper 111-104-112; C. Harder 132-137-172; C. Nickponski 200-217-144; Sharp 136-98-136; MacCormack 176-146-157; DeFeis 166-122-157; Rinaldi 122-190-170. High single scorer, C. Nickponski, 217; high triple scorer, C. Nickponski, 561.

Legion Ladies Are After Vets' Gifts

Woodstock, Nov. 21 — Woodstock Unit 1026, American Legion Auxiliary, is now making its annual appeal for gifts for the gift shop at Castle Point Veterans' Hospital. This gift shop is maintained annually by the American Legion Auxiliary so that the veterans may choose gifts free of charge to send home to their families and loved ones. Gifts must be new, unbreakable and valued from one dollar. It is also requested that the gifts be left unwrapped but that wrappings, seals, ribbons, etc., be included with each gift. Boxes have been placed in the Woodstock Food Market for this purpose, or the gifts may be left with Mrs. Erwin Holumzer, rehabilitation chairman, or Mrs. Reuben Jansen, president.

Woodstock has been generous in the past and it is hoped that it will be even more generous this year since the number of veterans in hospitals has increased greatly since last year.

The deadline for this project is December 4, and all gifts must be in by that date.

The next regular meeting of the Woodstock Unit will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 29, at the Legion building in Woodstock.
